

No Free Rides to Oak Hill School

The Newton School Committee on Monday night decided against the demand made at the previous meeting by a group of persons residing in the Woodcliff rd. area of Newton Highlands who asked that free transportation be provided by the city for their children who attend the new Oak Hill school. Within the past year a new road was built from Parker st. to the school at an expense of $70,000 to Newton taxpayers to provide access to the school from the area toward Newton Highlands. The report of the School Committee on this matter follows:—

The School Committee has given careful consideration to all the facts presented by the group of parents who attended the School Committee meeting on September 26th.

They have canvassed the possibility of buses and find that:

(1) The Middlesex & Boston Street Railway Company would require a guarantee of $4.00 per trip for a bus from the Woodcliff area to the Oak Hill School. This would mean a charge of ten cents per one way trip for each child. This seems an impossible arrangement for pupils in the Woodcliff district.

(2) The regular bus leaving Newton Centre at 8:15 in the morning could pick up children at the corner of Parker and Boylston sts. (.5 of a mile from the corner of Woodcliff and Oakdale rds.), could carry them down Parker st. to Dedham st., across Dedham st. to Meadowbrook rd., and down Meadowbrook rd. to the school, provided a franchise can be secured to operate on Meadowbrook rd. This route can be arranged without upsetting the regular bus schedule for the Oak Hill district. The regular five-cent per pupil fare could be used on this bus. If this service is desired, a request to the School Committee would enable them to make this request to the Board of Aldermen and to the State Public Utilities Department for a franchise on Meadowbrook rd.

In view of the present situation, the School Committee, upon the recommendation of the Transportation Committee, have reached the following decisions:

(1) They will adhere to their decision of June 20, 1938, and will not provide free bus service from the Woodcliff area to the school for the school year 1938-39, since the city has constructed a proper street from the school to Parker st. and since pupils from many other sections of Newton live at an equal or greater distance from their elementary schools and are not provided with free bus service.

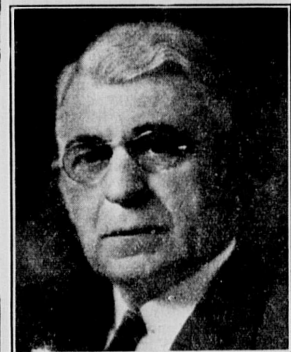

(2) They do approve, however, extending the optional territory between the Oak Hill School and the Hyde School East along Boylston st. so as to include both sides of Walnut Hill rd. and extending south and southwest through Woodcliff rd. to include both sides of Alexander rd. This optional territory will be in effect as of October 10, 1938.

(3) The attention of the Mayor and the Board of Aldermen will be called to the fact that the location of the Oak Hill School makes it necessary that further steps be taken by the city toward making the school more accessible to the children living in the northwestern section of the Oak Hill School district. This in the judgment of the School Committee would most effectively be accom-

Newton People Feel Need For Taxpayer's Assn.

In a statement issued this week Mr. Leon B. Rogers, president of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, one of two hundred chapters of the Massachusetts Federation of Taxpayers' Associations, said:—"It is evident that most Newton people already understand the need for a larger local organization and are now engaged in a campaign for greater membership—meeting with sympathetic, generous response on all sides. This response is particularly gratifying because it indicates a public knowledge of past work done by the Association."

Mr. Rogers pointed out that "an effective taxpayers' association is not noisy but works quietly." He explained that "tax associations first analyze a budget or any proposal for expenditure to evaluate its fundamental necessity; then, if the proposal is desirable, the association endorses the appropriation of a carefully estimated amount of money. This is done in cooperation with a responsible governmental committee. At public hearings the association appears in support of each carefully governmental committee. On the other hand, the Taxpayers' Association will forcefully combat any proposal for unnecessary, unwise, or extravagant proposals for the spending of public funds, by any appropriate means, including publicity and appeals to citizens."

Mr. Rogers referred "to the many investigations of municipal taxation which have pointed out that cities which have had taxpayers' associations over a course of years also have a result, fair debts, fair tax rates and fair assessed valuations."

In concluding he emphasized that "the taxpayers' association is not a charity; it is the best way for the harried taxpayer to make himself heard directly on tax matters. Joint action on taxes has been proven to give the desired results."

plished by creating as a WPA project the immediate building of an adequate and city maintained sidewalk along Parker ave. to Parker st.

These decisions of the School Committee will make it possible for those parents who desire to transfer their children from the Oak Hill School to the Hyde School to do so. It is suggested that Miss Wyman, principal of the Oak Hill School, be contacted this week by those desiring transfers so that changes may be effective as of Monday, October 10, 1938.

NOTICE OF APPRECIATION FOR SERVICE RENDERED

To the citizens of Newton who rendered service to our Department during the recent trouble throughout the City caused by the hurricane, we deeply express our appreciation of your effort. Your quick response and capable assistance made it possible for us to safeguard the City with a comparatively small loss.

Sincerely yours,
CLARENCE W. RANDLETT,
Chief Fire Department.

Reception To Legion Drill Team

At the West Newton Army on Wednesday night, the gold cup won by the drill team of Newton Post A. L., at the recent convention in Los Angeles, was formally presented by Capt. J. Joseph Ward of the drill team to Commander J. Sherman Irving of Newton Post. The drill team gave an exhibition showing the skill by which it won the championship. The affair was a public reception to the drill team by citizens of Newton and about 1000 attended. Among those present were Mayor Childs, Leverett Saltonstall and Senator Arthur Hollis.

Woman Hit-Run Driver at U. Falls

Joan Bracelan, 5, of 231 Elliot st., Newton Upper Falls, was slightly injured last Friday afternoon when she was hit by an automobile at High and Petee sts. in that section. She told her father that a black car had struck her, and the woman driving the car alighted, told the child to get onto the sidewalk, and then drove off without revealing her identity, or taking the child to her home or to a physician.

Stores Closed Columbus Day

The Newton Chamber of Commerce calls attention to the fact that the State law compels retail stores to close on Columbus Day, October 12, between the hours of 7 a. m. and 1 p. m. Stores may open after 1 p. m., but the large majority of them will not do so. Newton residents are urged to do necessary shopping on Tuesday, October 11.

Building Report For September

During the month of September 91 permits were issued by the Newton Public Buildings Department. The estimated cost of the work to be done under them was $194,245. Fifteen permits were issued for single residences to cost $123,800; four for 2 family houses to cost $28,000, and one permit for a combined store and apartment to cost $14,000. During the first 9 months of 1938, 674 permits were granted, the estimated cost—$2,272,542. For the corresponding period in 1937 permits totaled 609 and the cost—$2,842,366.

Community Chest Campaign Goal $196,797

Slight Increase Over Last Year's Needs

A goal of $196,797.00 or 2 per cent greater than last year for the Newton Community Chest Campaign, November 9 to 22, was announced today by A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., president of the Chest and also Campaign Chairman. Emphasizing that the goal represented the absolute minimum necessary to enable Newton's 14 health and social agencies to carry on their work adequately in 1938, Mr. Harwood declared that demands upon the agencies had grown during the past year. "The entire amount," he said, "is essential if Newton is to maintain its standards of care for the less fortunate and guidance for youth."

The Newton chest goal, Mr. Harwood stated, is set only after very careful study by the Chest's Budget Committee. "This committee, made up of able business men," he said, "carefully reviews all agency expenditures monthly throughout the year and sets the recommended goal after extended hearings of estimated budgets submitted by the agencies. The work of this committee makes certain true economy of operation by all agencies." The members of the Budget Committee are:

Chairman, Benjamin J. Bowen, secretary, New England Tel. and Tel.; F. Wadsworth Busk, of F. S. Moseley and Company; Charles H. Cobb, president, Filing Equipment Bureau; Charles C. Casey, passenger manager, Cunard White Star Line; Leslie D. Hawkrig, president, Hawkrig Bros. Co.; Clarence C. McDavitt, formerly of the New England Tel. and Tel.; Joseph F. Wogan, asst. general manager, United Shoe Machinery Corp.; Clark E. Woodward, vice president, Liberty Mutual Insurance.

In recommending the $196,797.00 goal the Budget Committee wrote the Board of Directors as follows:

"Your Budget Committee has continued the practice begun in 1936 of reviewing monthly the proposed expenditures of our Chest Agency. Payments to these agencies have been within the annual budget approved by the Board of Directors in September, 1937 with two exceptions. In one case the amount involved was very small; in the other, an amount outside the budget was substantial and was justified in the opinion of the Committee because of increased requirements for relief."

During the year the Budget Committee has held a meeting every month except two. A number of conferences have also been held. As in recent previous years each member of the Committee has been assigned to acquaint himself especially with the finances of one or two agencies and with their general activities.

Our recommendations for 1939 Agency Budgets are a result of careful consideration. Each agency submitted to the committee an itemized budget of its estimated 1939 financial needs supported by an explanatory brief. Subsequently representatives of each agency in scheduled meetings discussed with the Committee their respective statements in detail.

The total budget we recommend for your approval is somewhat less than the combined amounts requested by the agencies but it is sufficient, in our opinion, to enable them to continue their splendid service to the Community without serious curtailment of their activities. Constant and effective economy of operation will, however, be required in the case of each agency.

The agency budgets we recommend represent the minimum amount necessary to provide for the needs of the community, and we believe any further reductions will seriously jeopardize the effectiveness of these agencies in 1939."

Fire Prevention Week Oct. 9 to 15

The Newton Safety Council is giving publicity to the following precautions which should be observed not only during Fire Prevention Week, October 9 to 15, but at all times:

Fire Prevention Week is a particularly opportune time for each home owner to make a critical inspection of his residence with a view to eliminating fire hazards. Dangerous practices prevalent in the home are responsible for a large percentage of life loss. The attic and basement, two conspicuous repositories of dangerous and unsightly accumulations, should be as well ordered and clean as the portions of the buildings exposed to public gaze. Deposit of waste paper and debris of various sorts facilitate the spread of fire, impede the activities of firemen and often are the cause of fire through the medium of spontaneous ignition. Heating plants of all types should be inspected for defects. Pipes and breechings are often burned or rusted through in inconspicuous places and, unless a careful examination is made, are revealed only when a fire results.

All furnace pipes should be a safe distance from combustible material or properly insulated where that is impossible. Chimneys should be examined and cleaned periodically. Care must be exercised in the disposal of ashes. The practice of using combustible receptacles or piling ashes against frame walls or on wood floors is dangerous and should never be allowed. The electric wiring should be inspected for any indication of defects. If it seems to be in a hazardous condition, a competent electrician should be procured to make a thorough investigation. Light cords should not be suspended on nails, pipes or other metal surfaces. Fuses should be examined to see that all are in good condition and that no makeshift has been utilized which will nullify their protective value. Pressing irons, which cause a great number of electrical fires, should be used with the greatest care. The practice should be cultivated of always detaching the iron from the lighting socket when not in use.

Unprotected fireplaces, kerosene, gasoline, inflammable polishes, oil mops, matches and cigarettes, cigars and pipe tobacco carelessly thrown aside while burning are other predominant causes of fatalities in the home.

Mother, Children Hit By Auto

Mrs. Rose Murphy, 28, of 76 Withington rd., Newtonville, was pushing a baby-carriage containing her two children across Walnut st. at Otis st., Newtonville, last Saturday morning at 11:30 when an automobile operated by Marjorie Ogilvie, 16, of 47 Oakwood rd., Newtonville, came around the corner from Otis st. and hit Mrs. Murphy and the baby carriage. Mrs. Murphy was knocked down and the carriage was smashed. The younger Murphy child, Marie, aged 13 months, received a bad bruise on the forehead, and the older child, Leonard, 2½ years, was bruised. The Ogilvie girl was being taught to drive the automobile by her mother, Mrs. Katherine Ogilvie. The Newton police asked for a complaint against Mrs. Ogilvie on the charge of driving so as to endanger the safety of the public.

City Has To Borrow $150,000 For Welfare

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night it was voted to authorize a loan of $150,000 to meet estimated costs of Welfare and Soldiers' Relief expenses for the balance of this year. So far this year the Welfare Department has spent about $500,000, and for Soldiers' Relief $69,000 has been expended. During the year 1937 the cost of these relief activities was $604,000 and $73,744, respectively. The additional costs of these welfare and soldiers' aids is estimated despite the fact that all able-bodied men have been transferred to WPA emergency projects as a result of the hurricane. After the loan had been authorized the Aldermen voted to make the following appropriations—to be financed by the loan: Public Welfare Department for poor outside City Home, $20,000; dependent children, $23,500; old age assistance, $19,000; WPA project, cutting wood for distribution to needy, $650; Soldiers' Relief, $3000; military aid, $600; State Aid, $220. These expenses will care for the current month. For administrative expenses of the WPA activities in this city the sum of $7500 was appropriated.

At its meeting the preceding week the Aldermen authorized an emergency loan of $100,000, and from this loan the following appropriations were made on last Monday night: Street Department for labor, materials and hired equipment on hurricane clearance and repair work, $30,000; Playground Department, $3340; Public Buildings Department, $5000; Police Department for continued services of 9 reserve patrolmen for 2 weeks, $578; maintenance of police automobiles, $1000; Treasury Department, $225; Water Department, $2615.

The Board authorized the purchase of two additional pieces of property adjoining land already taken for the new school which will be erected at Pearl and Gardner sts., Newton, and appropriated $6400 for a house and land at the corner of Pearl st. and Jackson rd., owned by Mr. Lochiatio, and $1163.35 for a lot of land on Jackson rd. owned by Mary Grace. The house now on this lot will be moved directly opposite on Jackson Grace. A permit was given Fred Hawkins to move the house. Additional awards of $800 to Michael Eustis and $250 to Domenico Bianco were authorized for their properties taken for this school site. The Eustis property is on Pearl st. and the Bianco property on Gardner st. An offer of $500 for a lot of land on Noble st. owned by the city was made by Thomas Bryson. It was refused. Bryson had previously offered $400 for the lot.

The Aldermen voted to accept Nod Hill and Druid Hill rds. at Newton Highlands. These roads were constructed by a private contractor, Alderman Temperley again called attention to the fact that roads so constructed are far inferior in construction to those built by the city street department; soon become in need of repairs, and then other taxpayers have to stand this cost.

President Floyd appointed Aldermen Jamieson, Everts and Rawson as

Health Dept. Wants Building

As evidence of the growth of public activities, labelled by some paternalism, is the request made by the Newton Board of Health that consideration be given for a separate building to house the Newton Health Department. Several years ago the Newton Health Department occupied two small offices in the basement of the old city hall at West Newton. Now the department has a large suite of offices in the new city hall, and has a laboratory in the basement of the building. These quarters with the added activities of the department are not sufficient for its needs, so the Board of Health asks that a separate building be erected for the department. The structure would also house certain social agencies which have relations with the health department.

At its meeting last Monday night the Board of Health took no definite action on the petition of trustees of St. Joseph's Cemetery asking for permission to use part of the East farm at Oak Hill for cemetery purposes. It was voted that the full Board will visit the area in question before deciding on the petition. The Board voted to grant a permit to Carmelo Gringeri to keep a second horse at his property, 50 Farwell st., Newtonville. Several neighbors had objected to the petition, but the Board granted it with the provision that the stable be located where it will be least objectionable to the neighbors. Robert Wilson was given a permit to keep two horses at 395 Parker st., Newton Center. He had been refused a permit to keep the horses in a stable on Warren st.

Restrict School Halls for Rallies

At the meeting of the Newton School Committee on Monday night, it was voted that in the future the use of school halls for political rallies will be granted only when such rallies are sponsored by responsible groups such as Improvement Societies, Women's Clubs, or Ward Committees. The use of the halls will not be granted for rallies sponsored by individuals, campaign committees of political groups temporarily organized.

Newton Hlds. Drug Store Looted

The Highland Drug Company at 999 Boylston st., Newton Highlands, was burglarized last Friday night and articles valued at about $75 stolen. The burglary was discovered Saturday morning by Joseph Delerson, proprietor of the store. The burglars had battered a bulkhead, cellar door and trap door to gain entrance to the store. They had pulled merchandise off counters and shelves in their search for loot, and took among other things whatever narcotics they could find.

OLD AGE SECURITY

Although the Republican party in Massachusetts has given a semblance of support to the so-called Townsend pension plan the situation is such that there should be no cause for alarm or apprehension among those Republicans who are commonly designated as conservative. On the other hand it is a situation which not only interests but should attract those who believe the Townsend plan or some similar method of providing old-age security is workable. The plank in the Republican party platform is perfectly clear. It states without any superlative phrases or flowery language that the Massachusetts Republican Congressmen shall use their efforts to have the next Congress discuss the Townsend plan without further delay. No Republican is committed to vote for the plan and it can be reasonably expected that none will unless it is found, after months of careful consideration, that it perchance may have far greater merit than the average Republican now believes probable.

Another important phase of the situation is that almost every voter who has been lured to the support of the Townsend plan is not as greatly interested in the plan itself as he is in the security of old age. He indicates this desire by voting for candidates carrying designation of such support. It seems to us that Mr. McMahers, in announcing his support of the Republican State ticket has not only performed a distinct service to the Republican party, but he has aided materially in the advancement of the cause of old-age security.

RED CROSS ROLL-CALL

The Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross has announced that its annual roll-call will take place this month. For some years past the roll-call, which is a campaign for members, has taken place between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day. Although it may take a little time for Newton persons to realize that the event has been advanced we know that our fellow citizens will again support the Red Cross movement as generously as in the past.

ROTARY CLUB

The regular meeting was held at the Brae Burn Country Club on Monday with President Elicker in charge. The Club was honored by the official visit of the District Governor, Rev. Fenwick L. Leavitt of Worcester, Mass.

District Governor "Fen" was introduced by President Elicker and he gave a very interesting and instructive talk on Rotary. He congratulated the Club on having such a pleasant place for our meetings and said it helped to make them more interesting. He read a letter of Confidence of 200,000 Rotarians written by the President of Rotary International and sent to the four great powers.

Governor "Fen" said that Rotary starts to do something for men and from raw material makes us more thoughtful for others, makes us forget politics and creeds and gives us vision to do worthwhile things in the communities where we live. He mentioned that in Worcester Rotary had accomplished much and had helped to make it possible for sixty churches of all creeds to really do things that a few years ago would have been impossible. He said that growth in Rotary was a long time job and that the rules of Rotary were laid down for a purpose and the longer one was a member the more he will have the Rotary mind and spirit.

Girl Scouts

The Newton Local Council of Girl Scouts is welcoming this week its new Director, Hazel Richards, M.D., of Springfield, Mass., who comes from Chicago after nine years spent in Social Service, infant welfare and public recreation work. She organized and directed the first day camp in Illinois, has been a director of private camp for six years, and has recently been giving training courses to recreational directors in day camping. The scene of her Girl Scout work has been Morgan Park, Ill. Assisted by the Newton Field Captain, Miss Kathleen Twombly, she will give an introductory Training Course to all women who would like to know more about Girl Scouting. The first meeting will be held on Monday morning, Oct. 24, from 10-12, and will be followed by six or eight at the same time each week.

Dr. Richards succeeds Miss Margaret Adams who was Local Director for three years following two years as Field Captain. Miss Adams is now a member of the National Field Staff in the Covered Wagon Region, acting as Training Adviser to the Girl Scout Councils from St. Louis to Denver. In June of this year she gave a course in Camping Activities at Camp Edith Macy, Briarcliff, New York. During July and August she was director of Camp Mary Day in Natick, and for two weeks during September met with the National Staff at Camp Edith Macy.

Mrs. Theron B. Walker, Commissioner of the Newton Girl Scouts Council, will attend the Girl Scout National convention to be held in Kansas City, Mo., on Oct. 10 and 11.

Plans are being made for the 22nd Annual Roll Call, which is to be held this year from Oct. 17-31—earlier than usual.

Mr. Joseph B. Jamieson, Chairman; Mr. Charles R. Cabot, Vice Chairman; Mr. George S. Fuller, Treasurer; Mrs. James Dunlop, Secretary, are the Chapter Officers.

The Roll Call Chairman, Mrs. Henry T. Patch, is assisted by the following Branch Chairmen: Auburndale, Mrs. E. Arthur Hancock; Chestnut Hill, Mrs. Winslow Sears; Newton, Mr. Robert G. Howard; Newton Centre, Mrs. E. K. Mentzer; Newton Highlands, Mrs. Louis H. Marshall; Waban, Mrs. Alan M. MacIntire; Newton Lower Falls, Mrs. P. Clarence Baker; Newton Upper Falls, Miss Ethel W. Sabin; West Newton, Mrs. Edward W. Pride; Newtonville, Mrs. F. Lincoln Peirce.

Mr. George Lincoln Parker of Newton is Vice Chairman for the Roll Call.

The Chapter is grateful for the generous response to the recent hurricane and disaster relief work. The quota of $2500 has been reached and the amount sent to Washington.

Politicallight

By THE EDITOR

Chief interest in the state political campaign this week occurred in the conventions of the Republican and Democratic parties and the adoption of their respective party platforms. The Republican platform contains some fifteen major planks while that of the Democratic party covers a wide field with nearly thirty specific items. As the campaign develops, these plans and attendant issues will receive more detailed consideration.

One important contrast in the two convention assemblies stands out clearly and decisively. The Republicans of Massachusetts are apparently more united at the present time than in any campaign of recent years. In the first instance, John W. Haigis, Republican nominee for governor two years ago, was made permanent chairman of the convention, which met Tuesday. This act, together with Mr. Haigis' address to the convention, dispelled any fear that the Western Massachusetts Republican leader and his supporters possessed any animosity towards the present Republican standard bearer, Leverett Saltonstall. During the early summer it will be remembered that there was some doubt as to Mr. Haigis' position in the campaign. The doubt, however, has been completely dispelled. Primary candidates Frederick M. Butler and Richard Whitcomb, who opposed Saltonstall for the nomination, offered their support for the ticket.

The surprise of the convention however, was the appearance of William H. McMahers, whose 47,000 primary votes, were regarded as an ominous threat to Republican victory in the fall. Mr. McMahers, who had also filed independent nomination papers and whose name will appear on the ballot in November as a Townsend Plan candidate, urged all Townsends and others who voted for him to cast their vote for the entire Republican ticket. Subsequently the Republican convention adopted a plank pledging Republican congressmen to use their efforts to have the next Congress consider the plan but with the frank statement that such efforts did not commit them to endorse it.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., delivered the convention keynote address and stressed the importance of security for the aged and opportunity for youth and the necessity of ridding the state of inefficiency, selfishness and insincerity in politics.

This party unity was not confined to the governorship as the various candidates for the nomination of Lieutenant Governor appeared to publicly acknowledge their support of the ticket and particularly of the party's choice for that office, Speaker Horace T. Cahill. In fact throughout the entire convention the attitude of harmony and the enthusiasm of prospective success in November was rampant.

Last Saturday the Democratic convention was noticeably marked by the absence of the defeated candidates for the nomination as Governor and by the domination of the Curley forces. Such an occurrence, however, was not unexpected. Governor Hurley was in Washington on an official trip pertaining to his duties as Secretary of the United States Navy, and although unquestionably a necessary trip it was probable that it saved an even more embarrassing situation. Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly and ex-Congressman Richard M. Russell, also defeated by James M. Curley, were also conspicuous by their absence as was Senator David I. Walsh and former Governor Joseph B. Ely. These leading Democrats, however, may possibly yet be induced to support the Democratic party in an effort to retain its hold in Massachusetts but it is extremely doubtful that the rift will be healed. Thus former Governor Curley faces apparent serious opposition in his own party in his attempt to regain the party leadership after two resounding defeats in the past two years.

Although this marked contrast between the two conventions gives the Republican party hope for a successful campaign during the next month there is still much to be accomplished. Following the primaries there were three important phases to the Republican campaign. The first was that of harmony within the ranks. Backed by the overwhelming support of Saltonstall by the electorate in the primary and under the guidance of the outstanding characteristics of his personality—sincerity, integrity, and truth—it would seem that this first objective has been accomplished. The second objective is the problem of attracting the support of the majority of some half million of voters who are pledged to either party. While in the past many of these have voted the Republican ticket, at least in part, there have been enough who have supported the Democratic nominees to swing the state into the Democratic column. A large number of these voters probably voted for the Republican ticket four years ago but whether they will do so again remains very much a question. The present situation in this state, under Democratic administrations for the past eight years, may well give rise to a marked swing toward Republican candidates. And this swing will be promoted by the campaign being waged by the Republican state ticket. Whether or not this anticipated swing can or will be checked by the announced determination of James Farley, Democratic national chairman, to speak in Boston later this month in support of the Democratic ticket remains to be seen. Then again it may be that Massachusetts voters will resist an alleged interference by the New Deal. However, the New Deal cannot help but eye with great concern the growing prospects of Republican success. This fall as such an event might easily deprive the Democratic party of presidential support in 1940.

The third and by far the most important Republican objective is the getting out of the vote on election day. In previous years there has usually been some three hundred thousand voters who have failed to exercise their right of franchise. It is common knowledge that by far the most of these stay-at-home voters would be supporters of the Republican ticket. Good weather and local organization work can bring them to the polls. Two years ago, the Republican State Committee, under the direction of Sinclair Weeks as Chairman, laid the groundwork of organization which may well bear fruit in November. In every community there will be Republican workers who will work earnestly and enthusiastically for success. With a clear cut issue facing them it is not difficult to conceive of a tremendous Republican vote but, still an unaccomplished fact, it will take unceasing effort to bring success despite the best prospects in many years.

New Step in Adult Religious Education

People in the Newtons, Waltham, Watertown, Belmont, and Weston are now for the first time taking a sectarian, community school of adult religious education designed not only for church school workers as formerly but also for the general public. In the fall school conducted by the Norumbega Council of Religious Education, beginning Monday, October 24 and continuing for six successive Monday evenings in the Newtonville Methodist Episcopal Church, Professor Edwin P. Booth of Boston University will offer a course entitled "Bible Biography," and Professor Richard M. Vaughan of Andover Newton Theological School will speak on "My Christian Beliefs." The aim of the council is to reach many people who are not church officers or teachers but who see the need of just such a program for church people at large.

Besides these two special courses, an excellent series has been arranged for those more specifically interested in teaching or administering in the church school. During the first period, from 7:30 to 8:20 each Monday, four other courses are open. Mrs. Doris Bigglestone Heath of Immanuel Baptist Church, Newton, leads a class on "Finding and Using Source Materials for Juniors." A series on "Projects and Project Methods for Intermediates" is to be given by Prof. A. Edwin Wells who is a teacher each summer at the Ocean Park School of Methods. Mr. Frank H. Grebe, Director of Religious Education, Second Church, West Newton, has an elective course, "The Use of Pictures in Teaching," while Rev. J. H. Scammon of Andover Newton Theological School offers "Approach to the Life of Christ Through Historical Fiction." During the second period, from 8:40 to 9:30, Prof. Booth meets the entire group for his series.

The assembly periods, from 8:20 to 8:40 each evening, will consist of a Get-acquainted hour, an Old-Fashioned Hymn Sing, an Exhibition of Projects, religious moving pictures, and a Consecration Service. Dean of the school this year is Rev. J. H. Scammon, while Mr. C. E. Churchill is President of the Council.

Sunbeam Chats

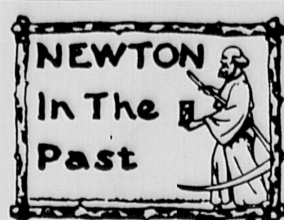

Gee! I do a lot of things for myself now. Mother always lets me try to do things when I want to and tells me how. The District Nurse and mother have many discussions about something they call "habits." Will tell you more about that when I learn what it is. See you next week.

(Sunbeam Chats are sponsored by the Newton District Nursing Association.)

SALVATION ARMY DAY ON SUNDAY

This Sunday, Salvation Army Day in churches of Greater Boston, bringing outstanding Salvation Army leaders to its pulpits, will mean that Trinity Church in Newton Centre will have as its guest speaker at the 11 o'clock morning service the Eastern Territorial Commander of the Salvation Army from New York City, Commissioner Alexander M. Damon. The Rev. Dr. E. T. Sullivan, D. D., minister, will officiate. Some fifty churches in Greater Boston will cooperate in Salvation Army Sunday. This day is an annual event inaugurating the eve of the Greater Boston Annual Maintenance Appeal of the Salvation Army. This year the campaign will be launched Monday. The quota for 1938-1939, to carry on the army's twenty-four activities and institutions in the Metropolitan area, will be $155,000.

The reduction of fares on the Boston & Albany railroad, an intimation of which was given last week, is now a certainty, and the new rates will take effect on November 1. From 2 to 3 cents will be taken off from the present rate for single tickets, and a like reduction will be made for 10 ride tickets. A more important change is made in the commutation ticket system. Instead of selling 3 months tickets, a book of 100 coupons will be issued, which can be used by anyone, and will be good for all time. The price of this book will be about 1 cent more per coupon than the present three-months tickets, but this will be fully offset by the removal of restrictions on their use. No more school tickets between Boston and the suburbs will be issued. The following is the schedule of the new rates—Newton, single 13c, 10 ride $1.17; 100 ride $8.75; Newtonville, single 15c, 10 ride $1.30; 100 ride $9.20; West Newton, single 17c, 10 ride $1.50; 100 ride $9.75; Auburndale, single 19c, 10 ride $1.65; 100 ride $10.40; Newton Centre, single 17c, 10 ride $1.40; 100 ride $9.75; Newton Highlands, single 19c, 10 ride $1.50; 100 ride $10.40.

The new 2 cent stamped envelopes are on sale at the postoffice and are a disgrace to any civilized government. The engraving is wretched and the portrait hideous.

The first month's trial of the teaching of sewing in the public schools proves the experiment to be a success. The lessons are so conducted as to be a diversion rather than a task, and the girls make good progress. The boys occupy the time in writing and drawing.

The cricket players at Newton High School have organized a Rugby eleven.

Newtonville people are growing tired of the name of their village and are talking seriously of a change. They consider the termination "ville" too belittling and think that they are of enough importance to deserve a more distinctive name. The idea is a good one and if carried out will do away with one of the too numerous Newtons. Anyone having a name to suggest is invited to send it to this office.

The inclement weather of last Sunday did not keep people away from the Gospel meeting at Eliot lower hall, Newton. The testimony of a colored stranger lent some variety to the occasion.

Boston University has a freshman class of over 75 this year, among whom are a number of pupils from Newton.

Taylor's express wagon broke down on the Centre street crossing of the Boston & Albany on Tuesday evening when the transient bolt gave way. Quite a force of men was required to lift the heavy wagon off the rails before a train came.

Fifty members of the Appalachian Club left Boston last Friday for a visit to the Berkshire Hills. Among the party were Mr. and Mrs. John Alden, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Davis of Newton.

The Harrison & Morton Zouaves came out in their new uniforms and torches on Thursday night and presented a very handsome appearance. Their marching was creditable and the uniforms very gorgeous by torchlight.

Desirable building lots in the Newton section of the city are now hard to find, especially within walking distance of the railroad station. The most desirable ones are those on Grasmere street and Hunnewell avenue.

The Newton postoffice will hereafter only be opened in the morning on Sundays. The mail matter will be collected from the street boxes on Sunday afternoons and forwarded to Boston, New York and other places.

Constable Martin Laffie has reported to the Board of Aldermen that he killed 2 dogs between July 1 and October 1, which comprised all the unlicensed dogs in this city, and one owner of an unlicensed dog has been prosecuted. All the remaining dogs in the city, so far as is known, have been licensed.

The prohibition flag at West Newton which was taken down after the heavy rainstorm to be repaired, was hung again in its place the following day.

The assessors have completed the list of women voters who are eligible to cast ballots for members of the School Board in the coming municipal election. The total number assessed is 118—distributed as follows: Ward One, 9; Ward Two, 19; Ward Three, 41; Ward Four, 10; Ward Five, 6; Ward Six, 23; Ward Seven, 16.

Two dogs made an assault on Wednesday night upon some calves in a pasture on Winchester street, Newton Highlands, killing and partly consuming one, and fatally injuring two others belonging to James Coveney.

The Newton Cottage Hospital had 18 patients this week and two women were placed in the children's ward and one in the Grace Church room off the men's ward. The success in treating typhoid fever patients at the hospital has been remarkable and there have been some very serious cases there. Persons are now waiting to go to the hospital but cannot be taken because of lack of room.

Powers' Paragraphs

If any more hurricanes or even strong gales are to visit New England, huge advertising signs on tops of buildings should be prohibited. Several at Newton Corner and other business sections of this city were blown down during the height of the storm on September 21st, and it was extremely fortunate that no persons were injured by them. Unwisely to start with, they also present this hazard.

Anyone so lacking in common sense as to select a congested street in a business district as a place to teach some inexperienced person to operate an automobile, should not only be arraigned in court, but also have his or her driving license revoked. There have been too many persons killed or injured by student drivers for a couple of days that Chamberlain and Daladier were to call Hitler's bluff, the surrender at Munich surprised us, as Der Fuehrer was conceded not only what he demanded at the Berchtesgaden conference but everything he insisted on at the Godesberg meeting, with the exception of the minor detail of having German troops enter the Sudeten region at once. No reasonable person can blame Chamberlain for trying to avoid a horrible war, nor can most persons in this country realize the terror with which people in England and France dreaded a modern war; a war that would have caused densely populated cities to be ruthlessly bombed. Those who reside in these United States did not undergo the bombing of cities, such as London experienced in the World War, or invasion and destruction such as occurred in France.

But why did "dear old Neville" permit such an apparent crisis to ensue as seemingly materialized between his meeting with Hitler at Godesberg and the capitulation at Munich? Was Mr. Chamberlain spoofing the English people, using psychology to get them into such a terrified state of mind that they welcomed with great relief any terms which would avoid war? We are not deluded by the idea that either England or France was actuated by idealism in the Czechoslovakian question, and there is reason in the contention of Hitler that those sections of Czechoslovakia which are preponderantly Germanic, and which formerly were included in the Austrian Empire should be joined to the Teutonic nation. We believe with millions of others that Hitler will not keep his promise that he will seek no further additions of European territory to Germany. We believe that his "Drang nach Osten" will proceed before long toward Rumania or Poland, and if conditions are right—the granary of the Ukraine.

England and France by permitting Hitler to progress rapidly the past few years in building war equipment, including airplanes in manufacturing munitions, by allowing him to become more and more arrogant, have placed the Fuehrer and his nation in a position of such strength that he can scorn them, and get away with it.

There are those, even in this country, who think that the world may become better under an efficient, totalitarian government such as that of Hitler or that of Mussolini. Such persons must believe that democracies have been failures. To them the idealism of Jefferson, Washington, Lincoln was fatuous. Realism of the kind practiced by Mussolini, Hitler (and even Chamberlain is being called a realist) they consider more practical and beneficial.

How naive was the statement made by Chamberlain in his address to the House of Commons on October 3rd—"Hard things have been said about the German chancellor today and in the past, but I do feel that the House ought to recognize the difficulty for a man in that position to take back such an emphatic declaration as he had already made and to recognize that in consenting, even though it were only at the last minute, to discuss with the representatives of other powers those things which he had declared he had decided once and for all—was a real contribution on his part." With Mr. Chamberlain manifesting such a conciliatory spirit and such artlessness is it to be wondered at that Herr Hitler has been making more and more emphatic declarations and following these declarations by bold acts.

In the House of Commons that same day Alfred Duff Cooper who resigned the office of First Lord of the Admiralty in protest against Chamberlain's pact with Hitler, also spoke. He said in part—"It was not for Serbia or Belgium we fought in 1914, though it suited some people to say so, but we were fighting then, as we should have been fighting last week, in order that one great power should not be allowed in disregard of treaty obligations and the laws of nations and against all morality, to dominate by brutal force the continent of Europe. I have given up the office I love, perhaps ruined a political career, but that is of little matter. I have retained something which is to me of greater value. I can still walk about the world with my head erect."

There are the divergent philosophies—that of Chamberlain the realist and Cooper the idealist. Today in Europe realism is dominant. Its leading exponents, Hitler and Mussolini scoff repeatedly at that product of idealism known as democracy, of which this country is the outstanding example. They have cowed the democracies of Europe. They and their successors will undoubtedly seek further conquests. Let us hope their ambitions will be confined to the Eastern hemisphere, because if European or Japanese despots attempt to extend their sway to this Western hemisphere, the only way to stop them will be—by meeting armed might by equal or superior armed might.

Some who still believe that Hitler was bluffing contend that he really intended to start war on October 1st, by sending his troops into Czechoslovakia, the huge German steamships would have been ordered to return to the safety of home ports sooner than two days before that date.

One factor which contributed largely to the destruction of so many trees by the hurricane was the unusually heavy foliage this year. Probably because of the profuse rains of last July the trees had more leaves this year than for a long time past. This large amount of foliage presented much more surface for the hurricane wind to blow on, and the leaves, instead of dropping off as they ordinarily would in September when buff-

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Snuff—the Candle!

The candle to me is no longer a symbol of geniality and cheer. Soon after Nature indulged itself in a hurricane-visit to our part of New England, I became marked with candle drippings—blue, red and white. Later some brown ones turned up and I gathered a few spots from those. The absence of electrical power in my own case was so extended that I almost resembled a wax figure. I am sorry, for it has wrought in me almost a hatred for the colored sticks.

Not that I expect attention, but it would be cruel of anybody to invite me out to dine where the glow of candlelight provided the only illumination, particularly when other means were available. As a gastronomic incentive or a table decoration it no longer appeals. There would vividly return to me, I am sure, the memories of stumbling around for nine nights with only a candle to guide my steps. Under such circumstances the best dinner in the world would be a flop.

Also to enter a tearoom on the roadside after dark would so unnerve me that the most delicious morsel would be tasteless. And to be one of a birthday party when the cake, with lighted candles, was brought on would send me into a frenzy and I would have to be restrained. The future is horrifying. I dread it. What am I to do when confronted with a lighted Christmas tree?

Swift on the Comeback

A word more on the hurricane, which will never be forgotten but which I promise not to mention except when necessary. This week, in a rural spot where I was at the moment vacationing, two old men were discussing the disaster. One said, solemnly, "It was all due to the wickedness of the people." The other, plainly exasperated, retorted, "I don't see why I should be punished for what you do."

Last Summer's Things

The problem of determining what's to become of last Summer's things is both economic and spiritualistic. We feel that thrift requires we overhaul, although the occupation is depressing. It is necessary that we decide if a sweater in fair condition is worth keeping when we recall that we wore it usually on inclement days of which there were a major number in our recreative periods. Why preserve a reminder of the unpleasant? That necktie is in good condition but when worn in public it provoked comment that if not sharply critical was far from approbative. Trousers that were as comfortable as they were baggy have marks of wear at the most conspicuous points which makes them irreparable. Taken by and large the question is no small one even if conscious of our own infinitesimal state.

Her Favorite Reading

A white-haired lady of more than three score and ten sat reading in the waiting room of the South Station one day last week when there were so many kinds of clock-time everybody seemed confused. She must have got her standard and daylight schedules crossed and found herself compelled to sit and wait. Somehow she had provided herself with a book and never looked up from its pages in spite of the clamor. My informant said he thought of old lavender and lace as he gazed at the sweet-faced grandmother. Finally he became inquisitive as to the book she was reading and maneuvered until he got a good look at the title—"Spies and Intrigues" by Oppenheim."

EDISON CREW ON HOMER STREET, NEWTON CENTRE

Boston Edison maintenance crews, following hasty restoration of service throughout badly stricken Newton areas, are now engaged in clearing all temporary line construction. Short cuts, without jeopardizing public safety, were common practice in the Company's haste to restore service. Circuits normally used for street lighting have been rapidly released for that purpose, and the program of rebuilding lines to permanent construction standards is already well advanced.

Telephone Service Mostly Restored

The number of telephone lines still out of order in the Newtons have decreased to 308 in Centre Newton, 274 in Newton North, 321 in the West Newton exchanges as of Wednesday evening. Favorable weather conditions have accelerated the rapid rate of restoration.

The assistance and materials supplied by the heavy construction crews from outside New England have been invaluable. Michigan, Pennsylvania and Maryland personnel has figured prominently in restoring Newton telephones.

Manager Campbell states that the above number of telephones still out of order are due to the complete replacement of main cables and the necessary time required in "splicing" the renewed sections into the system. So far as is known the ordinary case of a broken wire between the house and street pole has been corrected.

The assistance of outside crews will be continued until Newton is restored one hundred per cent. The out of state registration plates on Telephone Company trucks will vanish in the next three days as the units will move on to other stricken areas. Their places will be replaced by crew groups from Baltimore and Virginia who will work diligently on cable splicing.

Manager Campbell wishes to express his appreciation for the patience of the Newton customers who were inconvenienced by the loss of their telephone service. The spirit of co-operation was very noticeable and it made possible the early restoration of service to the greatest number of telephone users.

The management is deeply grateful for the friendliness manifested toward the Michigan, Pennsylvania and Maryland crews. This hospitality revived the idea that New Englanders are a cold and rather aloof people. Many of the visitors have already mentioned their intention of returning to New England for a pleasure visit.

Edison Company Restores Service

Rehabilitation work to recover street lighting circuits for normal operation is now being rapidly completed, according to information received from the Boston Edison Company today. This follow-up work was undertaken immediately following completion of the emergency program to restore normal electric service in every one of the 40 cities and towns served by the Boston utility company.

A survey on restoration of the more than 400,000 customers on the company's lines, completed on Wednesday morning, showed only a few isolated cases where service could not be restored until the customer completes service pipe repairs. The Edison district office, focal point of activity during the ten-day period of general recovery from the hurricane effects, is again observing routine office hours. Merchandising and general activities have been resumed with the release of sales and clerical forces who did yeoman service with axes and trucks in advance of the experienced climbers and wiremen.

Figures obtained from the Edison supply department on materials shipped in to the various stock rooms and supply depots at strategic points in the metropolitan area offer the best available data on the scope of the emergency work program. More than 25 carloads of line wire were vanned to these supply centers; more than 2000 crossarms; 13 tons of rope; 2000 low and high voltage transformers; 5000 crossarms; 12 tons of insulators; 1000 pairs of rubber gloves; 300 sets of climbing irons; 500 axes and 300 crosscut saws. In this manner complete equipment was readily available to the 1200 Edison field workers and the 500 experienced line workers brought in on loan from various gas and electric companies outside of the hurricane area. All linemen and trucks from outside the state have been retained, so far as possible, to aid in clearing all temporary line construction. President Frank B. Comerford has estimated the company's hurricane loss at $1,000,000.

In Newton alone more than 340 Edison workers were employed clearing debris and trees and hastening restoration of complete electric facilities in all sections of the city. In addition to three complete line crews of the company, there were three complete crews from the Baltimore Gas & Electric Company, three more from Camden, New Jersey, three Ellis Construction Company line crews, two from Wilkes-Barre, Penna., and two Sordani Company crews from Jenkintown, Penna. Supplementing this climbing force were 20 crews of from three to 10 men, each comprised largely of local electrical contractors working on tap service and secondary spans. Three tree crews, two post hole crews and 10 rough labor crews completed the working organization under Boston Edison supervi-

Gamewell Gets Radio Contract

The Gamewell Fire Alarm Telegraph Company of Newton Upper Falls was the lowest bidder on the two-way radio equipment for the Newton police department. Bids were opened on Wednesday by Chief Hughes. The sum of $11,000 was appropriated by the Board of Aldermen for the purpose of equipping the department with two-way radio following the murder last year of two Newton policemen by the gangster Simpson. The bid of the Gamewell Company was $6940, the General Electric Company bid $7245, and the Radio Corporation of America bid $7850. The equipment will be installed by Walter Hartford, radio mechanic of the Newton police department, and will cost about $2000. The equipment will include transmitters in 13 police automobiles, including the patrol wagon and the ambulance; receivers to be placed at police headquarters, Newton Highlands and Chestnut Hill, a spare receiver and a spare transmitter; and a frequency meter for making tests.

THANK YOU!

During the most difficult days of our history nothing has heartened us so much as the splendid co-operation and patience of you, our customers.

It would have been easy to complain and ask for special attention during those days, but you did not, and our people carried on knowing that you understood they were doing their utmost.

The job of restoration has been so big that few realize its magnitude. A statement of some of the materials we required may help to picture it for you. Twenty-two thousand poles, 27,000,000 feet of wire, 320 miles of cable, whole trainloads of miscellaneous equipment—all these were sent to us by the Western Electric Company.

Six thousand trained men using 1500 fully equipped telephone trucks have been engaged in clearing storm troubles. This army of workers—the largest the Bell System ever assembled in an emergency—included our own New England people and men from Bell System companies operating in 20 outside states.

We sincerely regret the delay in restoring service at a time when you have been most in need of it. We are grateful for your tolerance and consideration, and for the helpful co-operation you have given our repair crews, all working under trying circumstances. If, by any chance, your service is not yet normal, be sure that we shall not consider our job done until every telephone, including yours, is in working order.

Because of the tremendous extent of the disaster, we are without accurate knowledge as to how long many individual telephones may have been out of service. We are ready and willing, however, to make whatever allowances seem appropriate. Where possible, such an adjustment will appear on your bill. If it does not, and if your service has been out of order, will you please fill out and mail the card which will come with your bill.

Newton Pupils Enroll At Burdett College

Burdett College opened in September with students in attendance from 11 states and four foreign countries. Students and graduates from 78 colleges and universities have entered courses in the day and evening divisions, illustrating that young men and women are interested in practical training as the necessary preparation for getting and keeping a job.

Placement department figures show a very decided increase, August being the best placement month since last October. Burdett College, during the last 12 months received through its placement department, 1956 calls, of which 889 placements resulted. Graduates of Burdett College receive free placement service both at the time courses are completed and whenever needed thereafter.

Among the many young men and women from the Newtons in attendance in the Secretarial, Business Administration, and Accounting Courses at Burdett College are: Philip Richards, Meredith Waterman, Helen Paul, Mary Carvell, Rose Timmins, Mona Hoitt, H. Studebaker Announces for 1939 WORLD'S SMARTEST MOTOR CARS Acclaimed by Europe's Famed Designers! Priced almost as low as the lowest!

"My work demands a constant searching for greater beauty and elegance. That is perhaps the reason the Studebaker with its thoroughbred appearance appeals to me so greatly."

Jean Patou
R. Barbas, Managing Director

"I marvel at the superb good taste of the new Studebaker interiors. Raymond Loewy has made them harmonize beautifully with its unique exterior design."

Suzanne Talbot

STYLED by Raymond Loewy, ace designer of the Broadway Limited... famed visualist of New York's 1939 World's Fair! The magnificent new Studebaker Commanders and Presidents for 1939 are so far in front they make all other cars look dated!

But see for yourself! See why these great new Studebakers have been acclaimed by Europe's best design authorities as a triumph of keen, vigorous lines, deep-bedded comfort, a hundred and one points of luxury finish!

And imagine it—cars of Studebaker prestige and performance—built by Studebaker master craftsmen—at prices that challenge the lowest!

Try Studebaker's new steering wheel gear shift lever—it's standard equipment! See the new 10-point "Climatizer"—the new, simplified automatic gas-saving overdrive—they're optional at small added cost. Low down payment—easy C. I. T. terms.

"This new Studebaker is the closest approach to perfection I have yet seen in a motor car. It is as functionally beautiful as a marble in the Louvre."

Huggy Rouff

"It is truly gratifying to one's instincts for good taste to see this new Studebaker. It is an achievement of which its designer may justifiably be proud."

WOMEN'S CLUB ACTIVITIES

Edited by EMMA D. COOLIDGE

Art, Flowers' Readings, Music, Among Offerings

Newton Community Club

The opening meeting of the Newton Community Club will be held in Underwood School Auditorium October 13, at 2 o'clock.

Miss Ruth Moss, who has achieved distinction on both stage and radio, will give the Club a very interesting program. A graduate of the Leland Powers School of the Theatre, she played leading parts with the Philadelphia Rice Players, and spent a season in Shakespearean repertoire. This followed her success over the radio, and today she is considered New England's foremost radio announcer. She has become acclaimed an actress of power and charm, her vibrant voice having thrilled thousands even more effectively across the footlights. In addition, Miss Moss writes all of the scenes which make up her program.

She will portray the women who have contributed to the history of the world. Among her "Women of the Ages" will be Joan of Arc and Catherine of Russia.

In presenting these characterizations Miss Moss uses music to knit together the various historical episodes. Miss Alice May Downer, concert pianist, assists Miss Moss.

As an additional attraction for this first meeting, the Conservation Committee has planned a Flower Show, of which Mrs. Donald V. Baker is chairman.

All members are invited and urged to exhibit. Because so many gardens have suffered during the storm it is important that all who have gardens or are interested will make at least one entry in the Show.

Any resident of Newton, whether a member of the Club or not, may enter Classes II and IV.

Fall Conference Of Juniors

Junior clubwomen of the State will have their Annual Fall Convention in Northampton, Saturday, October 15, beginning at 10:30 o'clock. The new chairman, Miss Frances Letson of Dorchester, will preside, and the Junior department of the Northampton Woman's Club, with Miss Patricia Fowle as president, will be hostess. In the morning there will be talks by club officials of the State, presidents of Junior clubs, and an address on "Health Camp Scholarships for Undernourished Children."

The delegates present will vote as to whether this or some other worthy charity shall benefit from the second Annual Charity Ball, which will be held at the Copley-Plaza Hotel in Boston on October 29.

Following a box luncheon the Juniors will make visits to interesting spots in Northampton, including the Clarke School for the Deaf where Mrs. Calvin Coolidge taught before her marriage; the old home of President Coolidge and Smith College. Returning to the church, there will be a report from the State Division of the Blind, telling how the money raised from the Charity Ball last year was used. Rules for the Junior contests for the coming season also will be explained.

Plans for the Charity Ball are already well under way. Miss Letson is assisted by Miss Anastasia Kirby of Cambridge and Miss Eleanor McManus of Roxbury as vice-chairmen. Miss McManus, Miss Marjorie Burns of West Roxbury, and Miss Esther Doane of West Newbury are in charge of tickets. Juniors all over the State are co-operating, and many will come from distant cities and towns to attend. The dance will open with a Reception from 8:30 to 9 o'clock with Mrs. Henry W. Hildreth, State president, and the vice-presidents in the receiving line. There will also be a souvenir booklet in which the Juniors are hoping that every senior woman's club will add its name to help swell the fund, as well as the name of any club member who would like to join the list of patronesses.

Burning Brush Smokes Big Area

Large quantities of broken limbs and parts of fallen trees which had been deposited in the dump between River and Pine sts., West Newton, and which were being burned, spread a pall of smoke over sections of West Newton and Abundant on Tuesday and caused the crew of Engine 5 to work at the dump for 8 hours before the big brush fire was extinguished.

The roof of the house at 42-44 Ripley st., Newton Centre caught fire from sparks from a chimney on Tuesday afternoon and damage estimated at several hundreds of dollars resulted. The house is occupied by Stiles Haines.

New Yarn Shop At Nonantum

J. William House of Newtonville, a well known resident of this city, has opened a yarn shop at 183 California st., in the Nonantum section of Newton. He has the largest stock of yarns in this vicinity at prices in many items at far below the cost of manufacture. Included in this stock are many odd lots of yarn, as well as regular lots. All types of yarn used in hand knitting and crocheting are on display.

Mr. House was for many years associated with the Shepherd Worsted Mills of Nonantum and later with Tiooga Yarns of South Coventry, Connecticut. He has an unusual knowledge of both the manufacturing and selling of yarns, and as a life-long resident of this city, he knows the wants of Newton people, and the need there has been in this community for a shop of this kind. It is no longer necessary for Newton residents to travel to other places, or to order by mail, when they desire to purchase quality yarns at low prices. The "Yarn House" will be open daily from 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m., including Saturdays, and Mr. House extends an invitation to residents of the Newtons and vicinity to visit his store and see the wonderful values he offers in quality yarns.

Christmas Seal Sale Powers' Paragraphs

Local Chairmen, with their Committees, are already at work preparing for the Annual Christmas Health Seal Sale, and with the Camp year recently closing, all residents of Newton should read the gratifying statement from Dr. Harold D. Choape of the Newton Health Department, about the benefits received from a vacation spent at the newly erected camp at Lake Massapoag in Sharon.

Dr. Choape says: "The two months' stay at a health camp is a valuable experience in itself for these underprivileged children, but even more important is the carry-over value of the training they receive as to proper care of themselves for the prevention of tuberculosis, instruction as to diet, rest, cleanliness and general health habits. . . . This is all made possible because Newton Citizens generously purchase Christmas seals. When you receive your 100 Christmas seals later in the year buy them with good cheer in your heart, knowing that you contributed to that most precious asset of youth—good health."

Remember—the Christmas Health Seal Sale is not included in the Community Chest appeal.

Arrest Alleged Thief in Hospital

Thomas J. Murphy, Jr., 27, of Malden, who recently resided for a short time at 19 Green st., Newton, was arrested last Friday as he was about to leave St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, after having been a patient there for a few weeks. According to the Newton police Murphy stole two automobiles, one owned by Richard Nason, formerly of 11 Washington st., Newton, the other by Charles Foster of 91 Hunnewell ave., Newton. Nason's car was stolen on August 31st. Its owner was about to leave for his new home in Texas and in the car was silverware, clothing and other personal property valued at $1300. The following day the car was found abandoned on West st., Nonantum, near where Murphy had been residing. Patrolman Smith got a clue which caused the police to search the house where Murphy was living, and in the cellar found a large part of the stolen articles. Murphy, however, had gone to the hospital to be treated for an injured spine. The police also recovered an electric grinder which had been stolen from the Foster car some time before the Nason theft.

Murphy was arraigned in the Newton court on Friday afternoon and held for the Grand Jury. In default of $1000 bail he was sent to East Cambridge jail. He told the judge that he did not steal the cars, but had accepted rides in them while intoxicated, and had stored the loot at his home as a favor to the man whom he claimed had taken the automobiles.

BOYS' DEPARTMENT NOTES

Cadet Division Opens
The Cadet Division swung into action Saturday morning, October 1st, at 9:15. The gymnasium period, under the direction of Mr. V. A. Anderson, consisted of games and calisthenics from 9:15 to 10 o'clock. Following this was the swimming period until 10:30, with instruction in the swimming strokes.

The remainder of the morning consisted of organization into groups or "tribes" under the supervision of Mr. Andrew, Associate Director of Boys' Work, and a presentation of the various craft materials and instruction available for the boys. Assisting Mr. Andrew in this work are six older high school boys who will direct the work.

Some persons have had the habit in past years of burning leaves and lawn rakes on the street in front of their homes. This is quite in violation of the law and anyone doing it can be prosecuted. It is also a violation of the law to start a fire in the open, even in one's own yard, without a permit from the Chief of the Fire Department. But, with the tremendous amount of fallen branches as a result of the hurricane, it is probable that persons who burn leaves or fallen branches in their own yards this month would not be prosecuted, provided they use some common sense. A bonfire should not be started close to a building or combustible material. It should not be started on a windy day when sparks are liable to travel and set fires, and it should not be started on a damp day when the smoke will remain close to the ground and cause discomfort to the surrounding neighborhood.

It amused us to read about the enthusiastic ovation given William Mc-Masters by the Republicans at their State convention. Mr. Mc-Masters has always been so consistent—politically.

Much criticism has been directed at WPA workers because of their alleged propensity to loaf when they are supposed to be working. But a large percentage of WPA workers in Newton didn't loaf in the big job of clearing the streets of this city after the hurricane. They worked hard and gave valuable assistance.

One of the first stories that I received about a dog from the hurricane-torn section of New England is extremely interesting. A woman in Rhode Island was raising her first litter of puppies and had them quartered in a small kennel under a large tree in the back yard. There was a small wired-in area surrounding the dog house.

Shortly after noon of the day the storm broke, the mother dog began to dig under the wire of her kennel yard. The dog's mistress, observing the animal's actions, thought them rather peculiar, but did nothing about it.

The hurricane was over before she thought again of her dog and puppies. As she glanced out the window she was horrified to see that the tree sheltering the small kennel had blown down and completely demolished it. Running out, fully expecting to find all her pets had perished, she was amazed to find the mother dog and her offspring hovering under a ledge of a nearby rock.

The dog had dug a hole under the wire and carried or led her pups one by one to what proved a safer place. How did the dog know that the tree was going to fall on the dog house? Was it just a coincidence? I am not going to try and explain it—I can't.

Now is the time of the year to keep your pet a thorough examination before the cold weather sets in. An animal that is out of condition during the winter months is liable to develop a serious illness. A healthy dog can stand almost any amount of cold weather providing he is not subjected to drafts.

As worming tends to weaken a dog I would suggest that you take your pet to a veterinary and allow him to check him for worms, and if he needs medicine, to give it to him this fall and not wait until winter comes before doing so.

An interesting and rather hard to believe fact is that the largest single item in the canning industry is dog food. Seventy-five per cent of all dog food sold today comes in cans. More dog food is canned than any other type of food.

A local politician, and ardent dog fancier, was running for mayor in a small western city. In the midst of the heated campaign he and his two rivals seemed to be running neck and neck in the public's favor. All were attempting in every way possible to win the voters over to their respective sides.

The candidate who was fond of dogs did the following. He called at the City Hall and secured a list of all dog owners. Then he had special cards printed, and after training his own dog to carry one of them in his mouth and offer it to people, he and his pet set out to call on all dog owners of the city.

Stopping in front of a house and placing one of the printed cards in the dog's mouth, his owner would ring the door bell, and retire to the sidewalk. The dog would remain at the door. When it was opened the animal would hold his head up as if the card was not taken from his mouth, he would drop it at the feet of whoever had answered the door. On the card was printed, "Personal to your dog. Dear Canine Playmate, My master is seeking election to the office of mayor. Won't you tell your master to vote for my owner? He is a very capable man and very fond of animals. Thanks a lot. (signed) Your dog friend, Tippecanoe."

Did he win the election? Yes.

To those who own hunting dogs! If your pet has been confined to his kennel all summer with little chance for exercise, don't expect him to run at top speed all day the opening day of the season—that is unless you take it upon yourself to start now to prepare him for it. A dog that is to be used all day the opening day should be taken out every day for at least a month before the season opens and be given a workout to harden his muscles and foot pads.

Often I have heard gunners complaining that their dogs were no good because the animals wouldn't keep hunting after the first two or three hours. It isn't the dog's fault. It's the fault of the owner who was too short-sighted or too lazy to bother to condition the pet before the "law went off."

Answer: Yes, if they are properly trained. (To other readers a Dropper is a cross between a Setter and a Pointer.)

Newtonville Church Observing 70th Anniversary

Central Congregational Three Score and Ten Old

The 70th anniversary of the founding of the Central Congregational Church in Newtonville is to be observed this Friday evening with an informal program called "A Backward Glance" and will conclude with a service at 10:45 on Sunday morning, October 16, entitled "Looking Forward."

This evening at 5:30 there will be a reception in the Chapel by the pastor, Rev. Randolph S. Merrill and Mrs. Merrill, who will be assisted by:

Mr. Fred M. Blanchard, Moderator, and Mrs. Blanchard; Mr. Ernest L. Nichols, chairman of the Anniversary Committee, and Mrs. Nichols; Rev. Wynn C. Fairfield, Senior Deacon, and Mrs. Fairfield; Senior Deaconess Mrs. Edward K. Titus and Mr. Titus; Rev. Boynton Merrill of the Second Church in Newton, West Newton, and Mrs. Merrill; Rev. M. Russell Boynton of the First Church in Newton, Newton Centre, and Mrs. Boynton; Mayor Edwin O. Childs and Mrs. Childs, and Mr. Henry B. Patrick of West Newton, son of Mr. Patrick, who served as minister of the Second Church in the 1860's and who was instrumental in starting the Central Church parish.

There will be an exhibition in the church parlors consisting of pictures, publications and various articles connected with the history of the church and of Newtonville. This exhibit will be in charge of Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden and Miss Louise R. Sherman.

A Harvest Supper in charge of Mrs. C. A. Wentworth will be served at 6:30 and at 7:30 a large birthday cake on which there will be 70 candles will be lighted by members of the church, among whom are the following "Longest time members":

Miss Lillie L. Sherman, who joined the church on March 6, 1870; Mrs. H. B. Stoddard, May 7, 1871; Mrs. Theodore Nickerson, May 1, 1881; Mrs. Albert L. Gordon, June 29, 1884; Mrs. C. F. Rogers, July 3, 1887; William F. Warner, January 1, 1888; (Continued on Page 12)

Would Use Historic Spot For Parking

The historic "village green" at Newton Centre would be converted into a parking space if a recommendation sponsored by the Newton Chamber of Commerce receives favorable consideration from Mayor Childs and the Newton Board of Aldermen. The "village green" at Newton Centre is the site of a tablet defining it as the drill ground in Revolutionary Days, the site of the old powder house, and the large flag pole with its copper base which is the World War Memorial of Newton Centre.

Despite its patriotic associations, some Newton Centre storekeepers have been agitating to have the green converted into a parking space, and the Chamber of Commerce apparently favors the proposition. Herbert Kella-way, a member of the Newton Planning Board, has registered opposition to the scheme, and strong protests are expected from Newton Centre residents, not only because of their sentimental regard for the place, but also because the green and the nearby Mason School with its large yard, have made Newton Centre one of the most attractive villages in the City of Newton.

The storekeepers who advocate the conversion of the green into a parking space, contend that parking facilities are badly needed at Newton Centre. Those who oppose the plan contend that the business interests at Newton Centre should combine and finance the purchase of some land for a parking area.

Italian War Vets Hold Festival

Post 6, Italian Veterans of the World War, conducted a celebration at Hawthorn Playground, Nonantum, on Tuesday and Wednesday. The affair was featured on both evenings by concerts given by the band of the Framingham Post of the War Veterans, and by fireworks. Powerful bombs signalled the opening of the festivities at 7:30 each evening, and fireworks which included more big bombs concluded the celebration each night.

Cronin Pledges Support to Eliot

Thomas H. Eliot of Cambridge, Democratic candidate for Congress, this week was pledged the wholehearted support of Dennis M. Cronin of Newton. Cronin, runner-up in the primary, was defeated by Eliot by only 106 votes after a recount.

In a letter sent to Eliot on Tuesday, Cronin said:

"Since the recount is over and the final results show that you won the nomination for Democratic Congressman from the Ninth Massachusetts District, I extend to you my sincere congratulations upon your victory and my best wishes for your success at the polls on Election Day, November 8."

"As a Democrat who believes in working for the best interests of the Democratic Party, you can depend on me to support you in your contest against Robert Luce so that this district in the next session of Congress will be represented by a Democrat."

With the backing of Cronin and his supporters, particularly in Newton which is Cronin's stronghold, the Eliot campaign throughout the district moved into high gear. On Thursday evening Eliot spoke at a special meeting of the Democratic Ward and City Committee to discuss a registration drive in which both Eliot and Cronin workers will participate.

Will Try To Lessen Pneumonia Deaths

At a meeting of the Newton Medical Club at the Newton Hospital on Monday night the matter of making an increased effort to combat pneumonia was discussed. During the last 10 years 265 persons have died in Newton of this disease; 25 of these dying the past winter. Nearly half of the pneumonia deaths were those of persons between the ages of 15 and 55. Dr. Harold Choje, Health Officer of Newton, states that serums for the five most common types of pneumonia are available free at the Newton Health Department, and that typing of sputum will be done by the Newton Hospital laboratory without charge. He also stated that the Newton District Nursing Association is ready to co-operate and he urges that in any suspected case of pneumonia that a physician be called without delay.

Receive Bids For Razing Houses

Bids were opened last Friday at the office of Public Buildings Commissioner Campbell at City Hall for the razing of six dwelling houses and a small store on Pearl and Gardner sts., Newton on the site of the new school which will be built to replace the Lincoln and Eliot Schools. The lowest bid was submitted by the Mystic Wrecking Company of Chelsea, $637.50. The next lowest bidders were Hub Wrecking Company, Cambridge, $834; City Wrecking Company, Somerville, $918; Chelsea Wrecking Company, Brockton, $1200. There were eight bidders, including John Cavanaugh of Newtonville whose bid was $1800. The work must be completed in 30 days and the contract must be approved by WPA officials. Occupants of one house on Pearl st. and three on Gardner st. were supposed to have vacated by October 1st, but none had moved up to yesterday.

Protests Court St. Being One-Way

J. B. Jurad, who conducts a garage at 11 Court st., Newtonville, has entered a protest against the recent traffic ordinance which restricted travel on Court st. to one way. The ordinance was passed following a petition signed by Court st. residents. Jurad agreed to the change provided that it would not apply to the short section of the street from its easterly end on Washington st. around a corner to Jurad's place of business. Signs, however, have been placed so as to prevent automobiles entering the end of the street in question, and Jurad has been seriously affected by the restriction.

Newton Telephone Service Has Been Entirely Restored

Manager Eugene Campbell of the Newton and Watertown district of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company, has announced to the many subscribers of these sections that the complete restoration of telephone service has been made with the exception of those projects on which final restoration is expected momentarily.

On account of the many severe cable ruptures, wrought by the fury of the recent hurricane disaster, a few cables were installed, but of necessity, they must be joined with the existing system. Cable splicing crews have been working diligently throughout the days and far into the nights to combine the new cables with the cables still intact. Regular local forces, supplemented by the energetic assistance of groups of workers from Baltimore and Virginia, are laboring from seven in the morning until twelve midnight striving to splice these new cables as speedily as possible so that Newton telephone service may be restored one hundred per cent. Mr. Campbell explains that cable splicing is of such a complicated nature that only one crew can work on one particular job at a time. Some of these cables on which the men are now working are ones which contain facilities enough to serve anywhere from seventy-five to one hundred and fifty customers. It would not be efficient to put two crews on the one job or even work the entire twenty-four hours through by use of three crews because much that is done in the latter part of the job depends upon knowledge obtained in the first part of the work. Although this particular branch of repairing requires a lot of time, there are sufficient crews on to clear up everything and final restoration will be made by the time this paper is distributed. The management again wishes to thank all the customers of Newton for the remarkable and splendid spirit of co-operation that has been manifested by everybody throughout the trying period that followed the storm. The words of commendation that have been heard on all sides, in addition to the countless number of appreciative letters received have been most encouraging and gratifying. Such enthusiastic reception by subscribers of the efforts of the Telephone Company to restore service with rapidity has assisted greatly in making a stupendous task seem far less difficult.

Manager Campbell states that we are now doing new installations of service without further delay. Enough men have been released from the emergency crews to care for this, and every effort is being made to fulfill the completion of existing orders with as much celerity as is possible. Again, as in the emergency restoration work, the city is being covered by organized areas and orders such as requests for changes in types of service or moves of service from one address to another, in fact all orders which require the participation of the Telephone Company are being taken care of by the above-mentioned area method as this way seems to be the most expeditious for rendering satisfaction to all concerned.

Ex-Alderman Raps School Committee

Ex-Alderman Bernard D. Farrell of West Newton has made public a letter he wrote to the Newton School Committee in which he criticized the committee for voting at a recent meeting to refuse the use of school halls for political rallies unless such rallies are sponsored by eligible civic groups. Farrell's letter read as follows:

"The Ruling of the sub-committee which was accepted by the Board 'closing the school halls for rallies sponsored either by the candidates themselves or by their respective campaign committees' is extremely unwise."

"Your attitude is peculiar and uncalled for."

"The fact of the matter is that school hall rallies of a political nature are not in violation of the state statute, but actually in direct conformity to it."

"Your action is obviously an attempt to create discretionary control over the exercise of a right which is already ours, and beyond your authority, to deny, to deprive or to infringe."

"And so I respectfully suggest that you reconsider your ruling before it becomes embarrassing to you."

Register Newton Autos Honestly

The drive against fraudulent registration of automobiles by persons who have been so doing to avoid paying excise taxes, or paying for the compulsory insurance on cars, applies but slightly to Newton. Out of 20,500 automobiles registered from Newton, the City Collector found it necessary to send out 4500 demands to owners who did not pay the excise tax within the specified period. Out of the 4500 notices so mailed, only 103 were returned from postoffices as undeliverable. City Collector Newhall states that most of these 103 were returned because the persons to whom they had been mailed had moved and could not be located. There were but a few cases where it was probable that an address had been faked.

Mayor Childs Urged To Get Right Type Of Radio for Police

Alderman Colby Tells Of Federal Requirements

The large sum which the City of Newton is to spend for the installation of a two-way radio system for its police department will be wasted unless the most modern equipment will be provided, according to the opinion of radio experts. Following the fatal shooting of two Newton patrolmen last year by a gangster, a movement was started in the Board of Aldermen to provide the police department with two-way radio, as it was contended that the murders of the two policemen might have been prevented had the police department been equipped with such a system. Several months ago the Board of Aldermen appropriated $11,000 for the purchase and installing of the two-way radio system and bids were asked for after specifications had been drawn up.

Police radios have been operated on a wave frequency just under that used by the commercial broadcasting stations, and because of interference they will in the future have to broadcast on high-frequency short waves in a band between 7 and 10 meters. Because of the narrowness of this band, the Federal Communications Commission on October 1st passed an order compelling frequency stability on police radio broadcasting sets not to deviate over 2 1/4%. There are two types of short wave broadcasting sets—one operated by crystal control, and the other by master-oscillator control. Under crystal control a set can be held down to a stability of within 1%, but under oscillator control it is contended that frequency stability of not less than 5% variation can be assured.

Recently bids were received for the furnishing of equipment for the two-way radio system. There were three bidders. The Gamewell Company of Newton Upper Falls bid $6940; General Electric Company, $7245; Radio Corporation of America, $7850. The Gamewell Company would (Continued on Page 12)

A GOOD LAW REVEALS A SERIOUS CONDITION

Among the new state laws enacted at the past session of the legislature was one which is causing local officials much concern and much difficulty in carrying out its provisions. We refer to the law which permits the tax collector of any municipality to seek the revocation of the registration of any automobile on which the excise tax has not been paid. In its aims the law is an excellent one as it was known that many persons were failing to pay this excise tax and in many of the larger cities, particularly Boston, the sum involved runs into many thousands of dollars. Following the effective date of the law in midsummer the various tax collectors began to prepare plans for the issuance of notices on automobile owners who had not paid their excise on October first. The mailing of these notices has revealed the existence of many false or incomplete registrations. In the city of Quincy alone it is reported that approximately one-sixth of the notices sent out were undeliverable because of non-existent addresses, or addresses of vacant lots, cemeteries and the like. Such flagrant conditions have not been found to exist in Newton, with only about one hundred three out of 4500 demands sent out being returned. The purpose, of course, of the "racket" is to avoid more than a down payment upon a compulsory automobile premium. This fact is undoubtedly one of the reasons why such insurance rates are not lowered. Another difficulty officials are finding in connection with the revocation law is that it is practically impossible for police to pick up the offenders' plates when the address is falsified and the automobile actually garaged in a locality other than that where the excise tax is believed to be due. The situation reveals the necessity of a law which will take from the road those cars illegally being operated and the excise tax law may be amended to eliminate this evil. A simple way would be to require the presentation of a 1938 excise tax receipt before plates for 1939 could be secured and in the case of new registrations the presentation of a certificate from the town or city clerk that bona fide residence is maintained. At best the problem is complex. The law is demonstrating its value already in revealing an undesirable situation. Persons knowingly violating the law should be prosecuted to the limit. They have neither decency nor civic responsibility in their make-up—only selfishness and irresponsibility.

Politicallight

By THE EDITOR

With election day only twenty-five days away both the Republican and Democratic parties are beginning to put more pressure into their respective political campaigns. The Republican state ticket, headed by Leverett Saltonstall, candidate for Governor, made a swing through the western part of the state early this week and returned for several days of activity in and around Boston. The Democratic ticket led by ex-Governor James M. Curley has spent considerable time in Greater Boston but expects to "cover" every municipality in the state within the next three weeks.

At the present time Saltonstall holds a lead over Curley yet the latter has always been known to be a fast finisher and usually does his best campaigning when running behind at this stage of the race so that most political observers are hesitant about predicting the final outcome on November 8th.

It is regarded improbable that Curley will attract Republican votes, particularly enough to cause the G. O. P. any concern. Meanwhile the Saltonstall campaign continues to edge its way into numerous Democratic circles which in this present year are more or less fertile ground for Republican causes due to the intra-party opposition to the selection of Curley as its nominee. On Wednesday of this week Saltonstall addressed several large groups in Boston homes which were attended by many Democrats, one of his visits being to the home of Mrs. Joseph McGrath, chairman of the Democratic State committee. If that isn't carrying the battle right into the enemy camp we do not know what is!

During the past ten days the major issues of the campaign have been more definitely established. Old-age assistance is, without much doubt, the primary question. The G. O. P. has promised payments as liberal as governmental resources will allow, while Mr. Curley has announced his intention to seek an increase from $30 to $40 per month and a lowering of the eligibility age from 65 to 60. The Republican party has also promised the Townsends that every effort will be made to assure a full congressional hearing on that plan. This party plank has caused some to dubiously shake their heads while it has caused Curley to proclaim that the opposing faction is insincere in its pledge as the pledge amounts to practically nothing. In this connection the name of William H. McMaisters, self-designated Townsend candidate who announced his support of the Republican ticket after the primaries, will appear as an independent candidate on the ballot in November. McMaisters stated that he would seek to have his name dropped from the ballot if the Supreme Court ruled in favor of Charles L. Manser, another candidate to file independent papers, in his belated effort to withdraw. On Tuesday the court ruled that the withdrawal plea came too late and that Manser's name would remain in the alphabetical list of candidates for Governor. Secretary of State Frederick W. Cook immediately ordered the reprinting of 2,250,000 ballots which had been held up pending the decision.

Another major issue which concerns both camps is that of flood control. Both parties are accusing each other for the lack of flood control construction. It will be remembered that the insistence of Governor Hurley and other New England governors that states rights should not be violated and that the states should retain rights of power development was the subject of considerable controversy with Washington following the 1936 floods with the result that Federal plans for flood control work were held up. The September flood again emphasized the need of some relief from this hazard and has brought the issue to the forefront of the campaign.

The Republican party is making a determined effort to attract labor votes. While it is generally conceded that labor has not elected a candidate to office it has frequently defeated the hopes of many aspirants for public positions and the so-called labor vote is an important factor in many Massachusetts cities and towns. The former Governor always has been given the endorsement of organized labor and in the present campaign he is criticizing Saltonstall's attitude toward labor, particularly prior to 1929. He also is emphasizing the labor legislation enacted during his term as Governor in 1935 and 1936.

This legislation, however, is also receiving the attention of the Republican candidates. When Mr. Curley was the Chief Executive of the state Saltonstall was Speaker of the House of Representatives. The latter appointed Henry Cabot Lodge as chairman of the important committee on Labor and Industries out of which committee came the legislation which was finally enacted into law. Those who are familiar with legislative procedure know full well that this legislation could readily have been blocked had Saltonstall or Lodge chosen to take a stand against it. Lodge subsequently used the labor friendship he had gained to good advantage in his campaign against Curley for the United States Senate. Perhaps history may repeat itself in the present instance.

Although frequently lost sight of in many campaigns the issue of governmental economy looms as one of the chief points of discussion. The Republicans are proclaiming previous economy records and comparing them with state expenditures of the past eight years. Mr. Curley, striving to counteract the record of increased expenditures under his and Gov. Hurley's administration is pointing out that while he was at the helm state expenditures were lower and more "work and wages" was provided than in the past two years under Governor Hurley.

New Children's Room at Newton Centre Library

The Newton Free Library opened a new room for boys and girls at the Newton Centre branch library last week. The Newton Centre Library has grown very fast during the past three years and is now the largest branch in the Newton library system. The community room used for various meetings for the past ten years was converted during the summer for its new purpose and it makes an ideal library room. It was, of course, planned for the use of a boys' and girls' room by the architect when needed.

The room formerly used by the children now houses the special high school collection, the reference books, and a few other collections, thus relieving the former adult room which had become greatly overcrowded. Miss Laura E. Smith is the branch librarian in charge and her assistant is Miss Jannette Newhall. Miss Marion Mabel Hinkle, formerly in charge of the children's room at Newton Highlands, is the special librarian in the new boys' and girls' division. The new room is open daily from one to six and also Saturday mornings from ten to twelve.

DARTMOUTH WOMEN'S CLUB

The Dartmouth Women's Club will hold the first meeting of the year on Wednesday, October 19th, at 2 o'clock in the Empire Room at the Hotel Vendome.

Mrs. Rufus K. Noyes, president of the club, will preside. Mrs. Daisy B. Tanner will entertain the club with a talk on "A Trip Through the Art Museum."

Tea will be served with Mrs. Frank Ford Hill and Mrs. Walter Hammett, past presidents of the club, as hostesses.

NOVIKOFF BALLET SCHOOL OPENS SEASON

A record enrollment of children and adults marked the opening of the 1938 season of the Novikoff Russian Ballet School at 12 Huntington ave., Boston. The school is under the direction of Boris Novikoff, a graduate of the Russian Imperial Ballet School. He has danced before Russian and European royal families, has been director of the Russian Ballet since 1911, and has taken leading parts in ballet and grand opera in Russian and European theatres. He is the director of a ballet school in the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. In Boston he conducts classes for children and adults, both beginners and advanced students, teaching classical ballet, toe character, Spanish, Oriental, Plastic and Rhythmic dancing.

Wd. 1 Improvement Asso. New Officers

The Ward 1 Improvement Association held a meeting at Lincoln School, Newton on last Thursday night and elected officers for the ensuing year. Those chosen were—Edward H. Powers, president; William A. Sprout, vice president; Margaret H. McDonald, secretary; A. Charles Dunne, treasurer.

It was voted to favor the proposal to have sidewalks in the Ward, on streets where there is considerable pedestrian traffic, improved by means of WPA projects. It was also voted to protest against the use of crushed stone for surfacing on gravel sidewalks unless some binder is used with it. This stone is thrown on loose, and instead of improving the sidewalks, makes walking on them so difficult that pedestrians use the street. The association went on record as favoring the continuation of the name "Lincoln" for the new school which will be built to replace the 84 year old Lincoln School and the Elliot School. The members also voted to oppose the change of zone from private residence to business of land on Washington st. owned by the Boston & Albany railroad.

CORRECTION

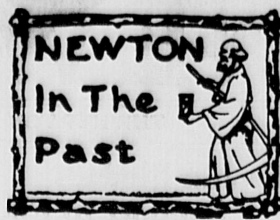

In last week's GRAPHIC was an item which stated that a claim for damage to her property at 337 Waltham st., West Newton had been presented to the city by Mrs. Catherine Miller, and that the damage had been caused by a tree located on the property of Mrs. Ruth Curtis, 329 Waltham st. The tree had been clipped away at the bottom by city employees, marked for removal by the Forestry Department, and fell onto Mrs. Miller's property on the afternoon of September 21.

The tree was not located in Mrs. Curtis' yard, but on the sidewalk between her property and that of Mrs. Miller.

Arthur Hudson has been granted a patent for an antimony furnace.

New floors have been laid this week in the waiting rooms at the depot.

Two cases of books from England have been received at the Public Library and will soon be ready for delivery.

The Newton Bicycle Club will take a moonlight ride Saturday evening through Brookline and Jamaica Plain, starting from Elliot Block at 7:30.

The new standard time which the railroad is going to adopt will be popular with lazy people. They can get up 16 minutes later than they used to and still catch their train for Boston.

The postal clerks on the Boston & Albany railroad sympathize with the movement to get a new name for Newtonville. One of them the other day found a note addressed to New Newton and made the comment—"from any more Newtons good Lord deliver us."

A decided improvement is in progress at the old Woodward estate at the corner of Centre and Church sts. The fence has been removed, the grounds are to be graded to an even slope with the sidewalk and the house will change its garb of white, worn for over 30 years, for fancy colors, which will give the house a modern and pleasing aspect. Many places in this city would be greatly improved if their owners would do likewise. There is little need for fences in a city like Newton, and their absence gives an open, park like appearance to the streets.

Look out for Whitefield the greatest living humorist, the man of 100 faces in "His Old Folks and Comic People" at the next peoples' entertainment on October 22 in Elliot Hall, Newton. He crowded the hall last season and kept the people roaring all the evening.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

"I learn that a boom for a third term has been started for our present Mayor. Is it wise to change the custom which has prevailed since our city was incorporated? Have we not abundant material for excellent Mayors? Shall we not get into a rut and after a while will we not have a government of individuals and not of the people? I for one have very cordially supported Mr. Ellison in the past, but most respectfully submit that it is not wise to boom him for a third term."

SYMPHAX, Ward 2.

Highland ave. has been greatly improved by the placing of a dry well at the corner of Walnut st. The residents are rejoicing that they will not have to wade the pond which usually collects there when wet weather begins.

The peat meadow back of the old cemetery at West Newton has been on fire for the last six weeks and shows no signs of ceasing to burn until winter sets in.

50 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, October 12, 1888

Mary Dugan of Allston jumped off the 6:15 train at Newton on Thursday evening. She injured her right hand and also received a cut over her right eye.

At the Newton Cottage Hospital last week there were 19 cases under treatment. Every bed but the one reserved for fractures was filled. The hospital seems to be a necessity.

Bridget Mullen met with a queer accident on Monday. She is a domestic in the employ of Mrs. Jones on Washington st., Newtonville and while walking about an unfinished attic she slipped off the flooring and fell through the ceiling. The inmates of the room underneath, needless to say, were greatly surprised at the sudden intrusion.

It is suggested that some wealthy Republican might do honor to himself and the cause by contributing funds for the purchase of a new campaign flag: the one hanging at present over Washington st., West Newton, having suffered from the recent severe storms.

The Board of Health last week visited several ponds where ice is to be cut the coming winter, on a tour of inspection. The ponds included Hammond's at Chestnut Hill, Rosemary at Needham, Boyd at Newton, Cooke at Waltham and Cram's Island.

Before a joint meeting of the Board of Aldermen and Common Council on Monday evening a hearing was held on the petition of Chestnut Hill residents for high pressure water service for that district. Hon. Leverett Saltonstall was the first speaker and stated that the petition stated the case so clearly that there was little to be added. George Lee said he had come to Chestnut Hill 33 years ago when it was a barren hillside. He is very fond of Newton, but it is a great annoyance to have such a poor water supply. At his house the water only drips into the kitchen faucet and it takes a man an hour each day to pump it up to a tank to supply the rest of the house.

Powers' Paragraphs

In this week's GRAPHIC is a letter from John W. Paul of Los Angeles, California, in which he pays tribute to the late Albert L. Harwood of Newton Centre, who died on September 30, in his 92nd year, during the latter part of the 19th century. Mr. Harwood was for a considerable period principal of the Mason School at Newton Centre, resigning in 1890 to practice law. He was quite popular with the many boys and girls who studied under him. John W. Paul was one of those boys. He graduated from the Mason School in 1877, sixty-one years ago. And now across the long years and across the continent comes a sincere tribute from a man, himself beyond three score and ten years of age, to his school master who has recently departed from this world. It is one of the pathetic things of life that men who have outlived nearly all of their generation, as did Mr. Harwood, do not receive the appreciation from the existent generation that their accomplishments entitle them to. So the brief tribute from an old Newton Centre boy to an old Newton Centre public school teacher has special significance.

Our attention was called several days ago to the abuse of a privilege which for several years has been used by some physicians in this city—the placing of their signs with a directional arrow above street signs. Although it is strictly illegal for any private sign to be placed above a street sign, or any place else on a public street, except projecting from one's place of business or office, and no city official has the right to grant such a permit, objections have not been raised to this comparatively new practice, because most of the physicians resorting to it reside within a short distance of the signs so placed. But when a sign is placed over a half mile from a physician's office, as is one recently affixed to a street-sign at Newton Corner, the objection raised by a Newton citizen seems to be merited. The privilege is being abused. As a matter of fact (and ethics) there is no more reason why a physician should be allowed to advertise in this manner than a dentist, lawyer or anyone engaged in other professions or business activities.

The action of former Alderman Dennis Cronin in tendering his support to Thomas Elliot of Cambridge who defeated him by a very narrow margin in the recent contest for the Democratic nomination for Congress from this district, shows good sportsmanship on the part of Mr. Cronin and should redound to his advantage in public life in the future. Mr. Elliot, a young man of attractive personality and unusual ability will give Congressman Robert Luce a real contest. To his credit, he did not during the campaign attempt to capitalize on his distinguished ancestry, but depended on his own accomplishments. He possesses the vigor of youth, sincerity and a zeal to serve his fellowmen in the critical times which have faced this country in recent years, and which will continue to face it in coming years. Even though many persons may differ with Mr. Elliot in his political views, it must be acknowledged that young men of his type are greatly needed in public life.

It is obvious that determined efforts are being made by a large percentage of department stores in Boston to nullify Columbus Day as a generally observed holiday. The owners and management of these stores profited by the fact that the majority of working people had October 12th as a holiday in recent years and want to capitalize therefrom. They are not displaying enough brains to realize that if Columbus Day ceases to be a generally observed holiday in Massachusetts and the vicinity of Boston, the women and men they get in large part as customers on that day, would have to be at work, and thus could not go shopping in Boston. A couple of years ago, the Massachusetts Legislature by an overwhelming majority, and in the face of the opposition of certain Boston retail stores that put profits ahead of sentiment, voted to prohibit the opening of retail stores before 1 p. m. on October 12. James M. Curley, then Governor, surprisingly vetoed the bill, and to the credit of the Legislature, including nearly every Republican member, Curley's veto was overridden by a tremendous majority. Members of the fraternal organization and the Italian race, whom Mr. Curley slighted by his veto of that bill, should not forget his action in this matter. And they should show their appreciation of such stores as the R. H. Stearns Company and Raymond's which kept closed all day on October 12.

Undoubtedly efforts will be made in the next few years to replace most of the thousands of shade trees which were located along Newton's streets, and were destroyed by the hurricane of September 21. As George Rogers, superintendent of the Forestry Division of Newton, said—it will be a difficult matter to replace many of these trees. Modern highways with their impervious surfaces of cement or bituminous concrete, keep water from penetrating into the ground near trees located along streets, and thus deprive young trees of the moisture necessary for their growth. There is another reason why hundreds of young trees planted along Newton streets in recent years have died. This is—that they were destroyed by children, mostly boys, and many of these boys old enough to know better. To protect young trees which will be planted in the future along our streets, it would be a good idea for school teachers, Boy Scout and Girl Scout officers, the Forestry and Police Departments of the city, and parents, to organize in every neighborhood a group of boys who will have the duty of protecting young trees against damage by youthful vandals. We believe that some of the best juvenile tree guardians could be recruited among boys whose misdirected energy might be used in damaging young trees, but proper guidance and suggestion, could be converted into zealous protectors of

Arithmomania

A compelling desire to count objects such as the number of passing autos, windows in a large building, pickets in a long fence, etc., is possessed by many and the propensity is not confined to young, old or middle-aged. I know a man who can tell precisely how many steps he takes in walking from the train to his office, a woman who keeps an accurate record of the times she is called to the telephone, and several others who give intense thought to compiling more or less valuable statistics. As I have no yearning in that direction, I wonder if the fault is entirely mine. Should I reproach myself for having failed to contract arithmomania, which is said to be one of those self-inflicted maladies. Probably one needs to have much vitality and I cannot boast that mine is any too high. If there is anything in the theory that an arithmomanic is superhuman mentally, that, of course, let's me out and I need offer no excuse.

"Getting along" in School

There is among Americans a custom, or maybe an obsession, that causes parents about this time of year to inquire how their children are "getting along" in school. For some reason they are suddenly impressed with the importance of knowing what studies sons and daughters are endeavoring to master without too great a strain on their energy or social calendar. The intricacies of modern pedagogy are not easy to grasp, especially for those of us whose recollection of school experience deals largely with our individual struggles. If the school authorities are satisfied—and if they were not they'd say so—and the children do no more than the normal amount of grumbling, why not let it go at that. Suppose one should drop around and find the teacher in a critical mood. Wouldn't it be embarrassing to hear, "Your son is not up on his home work; something will have to be done. I'm glad you called." It would have been wiser to remain at home and let cooperation be silent and distant. Children have a way of taking the hurdles on their own.

Some Do Those Things

Having discovered on my desk a library book that was more than a week overdue, I naturally had haste to return it. That is, I immediately prom-

Searching Sympathy

I think it was most commendable, and proof that we are not as selfish as we might be, the way people tried to do things for each other when the recent destructive wind raised havoc on our living methods and wrecked trees, gardens and roofs. It made a number of people—and I speak in the hundreds of thousands—better acquainted with each other. The eagerness with which some folks inquired for the safety of their neighbors, although not intimate enough to have previously visited at their homes, was inspiring. One case came to my attention and revealed the operation of a photographic mind. The heroine—ever alert to the goings-on about her—dashed from house to house to learn the extent of damage, sympathize over the loss of trees and ask questions as to the degree of fright experienced. Moreover, she achieved an ambition and was not ashamed to admit it. Said she, "I got into a number of houses I'd never expected to see the inside of and took a good look at their furniture."

Fair Warning

If any of my friends or acquaintances come to me when it's too late to do anything about it and tell me their names are not on the voting lists, they shall be told that which is represented by dashes in newspapers and entirely barred from the radio.

...INTO THE 20th Century Again!

A CASUAL flick of a switch and once more that warm familiar glow greets your family on an autumn night. Out of the half-light of ages past, into the comforts of our own 20th century!

The fateful day of September 21, 1938 left havoc and darkness behind. But the tireless efforts of fifteen hundred men and women, racing against time, brought back electrical service to the Boston Edison community. To the satisfaction of completing a difficult job is added the pleasure of reading the hundreds of letters written to us by our customers. They speak of the joy of a house rejuvenated by electricity... of a contentment born of a return to normal living. For these kind expressions we are grateful.

We take this opportunity to re-dedicate to the four hundred and twenty thousand customers on our system the full resources of our service. Awake to present needs, anticipating the future, our organization is of one mind: to keep the friendly glow forever burning.

OPENS SATURDAY MORNING

Musical selections by Miss Mary Murtagh, concert pianist, will be another pleasing feature of the program. The incoming president, Mrs. Leslie Pratt Phinney, will preside.

The Community Service Glee Club held the first meeting of this season on Thursday morning, October 6, at the home of the musical director, Mrs. Marion Kingsbury. While plans were being formulated for the work of the coming year, enthusiasm was expressed by many over the fact that the National Federation of Music Clubs, with the ambition to have more music in America, had just launched a campaign to promote group singing in communities everywhere. Such a plan is so decidedly worthwhile that it should meet with the approval and support of all music-minded people in Newton. It is hoped that everyone who loves to sing will join some choral group whenever possible and have the real pleasure that comes from community music-making. A cordial invitation is extended to all Newton women who are not at present enjoying this opportunity, to meet with the group in West Newton. Rehearsals will be held during October at the home of Mrs. Clifford M. Brewer, 155 Valentine st., West Newton, on Thursday mornings promptly at 10 o'clock, October 20 and October 27.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

EVERETT POWER TOPS NEWTON IN 25-0 GAME

Newton high drew another blank, its third straight of the 1938 season, last Saturday at Everett with the Gildea coached outfit piling up four touchdowns to win 25-0. Despite the one-sidedness of the score the game was a closely fought battle until well along in the final period. Everett gained a 6-0 lead in the first period but was then held in check until the orange and black defense, worn and tired out by a more powerful Everett eleven, bogged down to permit two other scores. The third tally came when a Newton pass bounced out of Art Hughes' arms to land in the arms of Amoroso who raced 63 yards for the goal.

Everett kicked off to Newton and after unsuccessful attempts to gain Hughes kicked to the Everett 40. Advancing to the Newton 12 the Everett charge was repulsed and Newton took the ball on downs. Hughes kicked out of danger as he did on several other occasions later in the game. Everett marched from near midfield to the Newton 4-yard mark and then DeRosa scored. Newton kicked off and a few plays later the period ended with Everett having advanced to the Newton 30. Here Newton held when play was resumed and took the ball on downs. Following a clipping penalty against Everett which gave Coach Sanborn's team their solitary first down of the game Newton kicked with Everett taking the ball on their 20. Most of the play for the rest of the second period was a punting duel with Paglia blocking an Everett kick to give Newton the ball on the Everett 30. Two short passes ended the first half.

The third period saw Newton repulse three Everett advances between the Newton 20 and 30 yard stripes. In the final period Everett reached the Newton 14 yard line and after an offside penalty tossed a scoring pass from Burnham to Brickley in the end zone. Gianelli dropkicked the point. Newton retaliated with an air attack, after the ensuing kickoff, to no avail. An exchange of kicks gave Newton the ball again and another pass saw Everett's Amoroso converting the toss to Hughes into an Everett score. With many Newton first string players out of the game in the closing minutes of the final period the Everett second stringers marched to the Newton 5 yard line. Here Coach Gildea sent his first team on the field again to grind out the final tally.

Tomorrow afternoon Newton returns to action on its home field at Dickinson Stadium, Newtonville, meeting a strong Brockton high outfit which lost its first game of the season to Worcester Trade but has since returned to the victory path.

We Invite You to

"PONDBROOK"

A TWO-ACRE ESTATE

Woman-Designed---Brodrick Built

WHITE OAK ROAD at CLIFF ROAD

Cliff Estates, Wellesley Hills

A "bit of old England" high in the Wellesley Hills, best describes "Pondbrook," a truly fine home, dignified and spacious without being pretentious, and with the air of a medieval manor surrounded by ancestral acres.

Living in such a home would be a source of unending joy, whether the simple life of a country squire or entertaining extensively is the aim of its ultimate owner.

A replica of a baronial castle in Surrey, England, the house of mellow brick with heavy timbering and weathered shutters has its beauty mirrored in the pond below the terrace. A pause on the bridge which spans the brook reveals a waterfall spilling over a dam into the pond below. Skirting the pond and climbing the slopes, a pathway has been smoothed to make a ramble over the estate a pleasure, and to blaze a trail to the barbecue "snack-shack" for a weenie roast, or charcoal-broiled steaks, when the crowd drops in on the cook's day out.

In fact, there are infinite opportunities here for dispensing gracious hospitality... tea on the terrace; a cozy tete-a-tete with a friend or with books in the secluded library while the ladies enjoy the delightful formality of the Tudor drawing room with the glow from the firelight picking out the highlights and caressing the fine patina of the hand-carved oak which panels the living room to the ceiling.

The morning room would tempt the breakfast-in-bed person to make an early morning appearance; while dining "en famille" or with guests would be a pleasure in the spacious dining room.

The kitchen? A woman's Paradise... whether mistress or maid... for besides cupboards galore for utilities, there are numerous glass-enclosed cabinets for fine Wedgwood and Spode and crystal.

Upstairs there is a master suite, with dressing room and private bath and four other family bedrooms (every one of twin bed size) and with adjoining or connecting glass-paned baths, besides the maid's suite with bath.

"The Wheat Sheaf Inn" with thatched roof makes a novel recreation room in the basement. This entire home shows more eloquently than words can describe, the careful, thoughtful planning of a woman with original ideas and good taste... one who knows the needs of the efficient, modern homemaker.

Monel metal in the kitchen; a General Electric Oil Furnace with an estimated heating cost of $253 a year (which includes domestic hot water); rock wool insulation, a garage for 3 cars, electric fixtures by Chase Brass and Lightolier and an incinerator, add the ultimate touch to this fine home.

May we welcome you to "Pondbrook"... TODAY?

1939 Model Prices Reduced by Buick

Substantial price reductions on Buick cars for 1939, ranging from $51 to $102 on the standard sedan and coupe models, were announced today by Harlow H. Curtice, president of this division of General Motors. As a result, the Buick price structure for next year has been brought to approximately the 1938 levels.

The reductions have been made on all of the fast moving and most popular models. Mr. Curtice said, namely, the Buick Series 40 Special five passenger two and four door sedans and coupes, the Series 60 Century five passenger two and four door sedans and coupes, the Series 80 Roadmaster six passenger four door sedans and the Series 90 Limited six passenger four door sedan.

In the lower price range Series 40 and Series 60 cars the reductions are $51 on standard sedans and coupe models and in the higher range Series 80 and 90 cars the reductions are $102 on the six passenger standard sedans.

"Buick's very satisfactory volume with the expected increase in output during 1939 enables us to pass on the benefits of manufacturing economies to the public in the price of the new cars," the executive said. "The price reductions not only represent a substantial savings to the 1939 car buyer, but the cars themselves represent a decided step-up in value."

The executive pointed out that the new low prices include such accessories as safety direction signal, extra front center bumper guard, extra electrical equipment, such as lights in all trunk compartments, automatic cigar lighter, and other accessories which either were not on the cars last year or were optional at added cost. In addition, he said, very substantial reductions have been made in major accessories including the new Buick Sonomatic Radio, car heaters, and defrosters. The new prices include standard accessories and Federal tax. The prices range from $894 f.o.b. for the Model 45 business coupe, $955 for the Model 48 two door sedan, and $996 for the Model 41 four door sedan up to $2453 for the Model 90L Limousine. The 1939 models may be seen at the Newton Buick Company, corner of Washington and Thornton sts., Newton.

Promoted Lottery, Fined $50

Fred Wallace, 27, of 40 Broadway, Boston was fined $50 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court last Saturday for promoting a lottery. He was then taken into custody by the Boston police on a similar charge. Wallace was arrested for being drunk in the early hours of last Friday morning at Newton Corner by Patrolman Walker after he had created a disturbance in a lunchroom there. In Wallace's possession were found several hundred lottery tickets labelled "Lucky Day Beano." Boston police found more of the tickets in Wallace's room in Boston. Wallace's attorney argued in court that his client has been persuaded by racketeers to take the lottery tickets, but had sold none of them.

NEW CAMERA SHOP IN NEWTONVILLE

The Atwood Camera Shop opened for business last Saturday at 279 Walnut st., Newtonville. The shop is operated by Irving M. Atwood who also conducts the Atwood Camera Shop at Newton Centre.

The Newton Centre Store was originally opened last spring as Newton Camera Shop and because of the enthusiasm with which the shop was received and the tremendous success it has had, Mr. Atwood felt there was a need for a similar store in Newtonville. The store carries a complete line of cameras, movie cameras, papers, chemicals and photo supplies and accessories of all kinds. Developing and printing is also done. Since the windstorm hundreds of films have been developed because of the activity of local amateur photographers.

Hood Cites Newton Man For Heroism

Several outstanding acts of heroism by route salesmen connected with H. P. Hood & Sons have been forwarded by the Hood Company to the Milk Industry Foundation, New York, for consideration as worthy of the Annual Milk Medal, awarded each year by the Milk Industry Foundation. Announcement of the awards is to be made this year at the Convention of the International Association of Milk Dealers being held at Cleveland, Oct. 17th, 18th and 19th.

Several people owe their lives to Francis Charleton, a Hood Route Salesman of 101 Adams st., Newton, who discovered a fire in a house at 56-66 West Street in Newton, at 4:30 on the morning of May 28, 1938, while delivering milk.

Charleton saw the flames from the seat of his wagon. He jumped off and ran to the house, shouting to a man down the street to pull the alarm. No one answered his pounding on the front door so he hurled himself against it until it was battered down.

Finally gaining entrance he shouted until he had aroused the occupants of the front of the house. He then ran to the back door which he also had to batter down, and awakened the families living in the rear. By this time the fire apparatus had arrived.

The fire started in the cellar and swept through the partitions to the second floor and the attic with great rapidity as the house was an antiquated frame building. Although many of the residents were overcome by smoke, no lives were lost; the prompt action of Charleton in calling the fire department and arousing the occupants undoubtedly saved the lives of many of the forty occupants.

Sea Scouts

J. Clifton Whitney, retired Water Commissioner, and "Billy" Hannon, retired Water Department employee, have supplied additional history of the old Fire Engine House now used by the Sea Scouts as Headquarters.

The building was dedicated Oct. 26, 1871, at its original site, on Austin st., Newtonville. When the present West Newton Fire Station was built on Washington st. the fire fighting apparatus was moved to that building. The Water Department then took possession of the old building and used it as the office of Horatio Nelson Hyre, Superintendent of the Department, and as a supply house.

Louis Visco, a former member of Ship 13, and now a member of the U. S. Coast Guard, has for some time been stationed at the Air Base in Santa Barbara, Calif. Word has been received of his transfer to the Radio School at New London, Conn. He is training to be a flight operator for seaplanes.

Young Men's Republican Club of Newton Will Hold Open Meeting

Last summer newspaper headlines featured the name of Leland Bickford who rose to prominence because he dared to say that the votes of most Massachusetts state senators and representatives in the General Assembly were bought from a pound of tea to a hundred dollars. He stated that he did not include them in his accusations and he did not believe that they could be "bought."

A "Get-Together Party" of the Auburndale Woman's Club Business and Professional Group was held last Tuesday evening, October 4, at the home of one of their two directors, Mrs. Ernest P. Drew, of Central st. As their chairman, Mrs. Evelyn Keyes Burke, has moved to Atlantic since her recent marriage, Miss Susan Philbrook was chosen to fill her position. After the business hour, Miss Philbrook had planned several "brain teasers" for entertainment and met- riment, and these, added to the ex- change of vacation experiences, made the opening meeting a very informal one. Refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the program.

The president of the Auburndale Woman's Club, Mrs. James Dunlop, and a former director of the Group, Miss Anne E. Bunker, were guests of the members.

to be voted upon. There are three kinds of voters in Newton, he declared, those who will vote for liquor, those who will vote against it, and those who are "on the fence." The W. C. T. U. members must work hard to influence the last group to vote No, he said. The survey of the different sections of the Newtons shows the foreign sections are wet, while, in large part, the residential sections are dry.

Mention was made of a centennial celebration for Frances Willard, held in September at Northwestern University where she was Dean of Women. A $600,000 dormitory named Willard Hall was dedicated and opened for the freshmen. A portrait of Miss Willard was presented to the Hall, which was painted by a Chicago artist. A pageant also was given entitled "A Century of Women's Achievements," which showed the progress of women since Frances Willard's birth.

Notice was made also of the coming State Convention of the W. C. T. U. at the Baptist Church, Central Square, Cambridge, October 18 to 20. The public is cordially invited.

Tina was served, with Mrs. Alice Simonian acting as hostess and Mrs. William F. Ferrin pouring.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

The directors of the Newton Hospital Aid Association held their October Board Meeting on Tuesday morning, October 11, at the home of Mrs. Quincy Wales of Sylvan ave., West Newton, with about thirty-five present.

The president, Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, announced the appointment of Mrs. D. Morley Lodge as vice-president, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Raymond Hunting. Miss Maida Flanders will be in charge of such activities as may be planned for the coming season, and Mrs. Ernest F. Drew and Mrs. Charles Floyd will cover the publicity for the Association.

The business manager of the Hospital Aid Benefit Shop, located at 855 Washington st., Newtonville, reported a call for fireplace goods, cribs, baby carriages, and books, particularly recent fiction. These and any other contributions will be called for by telephoning Mrs. Raymond Perkins, W. N. 1774-J.

This Board is very much interested in the new home for the Nurses to which they have pledged five thousand dollars, and were glad to hear from Miss Bertha Allen, the Superintendent of the Hospital, that the work was progressing very favorably, and they hope to occupy their new quarters by April. Besides the large gifts in money which the Association makes to the Hospital, Miss Allen said that about fifty Prayer Books were needed for the nurses' use, about four dozen folding chairs, and several tall footstools. It is hoped that some organization may wish to contribute one or all of these needs.

Morning coffee was served by the hostess, Mrs. Edwin Pride assisting at the coffee table.

Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club

The Newton Upper Falls Woman's Club held its first meeting of the fall season on October 3 in the Club Rooms in the R. W. Emerson School, with the president, Miss Nellie M. Osborne, presiding. An interesting report of the State Federation Annual Meeting was given by Mrs. Harold T. Sprague in the form of an interesting letter to the Club members. It proved a novel and delightfully interesting method of expressing a delegate's first impression of a three days' experience as one of a group of hundreds of delegates to this convention.

The speaker of the evening was Judge Emma Fall Schofield, who gave an inspiring talk upon "Taking Time to Live." An outstanding thought left by Judge Schofield with her audience was that "Life is much what we make it. If we have a goal to reach, strive for that goal, even though it may not be attained until late in life."

Following the talk, dainty refreshments were served by the Entertainment committee, with Mrs. Donald F. Flinchbaugh as chairman. Mrs. Thomas L. Aiken and Mrs. Walter J. Billings assisted as pourers at the attractively-arranged table. Decorations of fall flowers were used throughout the Club Rooms, making a colorful background.

The Club is to feature Gentlemen's Night for its next meeting, Monday evening, October 17, in the Club Rooms of Emerson School, at 7:30 o'clock. For the entertainment of their guests, Mrs. Donald Flinchbaugh, chairman, will present Mrs. Helena Cook Beale, reader, who will give dramatic scenes with background in Havana, Cuba, in a presentation of "The Will of Peter."

Refreshments will be served following the program.

The regular meeting of the Rotary club was held on Monday at the Brae Burn Country Club with President Paul E. Elicker in charge. The guest speaker was Howard C. Davis, president of the Old Harbor Kennel Club, who spoke on greyhound racing. He told of the greyhounds and how much they were thought of in the time of the building of the pyramids. He said that many people did not realize that they are an excellent pet for children. Moving pictures were shown depicting the care taken of them, even to the brushing of their teeth. Many of the dogs are valued from $15,000 to $25,000.

Dr. Cecil Clark spoke of the preparations for the forming of a new club in Brookline which the Newton Rotary Club will serve as sponsor.

are everywhere!

Everybody pays taxes—although most of them are concealed in the retail price of every article you purchase. Even a football has 103 hidden taxes added to its original cost. This long list of taxes is paid by the pigskin, bladder, lining, valve and football manufacturers.

Nothing is exempt from the heavy toll of taxes, direct and indirect. This is true of all necessities such as food, clothing and rent payments, of cosmetics, sporting equipment, automobiles and accessories, and so on down the line.

Taxpayers have been "Booted" around long enough.

A&P's price policy sure way to lower living costs!

Hundreds of families that used to shop all over town looking for low prices, now buy all their needs at the big, modern A&P Markets. They've found that A&P's price policy—"real low prices every day of the week"—is the sure way to sharply reduce their living costs. We know many families who are actually saving $2.00 and more per week on their food bills by shopping at A&P Markets.

They serve themselves—go through the market picking out the big bargains—the famous nationally advertised brands, other famous quality foods, ground tasting meats, fresh from-the-farm vegetables and fruits, and when they are through shopping they have cash left in their pockets, "because A&P's prices are so low." Come!

The regular monthly meeting of the Board of Directors of the Newton District Nursing Association was held Oct. 10, with the president, Mrs. Louis Arnold in the chair.

A new set of by laws was considered in detail and voted.

Miss Nelson's report on the activities of the nurses during the four summer months showed the total number of patients cared for was 1709, they received 7481 visits.

Mothers' classes have had 40 in attendance.

146 new babies have enrolled in the baby conferences and 150 children completed immunization against diphtheria, whooping cough or small-pox.

Urge Modern Radio For Newton Police

obtain much of the radio equipment from the Westinghouse Company, and it would be of the type using master oscillator control. The bid submitted by the General Electric Company and the R. C. A. were for equipment with crystal control.

Alderman Clarence Colby of Ward 7, who took the lead last year in advocating the installation of two-way radio at police headquarters and in police department automobiles wrote the following letter to Mayor Childs on October 6:

Hon. Edwin O. Childs
Mayor of Newton
City Hall
West Newton, Mass.

My dear Mayor:

As one who understands something of the requirements of radio installations from 15 years experience in the industry, as one whose efforts were applied before the Finance Committee of the Board of Aldermen and the Board itself to secure the allowance of the money requested to install a two-way police radio system at this time and upon whose representations I believe the Committee and the Board acted, and as one whose sole motive is to secure the best system for the city that can be obtained for the money appropriated, I feel obligated to comment for your benefit on certain pertinent facts with relation to the present quotations before you.

The specifications upon which you have just received quotations permitted quotations upon transmitters with either master oscillator or crystal control.

The quotations on the master oscillator transmitters are but $305 less than the low quotation upon crystal controlled transmitters.

The low bidders on crystal controlled type of transmitters could have reduced its quotation by at least $1000 on the master oscillator type of equipment but feeling that it could not continue to meet the Federal Communications Commission frequency stability standards could not in honesty quote upon this apparatus.

In this connection master oscillator receivers installed several years ago in the City of Boston will have to be replaced with crystal controlled receivers to meet the October 1, 1938 frequency stability requirements of the Federal Communications Commission. This fact is confirmed by Lieutenant Vickersen the Chief Radio Operator of the Boston Police Department.

The average master oscillator type of transmitter has a frequency stability of approximately 5% of the allotted frequency. Crystal stability of approximately 1% of the allotted frequency.

The October 1, 1938, standards of the Federal Communications Commission require a frequency stability of 2 1/2% of the allotted frequency. I believe a more stringent requirement may be made by the Federal Communications Commission within a year, when they get the Police Radios of the country assigned to definite frequencies on this band, which work they are just beginning.

Under these circumstances I feel that the installation of a master oscillator type of receiver in Newton at this time may mean the entire replacement of the equipment within a comparatively brief period and is not in the interest of the city.

The amount appropriated, $11,000, is ample to secure a crystal controlled system with a substantial overappropriation and an expenditure of some $300 is a very small factor in obtaining an up-to-date system which will pass all frequency stability requirements during the life of the equipment.

In line with my conversation with you several months ago on this subject and the discussion above, I urge you to purchase equipment having crystal controlled transmitters.

Very truly yours,

one of Newton's greatest assets—our trees.

The diversion of WPA workers in Newton from planned projects to work in rehabilitation as a result of the hurricane, will have a tendency to sidetrack an improvement we have been advocating for some time, and which was receiving serious attention from city officials just prior to the devastating storm of September 21. We refer to the proposed WPA project which would have improved sidewalks on a number of streets in the city largely used by pedestrians. To prevent this much needed improvement from being sidetracked, we shall continue to refer to it.

In last week's Graphic was an item which stated that the Newton Board of Health had made a request that consideration be given to the construction of a building to house the various activities of the Health Department. In talking on this proposed project with Dr. Harold Chope, Health Officer of Newton, he commented that it should not be construed that the Health Department aims to progress too rapidly, or that the Board of Health believes that such a building should be erected in the immediate future. But, with the growth of the city, and the additional functions which economic and social conditions have made incumbent on the Newton Health Department in recent years, in common with Health Departments of all cities, it would greatly enhance the work of this department to have such a building, whenever in the future it will be expedient for the city to provide one.

Incidentally, it would not be a bad idea to use the old Eliot School building for community purposes, including a health centre for Nonantum, when the new school building at Pearl and Garner sts. will have been completed.

New Royal Typewriter Has Many New Improvements

The Royal Typewriter Company has introduced a sensational new typewriter, incorporating revolutionary improvements in typewriter design and construction.

The New Number One, as the new model is called, is now on display at L. Frank Perkins, Inc., direct representatives of the Royal Typewriter Co., 74 Needham st., Newton Highlands.

On the new typewriter, the operator does not have to set margin stops by hand. Magic Margin, a radical new feature developed by Royal that makes its initial bow to the typewriter field on this machine, sets the margin stops automatically at any desired position by pressing a small lever at the end of the carriage.

The new Royal is extremely modern in design with an overall black non-glare finish.

There is a tabulator clear key on the front of the typewriter which, in conjunction with the keyset tabulator, permits the stops to be set, used and cleared, all from the keyboard.

The new typewriter features an improved form of Touch Control, allowing the operator to instantly adapt the tension of the keys to her own finger pressure by turning a small dial that is accessibly positioned upon the right hand side of the machine.

Shift Freedom, eliminating the up and down movement of the carriage as the operator shifts for capital letters, is built into the new typewriter.

Many other time and effort saving improvements are embodied in the machine, including true-vision synchronized scales, an advanced form of fractional spacing control, finger comfort keys, automatic paper lock, and numerous others.

Woman Fined $20 For Bad Driving

Mrs. Bernice Achorn of 133 Fuller st., West Newton, was fined $20 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Monday for driving a car so as to endanger the safety of the public. On October 1 a car driven by Mrs. Achorn collided on Commonwealth ave. with a car driven by Claude McKee of Dorchester, an Edison employee. McKee's car was following an Edison truck engaged in repairing wires after the hurricane. According to testimony presented by Inspector Hammell, the defendant drove her car to the left of the centre of the street, causing the collision.

Fined for Driving By Red Lights

In the Newton court last Friday Walter Harts, Jr., of 155 Lowell rd., Brookline and Benjamin Simeone of Medford were each fined $5 for driving by traffic signals with the red light against them. Susan Monroe of 74 Elliot ave., West Newton and Margaret Mergandahl of 75 Lowell ave., Newtonville each was fined $3 for not stopping before driving a car onto a through street.

"Pondbrook" Newest Brodick Home In Cliff Estates

The whole towns talking and the "cliff dwellers" already homeowners in the fashionable Cliff Estates, Wellesley Hills, are exclaiming over the beauty of the newest home designed by Maud H. Brodick and set far back among the trees where White Oak and Cliff rds. meet.

This English manor duplicates in detail a fine baronial estate in Surrey, England. The brook in the foreground gives the impression of an ancient moat, and the bridge which spans it suggests the drawbridge of a medieval castle.

Although opened to the public only last week, the flagstone walk approaching the house has already echoed to the step of hundreds of persons anxious to see this newest architectural achievement of Brodick Bros., which is the ultimate in home construction.

The two acres of woodland which surround the house slope from the road with a saucer-like sweep towards the pond which mirrors the beauty surrounding it. In the Spring it will reflect the glory and color of the rhododendron, azalea and mountain laurel which will stud the slopes. A terrace on three levels drops slowly to the grassy sward which accents the irregular curve of the pond.

Newton Built Homes For 1208 in 1937

Newton built new homes for 1208 people in 1937, C. J. Ryan, vice-president in charge of the mortgage loan division of Investors Syndicate, of Minneapolis, reported here today. Homes erected from 1931 to 1937, inclusive, were sufficient to house 6924 people.

"In number of persons provided with new housing last year, as well as in value of home construction and per person cost, Newton ranked second in the state of Massachusetts," Mr. Ryan explained.

These figures are based on a housing survey of 310 cities situated in forty-one states and the District of Columbia, containing more than a third of the nation's population.

The Investors Syndicate survey shows that residential building in Newton during 1937 furnished shelter for seventeen per cent of the persons newly-housed in the seven-year period. Last year's home construction provided housing for 416 less people than in 1936 and for 176 less than in 1930, which home builders throughout the nation class as a "normal" building year.

"Value of residential building in Newton in 1937, according to permits filed, aggregated $2,430,650, or 16.28 per cent of the total of $14,922,150 expended for new homes from 1931 to 1937, inclusive. The 1937 valuation showed decreases of $1,090,750, or thirty-one per cent, from the $3,521,400 total in 1936, and $1,235,750, or 33.7 per cent, from the 1930 total."

New Industry for West Newton

If the Newton Board of Aldermen act favorably on a petition now before them, it is probable that the long-idle plant of the former Martin Manufacturing Company at West Newton will soon be occupied by the National Dairies Products Company of Ohio for the manufacture of rayon yarn from casein, a milk product. Mr. Martin has applied for a permit to store 20,000 gallons of acetone and 300 gallons of gasoline in underground tanks at the property. The acetone is used in the manufacture of the yarn. A hearing on the petition will be held on November 14.

To Stop Sidewalk Bicycle Riding

An illegal practice which has been permitted in Newton for some years past will be stopped in the future. For many years a State law has forbidden the riding of bicycles on sidewalks and in the horse and buggy days when most persons walked, this law was enforced in Newton. But, in recent years with most persons in automobiles instead of walking, influence has been brought to bear to have boys and girls permitted to ride bicycles on the sidewalks of this city. In fact, 10 years ago the then Board of Aldermen at the behest of Waban residents passed an ordinance authorizing the riding of bicycles by children on sidewalks in that section. This ordinance did not become effective because Mayor Childs was informed by the City Solicitor that it was not legal. With the great increase in the use of bicycles the past few years by boys and girls, the matter of riding these vehicles on sidewalks has become serious. Several pedestrians have been knocked down and injured by bicycles on sidewalks, and many others have had to jump aside to protect themselves. Many of the boys and girls who use sidewalks to operate bicycles have shown little consideration for pedestrians.

More and more complaints have been received by the police, and as a result Chief of Police Hughes last Saturday issued an order to members of the department to stop the practice of riding bicycles on sidewalks. Perhaps the order will be enforced—and perhaps it will not.

Must Start Work on N'ville Library

In order to receive the PWA grant on the branch library which will be built at Newtonville, work on the structure must be started by November 22. As plans for the building have not been completed, a separate contract will be given for the foundation, and bids for this part of the project will be invited within the next week. It is estimated that the foundation will cost about $5800. The completed library is estimated to cost about $110,000.

Petition Mayor to Appoint McCarthy

Monday morning a petition asking that Acting Street Commissioner Charles J. McCarthy be appointed to that office, was presented to Mayor Childs at City Hall by Sinclair Williams of 237 Park st., Newton. The petition contained over 2000 signatures of Newton citizens. Copies of the petition had been placed on counters at drug stores throughout the city for persons to sign. Mr. Williams told the Mayor that had a drive been made to obtain signatures, many times the number of citizens would have signed, and from statements made by many residents of Newton—"that they would have signed the petition, had they been asked," Mr. Williams' statement does not seem inaccurate.

The petition told of the very efficient work the Street Department did in clearing the streets of fallen trees and limbs following the hurricane, as striking evidence of Mr. McCarthy's ability to head the department. It also emphasized the fact that Mr. McCarthy has been associated with the Street Department for over 40 years, and by experience and faithful service is entitled to promotion. From statements made by many members of the Board of Aldermen, it is probable that McCarthy would be confirmed if the Mayor appoint him as Street Commissioner.

Democratic Rally Next Friday Eve

A rally will be held at the F. A. Day School, Newtonville on Friday night, October 28, at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the Democratic City Committee of Newton. All candidates for State offices, from the Governor down have been asked to attend and are expected to be present. The public is invited.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night Alderman Paul Goddard of Ward 6 tendered his resignation. He was recently elected Representative to the Legislature from the 5th Middlesex District. His term as Alderman would not have expired until December 31, 1939. His successor will be chosen by the Board of Aldermen at its next meeting. Charles Davidson applied for a permit to conduct an automobile repair (Continued on page 12)

Rev. John Sheridan Opposes Proposed Business Zone

At the service in Our Lady's Church last Sunday, Rev. John Sheridan, pastor of the church, and his curates, urged the parishioners to oppose the petition of the Boston & Albany railroad for a change of zone from private residence to business of a strip of land along Washington st. in the vicinity of the church. The land is owned by the railroad and extends from a point about opposite 659 Washington st. easterly for 532 feet to the former Brackett Coal yard now owned by the Metropolitan Coal Company. Father Sheridan said that a city is judged by the appearance of its main streets, and if this land were placed in a business zone the appearance of Washington st. would suffer. The types of business which would locate along this stretch would result in an unattractive development. Father Sheridan spoke of the dangerous traffic hazards which have existed on Washington st. near the church and school, and contended that to create a business district along the proposed area would add to the dangerous conditions. He told his parishioners that petitions are being circulated to be signed by persons who object to the zone change, and he asked the people to sign them.

The land owned by the railroad is quite limited in depth and since Washington st. was widened and the tracks depressed 44 years ago, the land has been vacant. When the city was zoned in 1922 this land was placed in a private residence zone. The opposite side of Washington st. is occupied by residents. Some weeks ago a petition was received from Philip Winkler of Boston asking for a permit to establish a gasoline filling station at the westerly end of the railroad land. The petition to change the zone followed.

City Employees Ask Vacations

Newton City Employees Local, 175, is distributing thousands of circulars asking the voters of Newton to vote "Yes" at the State Election on November 8 on the referendum—"Shall Section 111 of Chapter 41 of the General Laws, providing for vacations for certain municipal employees be accepted?"

The circulars state that the common and skilled laborers, mechanics and craftsmen working for the City of Newton believe they are entitled to a vacation. They are the only employees of the city who do not get a vacation with pay. Of the 39 cities in Massachusetts, 35 now give vacations to these classes of employees, and of 210 towns in this State, 173 have accepted the Act which Newton voters are urged to vote favorably on. All of the cities and towns surrounding Newton grant their laborers vacations.

37,090 Eligible To Vote in Newton

When registration of voters closed at Newton City Hall on Wednesday night 900 persons had registered that day, bringing the total number of registered voters in the city to 37,090. This is within 38 of the record established in 1936. Before the primaries 1326 registered, and since the primaries 3393. The net increase of voters over last year is about 2000 as about 2600 names were dropped from the voting lists this year.

Low Rental Houses Needed in Newton

At a meeting of the Newton Community Council held at City Hall on Tuesday night a paper written by Dr. Harold Chope, health officer of the city, was read by Dr. Edward Mellus. It called attention to the need of houses at low rentals for poor people and persons of limited means in this city. It said: "At the present time it is practically impossible to obtain adequate housing for welfare recipients. Some of the tenements available for this type of citizens are entirely inadequate from the sanitary and health angle. No solution to this problem has been determined, but it is the sincere wish of those interested in the welfare of this community that at the earliest possible date a committee be appointed to study the problem of housing in the city of Newton."

Alderman McKay Explains Financing of Newton To West Newton Men's Club

Chairman of Finance Committee of Aldermen Goes Into Details in Long and Carefully Prepared Address

At a meeting of the West Newton Men's Club held on Thursday evening at the parish house of the First Unitarian Church in West Newton, Donald McKay, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen delivered a lengthy address in which he explained in detail the financial condition of the city of Newton. Part of the address is printed herewith, and the balance will be printed in next week's issue of the GRAPHIC.

A few years ago I purchased from a dealer in old manuscripts this document now framed in double glass which you may wish to examine at the close of the meeting. It is the original tax list "as committed to the constables of Newton for the year 1740." Some of these names are familiar as carried down to present residents—descendants of the early settlers. Others are perpetuated in the names of schools and streets. To cite only a few—Anston, Clark, Fuller, Greenwood, Hyde, Hammond, Jackson, Kenrick, Parker and Ward. And with some pride I mention Lt. Benjamin Dana—an ancestor. I speak of this in my opening for I have no doubt that 198 years ago there was probably a smaller but similar gathering to inquire about the province finances and to protest at the extravagances of a taxlevy of £160—approximately $800. That was thirty-six years before the Declaration of Independence. And the slogan "Taxation without Representation" was soon to be the battlecry.

Today we have taxation with representation—in city, state, and nation—a levy in Newton for 1938 of over $5,000,000, a government debt of over $38 billions and innumerable hidden taxes. I am not suggesting that the Revolution was a mistake—but rather proposing that another war—a bloodless one—be waged against this crushing burden.

Balance sheets and financial statements are confusing to nearly every one. Apparently those of municipalities are doubly so. Recently some of the larger industrial corporations have endeavored to present simplified reports to their stockholders in words of one syllable, and I am going to try to do that tonight for the Corporation of Newton. In your hands have been placed copies of the tax-levy—the mathematical formula which the assessors prepare to determine the amount which you shall pay in 1938 for each $1,000 of real and personal property owned on January 1st last. This amount is legally established about April, and is payable in October, with the privilege of paying half in July. Interest charges are added if unpaid after November 1st.

The law provides that an amount shall be levied which as nearly as can be estimated will pay the running expenses of the city for the calendar year. There are not many items which can be definitely known when the tax rate is set. It is, therefore, obligatory on those responsible for any part of this formula to give minute study to former experiences, possible contingencies, and even improbable emergencies.

The Board of Aldermen has control of but one or two items among the thirty odd tabulated under the headings Warrants, Receipts and Valuations. The items under some control by the Board are sizable—"Appropriations in 1937 after tax-rate"—$223,000—plus; "City Budget and Additions"—$5,300,000—plus. Time will not permit an item-by-item discussion. But at a glance you see a total of over $5,600,000 for which Newton is responsible to the State, County and certain Metropolitan commissions.

Below are some minor adjustments for under-estimates of the previous year. Next year the word minor will hardly be the correct one to use in the case of underestimated state tax. You will note this year it is $193,000 plus. But when finally determined it amounted to $411,000 plus—an increase of $218,000 to go into 1939 taxes. This was an error on the part of the State authorities but explicable by the subsequent acts of the Governor and Legislature.

Partly offsetting this is Newton's allotment of about $120,000 for streets from the State Highway Gasoline tax. If used for maintenance it will help on the 1939 tax rate but if used for new construction it will be reflected in a smaller issuance of street bonds next year.

I shall return to further discussion of the powers of the Board after briefly explaining the income side of the statement. Most of the items are self-explanatory. Possibly the "Estimated receipts—$450,000" needs a word. Included in this are payments of betterment assessments for streets (Continued on page 12)

VACATIONS WITH PAY

Among several questions to be voted upon at the State Election on November 8th is whether or not Newton shall accept the provisions of a state law providing for vacations for certain municipal employees. The municipal employees concerned in this law are skilled laborers, unskilled laborers, mechanics, and craftsmen. Thirty-five cities of the thirty-nine and 173 out of 210 towns in the State of Massachusetts now enjoy the privileges of the act as well as all employees of the Metropolitan District Commission. In Newton these employees are the only group who do not receive this benefit, and there is no reason why there should be this discrimination. Now that another opportunity has been given to the voters of Newton to express themselves on this question, we can see no reason why it should still be denied them.

The laborer's pay, in proportion to the arduous work he performs, is proportionately small. Most of the work is performed out-of-doors and consequently there are days during the year when rain or snow prevent the laborer from working. Usually employed upon an hour basis, and not upon a weekly salary, his pay frequently is hardly enough to provide sustenance for his family. Some years ago we worked for several years under such conditions and we are familiar with the experiences of a laborer. Inasmuch as the law provides that there is a minimum time which these men must work before they are eligible for vacation privileges we believe that the acceptance of the act is a step in the right direction.

THAT CAMBRIDGE SITUATION

The newspapers this week reported the adoption by the Cambridge City Council of a resolution seeking the divorce of Harvard University from the City of Cambridge. Should this come to pass many interesting and involved problems of municipal government would be revealed. There is, however, little prospect that such a proposal would meet with either popular or legislative favor. What is more important is the question of Plan E which underlies the entire situation. Cities in this state now have the opportunity to adopt one of five charters, the fifth and latest being known as Plan E. This plan is the so-called city manager method which has been in vogue in Cincinnati for some years and which has since been finding favor in many localities. The Plan E charter involves proportional representation and other forms of municipal procedure and practices which require detailed study and lengthy discourse to adequately explain. Sometime there is bound to be considerable discussion in Newton over the adoption of Plan E and its merits and demerits will unquestionably be widely presented.

The annual meeting of the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 26th, at 7:30 p. m., at the Brae Burn Country Club, West Newton. There will be a guest speaker from the Red Cross organization, the election of a board of directors, reports, and other necessary business. Following the meeting a meeting of the directors will be held. Mrs. W. W. Weedon, national field representative for this section, will be one of the speakers.

Newton Women Interested In Hearthstone Clubhouses

Mrs. Ernest P. Rallsback of Foster st., Newtonville, has returned from a week spent at Boyd Heathstone in Winter Park, Florida. Mrs. Rallsback is national chairman of Heathstone Fund for the establishment of club houses for Kappa alumnae over the country.

Celebrating Founders' Day on October 13th, members of Kappa Kappa Gamma women's fraternity set a precedent in the college fraternity world by dedicating at Winter Park the first of a series of hearthstone clubhouses to be established from coast to coast.

Newton members of Kappa Kappa Gamma, from chapters all over the country, who were interested in the dedication of this first Heathstone, are Mrs. Addison C. Burnham and Mrs. Howard M. LeSourd who are the Massachusetts chairmen of the Fund; Mrs. Theodore F. Borst; Mrs. Mark A. Lawton; Mrs. Eugen C. Andres Jr.; Mrs. William Z. Ripley; Mrs. Gorman W. Harris; Mrs. Clarence C. Carley Realty Shows "Life's" Homes

Away out in front again is Carley's Realty. Always on the alert for the new and unusual, this time they have secured from Life magazine a set of models of the 8 most talked-about homes which appeared in that publication on September 26th.

The models are made to scale, finished in full colors and include floor plan.

These homes are designed by leading architects for incomes ranging from $2,000 to $10,000. They are well worth seeing, and Carley's invite any one interested to come in and see them.

Politicallight

By THE EDITOR

The state election campaign is rapidly nearing the peak of activity prior to the final drive down the home stretch. Leverett Saltonstall, Republican gubernatorial candidate, was derided to bed by his physician for several days to shake off a heavy cold and was forced to cancel numerous rallies and meetings over the week-end. He returned to the campaign on Wednesday and became the first candidate to use television as a political weapon. The television rally was staged at the Mass. Television Institute on Commonwealth ave. and Mr. Saltonstall was the principal speaker. Wednesday night, although his voice still showed the effects of his cold, he made an earnest and excellent radio address of fifteen minutes. During his lay-off the gubernatorial campaign was effectively carried on by the remainder of the State ticket and also by Rep. Philip G. Bowker of Brookline, one of the foremost of Curley's critics during and since his term as governor nearly four years ago.

Meanwhile Democratic candidate James M. Curley continued to blast the Republican party for its failure to pass legislation of a "helpful character, either to industry or to workers" until he took office as Governor in 1935. Mr. Saltonstall, in his radio address, told of his appointments of chairman of the legislative committee on Labor and Industries and of the legislation enacted as the result of their efforts. He emphasized the fact that this legislation could only be enacted by his active support. Referring to the Curley inference that he was responsible for the 1935 labor legislation, Mr. Saltonstall stated that the chief executive had nothing to do with the change in the law until the new laws reached his desk for signing.

The end of the Graves case gives rise to considerable speculation as to its effect upon the Curley candidacy. It is generally agreed that the case has been of no benefit to Mr. Curley and in all probability that his connection with it has caused a further decline in his political strength.

The pot began to boil this week in the contest for District Attorney of the Northern district between Robert F. Bradford and Joseph V. Carroll. Fuel was added to the fire when present District Attorney Warren L. Bishop wrote a letter to Democratic candidate Carroll endorsing the latter as his (Bishop's) successor. Bishop was defeated for the Republican nomination by Bradford. Bradford, following the announcement of Bishop's support of Carroll, retaliated with a biting denunciation of Bishop. In this statement he stated that prior to the primaries that he would have to meet Bishop not only in the primaries but in the election as well. He further claimed that Bishop was now showing his true colors that he was formerly a Democrat and that although holding office for the past sixteen years, eight as an assistant district attorney and eight as district attorney, as a Republican he was in fact a Democrat. The Bradford campaign, stimulated by Bishop's refusal to support the Republican nominee, may have to function with 100 per cent effectiveness to offset the problematical strength which Bishop can throw to Carroll. The incident has aroused the ire of many Republicans and has heightened the already great interest in this contest.

Another contest in which a defeated contestant has announced his support of a candidate is in the ninth congressional district. Former Alderman Dennis Cronin of Newton, defeated by Thomas Elliot by 106 votes for the Democratic nomination announced his support of Elliot against Republican candidate Robert Luce. Although claiming the support of many Newton Republicans it is doubtful how much strength Mr. Cronin can bring to Mr. Elliot particularly when the Republican campaign assumes greater activity. Doubtless the Republican strategy will be to emphasize Mr. Elliot's previous connections with the New Deal and his personal friendship with President Roosevelt.

Another rift, or perhaps a reopening of previous wounds, was revealed in State Democratic circles this week when State Auditor Buckley, a candidate for re-election, criticized the award of a contract for hurricane damage to a Philadelphia concern by the State Department of Mental Health. Mr. Buckley contended that a local contractor could have done the work for a 10 per cent profit instead of the 20 per cent on a cost plus basis to go to the out-of-state concern. The criticism angered Governor Hurley who charged Mr. Buckley with "sniping" and branded him a "political faker." "For the past two years the State Auditor has been sniping at me and setting himself up as a paragon of public virtue. To those who know him, every public statement brands him as a political faker," said the Governor. This outburst could not help but reopen Democratic primary sores at which Governor Hurley accused Buckley and Lieutenant Governor Kelly of scheming against him. Incidentally Mr. Buckley has always been an ardent supporter of Mr. Curley so that more important may be attached to the incident than might appear on the surface.

Letters To The Editor

AUTO INSURANCE INCREASE?

October 18, 1938.

To the Editor of the Graphic:
A screech of brakes, a crash, a dash to the window, just a glance, then to the telephone—"Police Emergency—Colonel Cormerais, 1224 Boylston St., Newton Upper Falls, rush ambulance, accident out in front of house." Not once but a number of times. Each time we wonder who the next victim will be.

A year or so ago it was an elderly woman trying to cross the street, only to be tossed into our driveway. Last Friday night it was a lad of sixteen or seventeen crushed by a speeding driver overdriving his lights.

The long overpass across the Charles River and Chestnut st. is a race track today. Morning, noon and night, cars race at speeds of sixty and seventy miles an hour up the hill. Elderly people do not dare to cross the street to visit neighbors. People leaving the bus at Chestnut st. take their lives in their hands to cross over to go to Newton Upper Falls Village. Cars one-half mile away take a half a minute to cover the distance.

On Sundays and holiday nights it is doubtful if police could take care of the traffic at this dangerous point. I have seen a car skid all over the road when a police officer tried to stop it. Boylston st. is a State Highway—State Police should assist in the control of traffic. A blinker light should be placed at the head of the ramp at Chestnut st. with a pedestrian button for safe crossing. All left turns should be indicated by "arrows."

Until something is done to stop the speeding on the Turnpike we will continue to keep a roll of oil cloth handy to spread over the beds to protect the covers from the blood of the innocent victims of the mad race over the Charles River into the City of Newton, and our citizens will sooner or later be paying heavier insurance rates on their cars because of the actions of out of town drivers.

HENRY D. CORMERAI, 1224 Boylston St., Newton Upper Falls.

Luce Appeals for Palestine Jews

October 15, 1938.

Mr. Philip Leavy, 139 Adams Street, Waltham, Massachusetts.

Dear Phil:
The following is a copy of the telegram Congressman Luce sent President Roosevelt yesterday on the Palestine situation.

"Hon. Franklin D. Roosevelt, White House, Washington, D. C. 'My constituents of Jewish origin urge me to ask the good offices of our Government to grant the Jewish Government request not to abandon Palestine Mandate or to restrict immigration—Stop—Situation apparently serious—Stop—Hope our Government may be able to help in this crisis.' Signed, Congressman Robert Luce."

I had already written to Secretary of State Hull expressing his keen interest in the matter, and I hope what he has done may help. I am sending copy of this letter to several of your friends who may be interested in the matter.

Very truly yours,

HON. ROBERT LUCE.

ROTARY CLUB

Dr. J. E. Gordon was guest speaker at the regular meeting of the Rotary Club of Newton Monday at the Brae Burn Club. President Paul E. Elicker was in charge of the meeting and Dr. Gordon was introduced by Dr. Harold E. Choate. "Health in Rumania" was the subject of Dr. Gordon's talk in which he stated that tourists very seldom visit that country because of the lack of transportation facilities and accommodations. Dr. Gordon spent three years in Rumania, which contains all the necessary minerals they need but which they have failed to use to the best advantage. The country is largely agricultural and it is impossible to buy ready-made clothing. The country is made up of numerous villages, from 200 to 2000 population and from 8 to 10 miles apart with no regular roads. In order to get from place to place one must use a specially constructed car equipped with tractor wheels and even then it is difficult to go more than 8 miles per hour. Cost of living is very low with eggs 4 cents per dozen, butter 8 cents per pound, and ordinary food from $2 to $8 per month. Dr. Gordon showed numerous pictures depicting the primitive nature of the towns and villages with some of brooks or open sewers running through the villages and emptying into the rivers. Typhoid is prevalent because of the lack of sanitation.

FALL MUSIC FESTIVAL

More than 90 singers, comprising one of the largest vocal groups ever heard in Newton, will participate in the first Fall Music Festival of the Waban Union Church choir on Friday evening, October 28, at the Union Church in Waban. Gladys Parker will appear as assisting soloist. The large chorus will be directed by Mr. Harold Schwab.

55 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, Oct. 20, 1883

The Board of Aldermen will be in session next Monday afternoon from 4 to 5 to register voters.

The Newton depot has come out this week in the gayest of Queen Anne colors and is hardly recognizable. The steam heating apparatus which will replace the old furnace is now being put in.

Mayor Ellison, Alderman Dwight Chester and City Engineer Noyes visited Keene, New Hampshire last week to examine the Waring system of sewerage disposal just introduced in that city. They were much pleased with the system.

A Kate Greenway party to raise funds for the chapel of Grace Episcopal Church was held at Cole's Hall on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance and the tableaux, music and dancing were much enjoyed.

The meeting in Elliot Hall, Newton on Tuesday evening to hear the report of the committee on the abolition of grade crossings, was thinly attended. David Farquhar presided and J. S. Potter acted as secretary. The committee reported that the result of their interview with President Bliss of the Boston & Albany railroad was substantially as before announced. A petition drawn up by E. G. Barnes declaring the foot crossings at Richardson and Channing sts. to be dangerous, was adopted. A petition to the City Council stating the wants of the people, was signed by those present.

The fair for the West Newton Catholic Church, in progress for 3 weeks, has closed.

A band of gypsies has been camping the past week on Beacon st. near Chestnut Hill.

The Boston & Albany railroad has placed gates at the grade crossing on Centre st. between Newton Centre and Newton Highlands.

At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen on Monday night a petition was received from the call members of the fire department asking for an increase in pay. It asks that hosemen, ladder men and stokers receive $150 annually, assistant foremen, $170; and foremen, $180. The petition states—"The increase of $10 granted a few years ago was to our minds a very inferior provision for a stern necessity, and has not more than met a fraction of our needs."

Newton Graphic, Oct. 19, 1888

The Newton storekeepers illuminated for the Republican torchlight parade on Monday night; many residences along the line of march were lighted up and Chinese lanterns were suspended from porches and about the grounds.

The Republicans held a grand rally at Newton on Monday evening. The hall was set in motion by a torchlight parade, about 1000 men being in the parade. The parade started at 8 o'clock and marched over Newton streets, finishing at Elliot Hall. Included in the parade were Harrison & Morton cars from Newton, Auburndale, Newton Centre, Needham, Brookline and Dorchester, and a squadron of mounted men, employees of Howard Brothers of Watertown. At the Underwood School on Vernon st. the marchers were given hot coffee and sandwiches, which were prepared by Paxton. Along the line the grounds at many estates were festooned with lanterns. The parade was witnessed by a vast crowd of persons from Newton and elsewhere. Elliot Hall was filled at the rally. The platform was reserved for invited guests and members of the Newton Republican Club. The meeting was called to order by Henry E. Cobb who introduced Hon. J. W. Candler, candidate for Congress from the 9th District. He spoke on the issues of the campaign and said that the element of protection must be preserved in the tariff laws. He did not believe in a tariff like the Chinese Wall, but one which will properly promote the prosperity of this country.

25 YEARS AGO

Newton Graphic, October 17, 1913

At a meeting of the Democratic City Committee and the Democratic Club on Monday evening a committee was appointed to recommend a candidate for Mayor at the coming city election.

While the investigation of the matter of expenditures of the Street Department will probably be straightened out as a matter of bookkeeping, there is a deeper question involved and one that goes right down to the matter of the fundamentals of our system of government. It has always been considered that the Board of Aldermen is the appropriating body, and the city charter forbids the incurring of any liability or the expenditure of any money in excess of the appropriation therefor. But the Street Department with funds appropriated for the entire year for street cleaning and repairs, spends so much money for repairs during the summer months that there are not sufficient funds left for cleaning the streets for the balance of the year. The Aldermen then face the dilemma of appropriating additional funds, or leaving our streets unsightly and dirty. In this case it would seem that the Street Department is the real appropriating power and that the aldermen are mere puppets.

Powers' Paragraphs

Death on Highways

In this week's GRAPHIC is a letter from Colonel Henry Cormerais protesting against the frequency of automobile accidents near his home on the Worcester turnpike as a result of speeding by motorists. Mr. Cormerais is justified in making the protest. The Worcester turnpike is one of the two heaviest travelled State highways in Massachusetts. We have over 300 men in the State Police. How often do you see one of them patrolling the Worcester turnpike, particularly East of Framingham? For that matter, how often do you see State policemen patrolling any of our main State highways? If you see them frequently, your experience is different from that of the writer. In striking contrast is the manner in which Route 1, and other State highways in Rhode Island are patrolled. And even more of a contrast is the effective method used by Rhode Island to control excessive speeding. As we mentioned in this column some weeks ago—the speed limits on State highways in Rhode Island is 45 miles, with 35 and 40 miles the limit near even small villages. In villages the limit is 25 miles. And these speed restrictions are enforced—and obeyed. In Massachusetts there is no legal speed limit, as in Rhode Island.

A year or more ago Registrar of Motor Vehicles Goodwin issued a mandate specifying 45 miles an hour as the limit for safe driving in this State. Shortly afterward he issued another mandate specifying 50 miles an hour as the limit. Wednesday we received from Mr. Goodwin's office a circular letter asking us to call attention to the fact that during the winter months "the motor vehicle death rate rises, principally because of the fact that the nights are longer and bad weather makes it absolutely necessary for drivers of automobiles to slow down in their speed. Out of the million persons driving cars in this State, probably one-half are thoughtless and do not realize that changed conditions require a slowing down. In order that they may be at all times reminded of this necessity, we have prepared the enclosed sticker which is to be sent around to the various official inspection stations and branch offices. We are asking your help, in order that this distribution may become general, because we believe that if drivers have these stickers on their cars and see them at all times on other cars, there will be a general slowing down, and I am certain there will be a great reduction in the number of deaths and injuries during these dangerous months. Will you please give this notice as much publicity as you can—and appeal to persons to go either to inspection stations or branch offices and get one of these stickers, the distribution of which will begin on Oct. 24. (Signed, Frank A. Goodwin.)"

The sticker reads—

"Not Over 45"
At Night or On Wet Roads

I PROMISE

"Not Over 50 Anytime."

The writer for one, will not affix the sticker he received to his car. Because it is our opinion that anyone who drives a car 45 miles an hour on a wet road is either drunk or irresponsible, and should have his or her license revoked; and anyone who drives 45 miles an hour at night, except under most favorable conditions is also a menace to the safety of the public. If Mr. Goodwin distributes a sticker specifying 35 miles an hour as the limit on wet roads, we would gladly affix one to the rear window on our car.

Incidentally, in connection with the accident referred to by Colonel Cormerais, the Brookline boy who was critically injured while riding his bicycle on the turnpike, carried a flashlight, but there was no light affixed to his bicycle. For many years this State has had a law compelling all vehicles to carry a light when operated on public highways after dark. This law includes bicycles. So far as bicycles are concerned, the police of Newton, in common with police in other cities and towns, have not enforced the law. If they did, there would have been far fewer bicycle riders victims of automobile accidents at night. Why don't the police enforce this law? Bicycles should also have a glass reflector at the rear.

In past years the writer has voted repeatedly for Robert Luce of Waltham for Congressman from this district, but this year I shall not do so. The reason is—that in our opinion Mr. Luce is out of step with the times; he apparently does not grasp the fact that changed economic and social conditions necessitate radical changes in one's political philosophy. Mr. Luce has been a man of ability and during his career in Congress rendered valuable service. But, in late years he has opposed progressive legislation and relief measures, and his vote against the Wages and Hours Bill on May 24 of this year convinced us that it would be against the best interest of this district and New England to return him to Congress for another term. For many years two leading industries of New England—textile and shoes, have been declining. These industries, particularly the textile, have been transferred to other parts of the country. Cheap labor and long hours have enabled cotton mills in the South to produce goods at prices which New England mills could not meet. After years of effort to enact a Federal law which would end the un-American conditions prevalent in Southern textile mills, the Wages and Hours Bill was formulated. As New England was one of its principal beneficiaries, most of the Congressmen from this section voted in favor of this bill, including Republican members from Massachusetts, and Senator Lodge. Mr. Luce voted against this bill, upon which (Continued on Page 5)

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Test of Friendship

Whenever commendable energy is revealed even in smaller matters I think it should be applauded. Take the person who prefers to write his own message of felicitation to accompany a birthday gift or any token of remembrance. In this advanced age it is so easy to drop into a shop where such things are sold and purchase a printed card of appropriate design or humorous intent. Whether we should strive to offer something original in place of such things seems to be an open, though not very important, question.

The trouble is that many people have a hard time whipping up the muse. That sounds a bit harsh but cannot use such terms as courting or inviting for the process is sometimes fairly brutal. If one is friendly with the goddess of song that is one thing but if one is not, the only way to get any aid from that source is by threats and even worse. Some may beat their brains to an omelette and yet produce no poetry. If you've listened to the radio announcers who urge competition in writing verses about oranges, bread, etc., you will remember they give a couple of lines and then say, "Ta da, ta da, ta da," suggesting you invent the remainder. Unfortunately that's the only phrase which enters the heads of many who seek to compose dainty verse. It might be better if they wrote for posterity not that which finally reaches their pen but "Ta da, ta da, ta da."

I will not be too harsh. Let people dash off jingles if they will. It is at least evidence of self-expression and more praiseworthy than buying the talent of others for 5, 10 or even 25 cents. I suggest, however, that amateur poets send their effusions to dear friends who are both loyal and patient.

Turning the Tables

A happy sight right here in Newton the other day was a boy on his pony trotting happily on the gravel sidewalk of a regular thoroughfare. There weren't many people about and no pedestrians to be inconvenienced. If boy and pony had not been moving so fast I might have taken occasion to warn the former that those bicycle riders who continually violate the law by riding on the sidewalk might complain to the police about him.

Extra! Extra! Geography!

If there is any occupation that the present goings-on in Europe have completely upset it is that of map-making. Not many weeks ago I studied, through the big display window of an establishment that specializes in school and college supplies, a large map of Europe containing the numerous changes in the boundary lines of the various countries. I assumed, as did everybody else, that it was not only up-to-date but would so remain for a time at least. But all will need to be changed as a result of the Munich pact.

Now how long will the present setup stand? Not long if events continue to move as rapidly as they have been. Talk of keeping the map of Europe abreast of the times! How will it be possible? And now to look back. Who in our school days would have thought that the geography we handled so clumsily and studied so deservingly would turn into a publication with many daily editions as an afternoon newspaper?

High Wind Big Help

The owner of a lot of land which could reasonably be called an estate and no doubt will if placed on the market, was receiving commiseration on the loss of many stately trees. "You folks are mighty nice to say those things and I know you mean them," he remarked, "but your sympathy is unnecessary. All summer I was thinking of the leaves I'd have to rake up this Fall and now the hurricane has saved me that trouble."

Are You Enlisted?

Although we have peace in Europe at a price that some people think was too high, especially in these days of bargain sales, we are not escaping war altogether in our own land. The political armies are being mobilized in Massachusetts and led to the front amid shouts and waving of banners and placards. The generals on one side are hurling abuse, invective and other forms of poison gas which thus far only succeeded in blinding their own followers. The other army is doing effective organization work and gaining ground every hour. It's the kind of war that has to be fought in order that decent citizens may exercise the privileges to which they are justly entitled. The best part of it we know there is a definite date on which it will end—Tuesday, November 8.

Sunbeam Chats

Had my very first meal at 'nother house yesterday. Was awful excited 'bout it before hand, but gee what a flop! My mother knows how to feed me better. She never loads my plate like Jerry's mother did, so I get discouraged 'fore I start. My mother gives me a pretty plate that's not crowded. Then if I want more I get it 'prived of course I eat everything on my plate first. Guess home's best after all!

HIBBARD—SKELTON

Miss Catherine Agnes Skelton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Skelton of 5 Channing rd., Newton Centre, was married to John Albert Hibbard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alden P. Hibbard of Belmont at eight o'clock on Saturday evening, Oct. 15, in the Newton Centre Methodist Episcopal Church. Rev. John Wingett performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of deep ivory duchess satin with a court train. Her veil of silk illusion was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Norma E. Skelton, the maid of honor, wore sapphire velvet with pale pink camellias and a headress to match her bouquet of African daisies. The bridesmaids, Miss Lois K. James of Belmont, Miss Lorraine Frountelker of Watertown, Miss Harriet Childs of Waltham, and Miss Jeanette White of Newton Centre, wore gowns of ruby velvet trimmed with pale pink camellias and their headresses and bouquets were of African daisies.

Carl Pearson of Belmont was the best man. The ushers were Arthur H. Burgess and Hoyt H. Hallas of Newton Centre, Donald C. Sleeper of Brookline, Edward French of Waltham, Albert C. Blunt, 3d, of West Newton, and Donald Seeley of Newtonville.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. On their return from a motor trip through the South, Mr. and Mrs. Hibbard will reside at 31 Ellis st., Brockton, where they will be at home after November 1.

The bride attended the Leland Powers School with the class of 1935. The groom attended the Bryant & Stratton School in Boston.

We Invite You to

"PONDBROOK"

A TWO-ACRE ESTATE

WHITE OAK ROAD at CLIFF ROAD

Cliff Estates, Wellesley Hills

A "bit of old England" high in the Wellesley Hills, best describes "Pondbrook," a truly fine home, dignified and spacious without being pretentious, and with the air of a medieval manor surrounded by ancestral acres.

Living in such a home would be a source of unending joy, whether the simple life of a country squire or entertaining extensively is the aim of its ultimate owner.

A replica of a baronial castle in Surrey, England, the house of mellow brick with heavy timbering and weathered shutters has its beauty mirrored in the pond below the terrace. A pause on the bridge which spans the brook reveals a waterfall spilling over a dam into the pond below. Skirting the pond and climbing the slopes, a pathway has been smoothed to make a ramble over the estate a pleasure, and to blaze a trail to the barbecue "snack-shack" for a weenie roast, or charcoal-broiled steaks, when the crowd drops in on the cook's day out.

In fact, there are infinite opportunities here for dispensing gracious hospitality . . . tea on the terrace; a cozy tete-a-tete with a friend or with books in the secluded library while the ladies enjoy the delightful formality of the Tudor drawing room with the glow from the frelight picking out the highlights and caressing the fine patina of the hand-carved oak which panels the living room to the ceiling.

The morning room would tempt the breakfast-in-bed person to make an early morning appearance; while dining "en famille" or with guests would be a pleasure in the spacious dining room.

The kitchen? A woman's Paradise . . . whether mistress or maid . . . for besides cupboards galore for utilities, there are numerous glass-enclosed cabinets for fine Wedgwood and Spode and crystal. Upstairs there is a master suite, with dressing room and private bath and four other family bedrooms (every one of twin bed size) and with adjoining or connecting glass-tiled baths, besides the maid's suite with bath.

"The Wheat Sheaf Inn" with thatched roof makes a novel recreation room in the basement.

This entire home shows more eloquently than words can describe, the careful, thoughtful planning of a woman with original ideas and good taste . . . one who knows the needs of the efficient, modern homemaker.

Monel metal in the kitchen; a General Electric Oil Furnace with an estimated heating cost of $253 a year (which includes domestic hot water); rock wool insulation, a garage for 3 cars, electric fixtures by Chase Brass and Lightolier and an incinerator, add the ultimate touch to this fine home.

May we welcome you to "Pondbrook" . . . TODAY?

It looks like Five Years from Now!

THE vast Buick factory is a grand place to visit, these days.

Down the roaring aisles, throughout the sprawling bays there's a sense of great things happening.

They're building something ultra, here at Buick, and they know it.

It looks like five years from now, they'll say of this dazzling 1939 Buick, and they're not talking of appearance only.

They're talking of "catwalk-cooling" that floods air under forced draft to ease the temperature of your engine.

They're talking of BuicOil springing and the soft shock-smothering spirals that give you the true "full float" ride.

They're talking of that Dynaflash great eight engine, instant with life and wringing good from every drop of fuel.

They're talking of weight-balance and gravity-center that hold you to your line—of wheels that camber to let you take the curves more safely—of new visibility—up to 413 square inches more glass in SPECIAL and CENTURY models.

They're talking a thousand and one details of Buick that you'll never know nor need to know but that to their schooled eyes spell a better built automobile.

And they're thinking of now as they talk.

For they know that no car sells spectacularly when it's merely up-to-date. They know that for big years a car has to be ahead—that a car which looks like the future means better times for today.

You can see this car they're talking of at the nearest Buick showroom.

When you do see it, think of what the men who built it are saying, not boastfully, but with quiet sureness.

They know. And they're saying "Looks fine for '39!"

BROCKTON'S LATE-GAME
POWER SUBDUES NEWTON

The much touted Brockton High School football eleven, 1937 State champions, came to Newton last Saturday and vanquished the Newton High team 13 to 0. After gallant defensive work throughout the first half which took its toll of the orange and black squad the Brockton steamroller battered down the home forces. A 65-yard march following the second-half kickoff resulted in the first Brockton score. Midway of the final session, gambling for a tying tally, with a potent air attack the Newton team set up the second Brockton score when a forward pass was intercepted on the Newton 40 yard mark.

As at Everett the week previous although defeated the Newton team showed a sustained defense and flashes of sparkling offense that may well pay dividends in the closing weeks of the season. The first and second periods were featured by the defensive play of the Newton team with four Brockton threats being repulsed. Captain Bob Liming, Art Hughes and Joe Paglia were the outstanding figures in turning aside these Brockton marches in the nick of time as the visitors repeatedly threatened to score. The first threat was repulsed deep in Newton territory when the Newton team stiffened to take the ball on downs. The second tally reached the Newton 4 yard line before it was stopped. The third advance saw Art Hughes saving a potential score by the interception of a pass right on the Newton goal-line. On this occasion as on several others during the game Hughes' great kicking got Newton out of a bad hole. The fourth Brockton threat reached the Newton 2-yard line. Two plays were stopped for no gain and time ran out for the half.

Receiving the second-half kickoff Lanoue, Buckley and Gold picked up plenty of yardage. In eight plays the Holden coached team had scored. The high spot in the advance was Lanoue's romp of 26 yards to the Newton 15 yard stripe before Hughes pulled him down from behind. Lanoue picked up 5 yards more and then Buckley slipped through right tackle for the score. Dodero kicked the goal.

Midway of the last quarter following Dodero's interception of a Hughes' pass and return to the Newton 40

Buckley and Lanoue made it first down on the 30. Lanoue flung a 15-yard pass to Gold who eluded two Newton tacklers and set sail for the goal 15 yards away. Liming pulled him down on the 2-yard line. Gold drove through center for the remaining distance.

Newton produced a real scoring threat near the end of the game. Kit Fisher ran back the kickoff after the second Brockton tally 33 yards to the Newton 38. After one incomplete pass Hughes tossed another long one which Joe Paglia snared right away from two Brockton defenders for a 39 yard gain to the Brockton 24; Booth bucked for a 4 yard gain and a Hughes to Fisher pass made it first down on the Brockton 10 yard stripe. Another Hughes-Fisher pass took it to the 2 yard line where the Newton attack stalled with two line plays losing two yards. Hughes' fourth down pass was intercepted on the Brockton goal-line by Gold and a few seconds later the play ended.

HOPE TO TOPPLE
QUINCY FOR FIRST WIN

The Newton high football season passes the half-way mark with tomorrow's game with Quincy High at the Dickinson Stadium. Four games have been played with the orange and black not only having failed to win a game but having failed to score a single tally. With Cambridge Latin holding the Newton team to a scoreless tie in a game which saw Newton's outstanding back and triple threat, Johnny Fitzgerald, sidelined with a fractured collarbone, Newton's potential offensive strength was handicapped materially. The loss of Fitzgerald together with the failure of other backs counted upon to round out a worthy backfield caused Coach Ralph Sanborn to make numerous changes in his lineup. Art Hughes and Stuart MacNeill, ends, were converted into backs and other backs were tried out in the line in an effort to get together a smoothly working eleven. The shifts in positions and the subsequent necessity of learning new assignments seem about to bring results. Although losing to Arlington, Everett and Brockton on successive week-ends, the Newton team has looked better as the weeks have gone by. Gallant defensive work repeatedly held Brockton at bay with one tally resulting from a sustained march and the other from a pass interception when Newton was gambling in an effort to tie the score.

A glance at the records reveals that Newton's early season weakness is not unusual. It has been the exception when Newton has won its early season games and then only when there has been a wealth of veteran material with a spark-plug pilot or backfield star. In fact the Cambridge Latin game is the only game which Newton has consistently won in the first half of the season for many moons. A further glance at the records reveals that Newton usually comes fast towards the end of October and rolls along smoothly the remainder of the season so that it may safely be predicted that Newton will soon get on the victory path and may well upset its more favored rivals. In fact numerous Newton adherents are already proclaiming that Newton will not lose another game this season. This might be a large order in that the smooth working Leary coached eleven at Waltham is now leading the Class A school football teams and must be met on Nov. 12th. largely depends the future prosperity of Massachusetts and New England.

As evidence of Mr. Luce's social philosophy may be cited his statement made on May 4 of this year before the House Committee on Currency and Banking, when that committee was conducting a hearing on better housing for people with incomes under $1200. Mr. Luce opposed the housing project and said: "They are living in shacks and hovels because God made them unable to earn more." Mr. Luce is now 75 years old. In his prime the United States was a country of boundless opportunities. Except for brief periods of depression, almost any able bodied man or woman who desired employment could find it. So could boys and girls when they graduated from school. But for the past 9 years the picture has changed. Economic, social conditions—have completely changed. Federal and State legislation which was denounced ten and more years ago as socialistic has been passed of necessity. Such legislation has been voted for both by Democrats and Republicans. Even more radical legislation for relief of those in need has been virtually promised in the platform adopted by the Republican convention in Massachusetts a few weeks ago. Much as middle aged and older persons deplore the change from self-sufficiency and independence which characterized this country in the past to the paternalism and social relief legislation which our mechanical and more complex age has made necessary, society must adjust itself to these changes. And this includes conservative members of society as well as those of more liberal trend.

Opposing Mr. Luce is Thomas H. Elliot of Cambridge. We have met Mr. Elliot several times and he impresses us quite favorably. He possesses unquestionable ability and seems to be sincere. A young man of unusual background, the son of Rev. Samuel A. Elliot and the grandson of Charles W. Elliot, former president of Harvard University, Thomas H. Elliot is a liberal but not an impractical visionary. He states that he believes in constructive legislation, and also in efficient and economic administration of public affairs. He promises that if elected he will not be a rubber-stamp and that he will strive for industrial peace based on just treatment of both labor and business. He had an important part in framing the Social Security Act, served as General Counsel for the Social Security Board and also was an Assistant Solicitor in the Department of Labor. A lawyer by profession, he is a young man of high ideals, practical in his views and with a real desire to be of service to his country in the trying years ahead. Great writer believes that his type is greatly needed in public life. We shall vote for him for the same reason that we shall vote for Leverett Saltonstall—because in our opinion he is the best candidate for the office to which he aspires.

A Message of Appreciation

With the work of rehabilitating our distribution system completed, with all services, including street lighting, back to normal, the Boston Edison Company takes the opportunity to express a final word of appreciation to its public, which has co-operated so splendidly in the emergency occasioned by the destructive hurricane of September 21, 1938.

We are under a heavy obligation to our employees who worked so hard and conscientiously to speed the restoration of service, to the state and municipal officials who helped us, to utility companies in distant cities which placed their facilities at our disposal, to the electrical and other contractors of Greater Boston who worked with our own crews, to manufacturers and jobbers who gathered enormous quantities of materials in record time. But even with all this assistance we could not have succeeded but for the kindness, the patience, the tolerance and the understanding of our 437,000 customers, most of whom were without electric service for short or longer periods following the hurricane.

As evidence of the magnitude of the job we had to do, we present a few statistics. On September 20, the day before the hurricane, Boston Edison Company was supplying service to 437,000 customers. Between 8 o'clock and midnight on the night of the hurricane 292,000 customers were without electric service. Our immediate policy was to give first attention to hospitals, institutions, and agencies for public health and safety, then to take steps which would restore the services of the largest number of customers in the shortest time. The following table shows how effectively this was done:

Date (8 P.M.)	Number of Customers Without Service	Per Cent Customers Without Service
Sept. 21	292,000	66.70
22	172,800	39.48
23	126,000	28.80

*The average number of customers whose service is interrupted on a normal night, due to fuse troubles or minor disturbance, is 150.

Rally for Eliot At Newton Centre

At a house rally for Thomas H. Eliot in the home of David Sachs, Elmwood st., Newton Centre on Monday evening, the Congressional candidate said: "The present Congress cannot really have the best interests of the 9th District at heart. If he did, he would have voted for the Wages and Hours Bill, not against it."

"In voting against this bill," Eliot continued, "Mr. Luce defied not only the sentiment in his district, which is industrial as well as residential, but in his own party which in this campaign is advocating state wages and hours legislation to supplement the federal law. Almost all the Representatives from New England voted for the bill. Mr. Luce, however, moved his own business out of New England years ago. He maintains only a legal residence in Waltham. No wonder he isn't concerned with the interests of his district."

Eliot will carry his fight to the radio on Tuesday, October 25 over WAAB at 7:15 when he talks on "Live in Shacks and Like It." The debate planned between Eliot and Congressman Luce in Wellesley for October 30 has been put ahead to Sunday, October 23 at 4:30 in the Community Playhouse, Wellesley Hills.

41st Anniversary of St. John's Church

The forty-first Anniversary of the founding of Saint John's Episcopal Church in Newtonville will be commemorated by a special service next Sunday morning at eleven o'clock in the Parish Church at Lowell ave. and Otis st. A special sermon by the rector, Rev. Raymond Lane, D.D., will be preached at that service. The rector, wardens and vestry are urging every member of the parish and also those who have been in this parish in years past to be present.

The work in anticipation of establishing this parish was begun in 1896 and the first service was held on October seventeenth, 1897. Bishop William Lawrence was present at that time and preached the Gospel. In 1900 this parish was incorporated under the laws of Massachusetts. The site of the present church was purchased in 1901. The church, a very fine piece of Gothic architecture, was designed by Henry Vaughan, and built in 1903, the Corner Stone having been laid by Bishop Lawrence. In 1913 the church was consecrated by Bishop Lawrence. In 1921 a beautiful Parish House was built and in 1929 the rectory, a handsome home adjacent to the church and parish house, was purchased. There have been three rectors of the parish: Reverends Abel Millard, Richard T. Loring and the present rector who has served for twelve years and under whose direction the Parish has greatly advanced.

Mephitis Disturbs Franklin Street

A Mephitis-mephitis which had disturbed the equanimity of the sedate neighborhood on Franklin st., Newton, for several days was captured last Sunday. The polecat selected as its abode a space under the veranda of the home of Miss Grace Weston at 276 Franklin st., and for about a week its tenancy above the cellar of the house was anything but agreeable to Miss Weston and her neighbors. An appeal was made to the Animal Rescue League and a box trap made of wire was placed near the veranda last Friday evening. In the trap was placed an appetizing bait, a small piece of beef. The lure worked, but it did not catch the skunk. In the box trap was found a dachshund, "Trudy," owned by F. Marsena Butts of 306 Franklin st. Miss Weston informed the Animal Rescue League of the anti-climax, and was told that polecats do not enthrall over beef. She was instructed to obtain from some market a hen's head and place it in the trap. This was done on Saturday evening, and on Sunday the mephitis went into the trap. It was observed there by a dog owned by Howard Rich of 269 Franklin st. The pet of the Rich household rushed over to gaze at the black and white animal and was promptly sprayed with that fragrant fluid which skunks eject so effectively.

A telephone message was sent to the Animal Rescue League, and when the representative of that worthy organization arrived, he gave the "gallery," which kept at a safe distance, a remarkable exhibition of finesse in capturing a mephitis. He proceeded slowly, a couple of feet at a time, until he reached the trap, and calmly tied a rope to it, the skunk watching the proceedings peacefully. Then the Animal Rescue man slowly backed away from the trap, pulled the rope a few inches at a time until he had the trap alongside his automobile, slowly stooped down, tied another rope to the trap, and lifted the box into the truck. And the skunk offered no resistance—offence. It's all in knowing how—even when dealing with skunks.

Pre School Clinic To Be At City Hall

The proposed Pre School Clinic for children under school age will soon be established in the basement at City Hall when a technicality regarding an appropriation of $700 for the equipping of the clinic will be straightened out. A recommendation from the Mayor came before the Aldermen last Monday night for the approval of $700 from the Health Department budget for equipping the clinic. But as this money had been appropriated for salaries, it cannot be used for the other purpose. It is expected that the aldermen will make a separate appropriation of $700 for the clinic, and the Health Department will turn back to the City Treasurer a like amount unexpended from its salaries budget. The physician who will have charge of the clinic is to be appointed by the Board of Health.

Charged With Drunken Driving

Dominic Gentile of 298 Langley rd., Newton Centre, was arrested on Wednesday night after the truck he was driving had hit a parked car on Langley rd. He was arrested shortly after by Patrolman Smith and Turner. Witnesses said that he remained in his truck at the scene of the crash for a few minutes and then drove to his home. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Thursday and charged with drunkenness, driving while under the influence of liquor, and not revealing his identity. The case was continued to October 26.

Colten Abelson is now having its 17th Annual Fall Showing and Sale of unusual and distinctive linens. Included are bath towel ensembles by Martex, luxurious all wool blankets by North Star, Wamsutta supercale sheets and cases with floral hand blocked designs on the borders, and an unusual array of ladies handkerchiefs with names in petal point or applique on each handkerchief. A distinctive selection of luncheon and dinner sets for every possible occasion. The shop is overflowing with a fresh selection of luscious gifts . . . the kind of gifts that are greatly appreciated at showers, engagements and wedding parties. Colten Abelson continues to feature an outstanding selection of household and trousseaux linens.

One of the most interesting features of the Colten Abelson Shop is that whereas quality and style are emphasized so much, prices are, nevertheless, extremely moderate and "down to earth levels." The 17th Annual Fall Showing and Sale is now going on at both the Boston and Wellesley Shops.

According to police testimony on the night of October 8 a car driven by Latimer hit a parked car on Adella ave., West Newton, and then ran onto the lawn at 74 Adella ave. He was arrested shortly after the accident by Patrolman Davis on a drunkenness charge. Latimer demanded a hearing on the issuance of a complaint on driving while under the influence of liquor, and after hearing the evidence on Monday, Judge Mayberry ordered the complaint issued.

Tree Fell on House, Wants City to Pay

Murray P. Horwood of 37 Westbourne rd., Newton Centre, a professor at Mass. Inst. of Technology has filed a claim against the City of Newton for damages to his property by a tree which was one of the thousands uprooted and broken by the hurricane on September 21. The letter making the claim was accompanied by photographs showing the fallen tree. It states that the tree, "an enormous, cottonwood poplar," which stood on the street in front of the house, damaged the roof, the front porch and steps, and broke some small trees and shrubs along the driveway. Horwood stated that he will later submit an itemized list of the cost of making repairs. He commented: "Poplar trees are so brittle, that I am surprised one as large and as tall had been allowed on the street so near a dwelling."

Scores of houses in Newton were damaged by trees blown down during the hurricane. If the city had to pay for such damage, the costs would run into many thousands of dollars to taxpayers. Horwood's claim will be given leave to withdraw on the ground that the city is not responsible, as the hurricane was an act of God.

Many prominent Newton women attended the three-day convention of the Massachusetts Women's Christian Temperance Union held Oct. 18-20 in the Baptist Church, Central Square, Cambridge, Middlesex County Union acting as hostess.

Tuesday afternoon Mayor Kane of Woburn, who has astonished people by endeavoring really to do something about the use of relief funds for drink, spoke on "Drunkennes and Taxes." This was followed by a fine address by Mr. V. W. Petersen from "War Against Crime."

The President's Annual Address was given Tuesday evening. Wednesday afternoon a Dramatic Monologue "The Unworn Queen" was given, depicting Frances Willard's early life, followed by an address by Rev. Victor V. Sawyer on "The Romance of the Constitution" and an educational Forum on Alcohol.

There was a very pretty Membership Tea following adjournment, showing increasing interest on the part of socially-minded women, and pictures of Labrador with Sir Wilfred Grenfell.

Wednesday evening was Young People's Evening. The growing interest in young people in clean, wholesome living was apparent.

The convention closed on an optimistic note because of the gains for temperance, 5,000 local option elections out of 7,500 having resulted in a dry vote.

Mrs. Raymond B. Ladoo, chairman of the Program, will present Mrs. Alice Dixon Bond as speaker at the next meeting, October 27. Her close contact with literary development, both in Europe and at home, her individual and entertaining style of presenting her views appeal to an audience. West Newton Women's Educational Club

The first meeting of the season of the West Newton Women's Educational Club was held on Friday, October 14, at the Unitarian Church Parish House, with Mrs. Francis H. McCrudden presiding, the speaker was Mrs. Marcia Graves Loring, graduate of the New York School of Interior Decorating and writer for the Christian Science Monitor and for the Boston Evening Transcript. Her subject "Sifting your Background to Your Personality" was presented by demonstrating color schemes with modern decorative materials during an interesting lecture considering styles of homes and rooms suitable to specific personalities. She said one could redecorate by limiting as well as by adding to, and that one should not be afraid that it was always expensive.

Mrs. Maurice Spillane, member of the Art committee of the State Federation, brought greetings from the chairman, Mrs. Walter W. Stroncher who could not be present. She urged the clubs to form groups in Arts and Crafts and spoke of the sale of articles such as metal work, jewelry, embroideries, pottery, weaving, and quilts to be at the State Federation meeting in Hyannis. She gave the slogan of the Art division as "Good Design and Craftwork."

A splendid report was given by Mrs. Gordon S. Heath on her first experiences as a delegate to the State Federation Annual Meeting at Swampscott last May, declaring it was thrilling as well as most interesting.

Mrs. Patrick Duncan, Ways and Means chairman, announced a "Used Book Sale" which would take place in the vacant store next to the Harris Hardware Co., West Newton sq., on October 20, 21, and 22, and urged the members to send as many books as possible to her. She would also like winter clothing West Newton 2917 for further information.

Pourers at the tea-table were Mrs. Ernest A. Dockstader, a past president, and Mrs. Henry F. Keating. Hostesses were Mrs. Frederick C. Engel and Mrs. Charles McKenzie, and Mrs. George E. Dennett, chairman.

Newton Centre Woman's Club

Music by the Embassy Male Quartette and Reginald Boardman, piano soloist and accompanist, delighted the five hundred members and guests of the Newton Centre Woman's Club last Friday afternoon. Never had the spacious Club House looked so beautiful as now with the new chairs of brown metal upholstered in blue leather to match the velvet window hangings and stage drop-curtain. Ferns banked the windows between the hangings and a large basket of rust and gold chrysanthemums stood by the footlights. Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock, president, presided at the business meeting, explaining the budget, announcing the chair campaign, the Fashion Show, Bridge Party and Luncheon to be on Wednesday, October 26, the Community Chest Drive, the appeal being made to assist the Peabody Home for Crippled Children which had suffered such a great loss during the hurricane, and various other appeals made to the Club. Mrs. Francis R. Sweeney gave a talk on her work with the Community Service. Mrs. Raymond F. McFee, first vice-president and Federation delegate, gave a report of the meeting at Swampscott last May.

Mrs. George H. Crobie, second vice-president and Program chairman, then introduced most graciously the performers of the afternoon. The songs sung were "Stout-Hearted Men, Morning Hymn, Go Lovely Rose, I Heard a Lady Sigh, Drink To Me Only with

Newton Federation Executive Board

The Executive Board of the Newton Federation met for the first meeting of the fall Monday morning, October 17, at the Newton Library, with Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president, presiding. Reports by chairmen of work done and of plans for further work were presented. An appeal was made for Clubwomen to take and to fill Welfare Bags. A request also was made for invalid garments for hospital cases. A great need exists for bed slippers, pajamas and layettes.

The chairman of Garden and Conservation, Mrs. Edmund I. Wilson, told of the Ragweed Drive during the summer, and of the assistance of the Boy Scouts in helping the City of Newton count the fallen trees after the hurricane. The chairman of the Legislative committee, Mrs. Walter Heath, urged everyone to register and also to vote.

Mrs. Elmer I. MacPhie, chairman of the Physically Handicapped committee, asked for transportation for the blind on days of entertainment for them by the various clubs. An appeal also was made to assist the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

The damage done by the hurricane is estimated at $25,000.00. The splendid program of the Fall Conference of October 24 at the Newton Centre Woman's Club was discussed, and the president announced that others than members of the Federation were most welcome to attend. Fifteen dollars was voted to the Newton Community Chest.

Mrs. George Shepard, a medical missionary, spoke on the great need to keep necessary materials from Japan, for continuance of the war. The lack of trucks and oil for the bearings and also of American planes would soon stop the war against China, she explained. The meeting adjourned at 12 noon.

Found Not Guilty In Shooting Case

Plini Lombardi, 49, of 1663 Washington st., West Newton was found not guilty by a jury at Middlesex Superior Court last Friday of assault with a revolver on Martin Guida of 699 Belmont st., Belmont. There was a wedding at Guida's home on June 12, and a stepdaughter of Lombardi's was a guest at the wedding. She was allegedly struck by Guida following an argument. Lombardi went to the Guida house upon hearing of the incident and during an argument with Guida while the two were in Lombardi's automobile, Guida was shot by Lombardi. Lombardi told the court that Guida was choking him when he drew the revolver from his pocket in an attempt to make Guida desist, and that the weapon was discharged in the struggle.

Aldermen Meet

shop at 978 Watertown st., West Newton. He said only light repair work will be done. There was no opposition. When hearings were formally announced on laying out Green Park, Ward 7, and Janet rd., Ward 6, under the General Law, the work to be done by private contractors, Alderman Temperley called attention again to the fact that streets so constructed are inferior to those constructed by the Street Department, soon need repairs, and the taxpayers have to stand this expense. Alderman Jamieson replied that there has been a falling off the past two years in streets built under the general law.

The following Newton residents were drawn to serve as jurors at sessions of the Middlesex Superior Court at Cambridge next month: Roy Wright, 15 Elliot ter.; John Woodacre, 17 Maple st., Auburndale; William Grieve, 389 Newtonville ave.; Donald Houghton, 22 Central st.; Fred S. Sawyer, 37 Fairfax st.; Richard E. Leahy, 11 Warwick rd.; Charles Timbie, 295 Highland ave.; Lyman Merrill, 515 Crafts st.

The authorization of the appointment of additional election officers for the State election on November 8 was voted. A letter was received from the WPA thanking the Aldermen for its recently passed resolution which expressed appreciation for the valuable assistance given by WPA workers in Newton after the hurricane. A petition was received from Tornabene Brothers asking for a permit to enlarge their business office at 372 Langley rd. in a residence zone. A protest was received from Francis Donovan against changing real estate at 113 Washington st. from single to private residence zone.

Appropriations passed by the Aldermen included—additional to Buildings Department for hurricane damage repairs to public buildings, $1200; Welfare Dept., auto maintenance, $650; Soldiers Relief, $5000; catch basins, WPA project, $2000; Tar sidewalks, WPA project, $2000; drain on Temple st., $1400; sewer in Langdon st., $3400; construction of Furbush ave., $3450; from emergency loan, additional for clearing up hurricane debris, $20,059; additional awards for property taken for new school site at Pearl st., Gardner st., and Jackson rd., John Lichiatto, $600; Mary Grace, $3850; Attilio Proia, $450.

Boy on Bicycle Hit By Auto

Edward Chalmers, 16, of 20 Jamaica rd., Brookline, was critically injured about 9:30 last Friday night when the bicycle he was riding was hit on the Worcester turnpike by an automobile driven by Ralph Ellis, 23, of 83 Gainsboro st., Boston. The boy received a severe skull fracture. Chalmers was riding along the turnpike accompanied by Donald Murray, 14, of Brookline, who was riding on another bicycle. Ellis reported to the police that he was driving about 35 to 40 miles an hour, did not see the boy until he was within 10 to 20 feet of the bicycle, and the bicycle was then carried along on the bumper of his car for about 45 feet. Newton police measured the distance from where broken pieces of the headlight on Ellis' car were found on the street, to the point where the car stopped, and the distance was over 160 feet. The bicycle was still tangled on the car bumper. Young Chalmers had a flashlight, but there was no light affixed to his bicycle.

The injured boy was carried to the home of James Muldoon at 1218 Boylston st., and given first aid by Dr. S. A. Merlin of Dorchester, who was motoring by. He was then taken to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance.

Receive Bids On Big Water Main

Bids for the construction of the proposed 30 inch water main, which will carry the water supply for Newton from the large wells at the water reservation at Needham, under the Charles River to the pumping station at Newton Upper Falls, were opened on Monday by Water Commissioner Murray at City Hall. It had been estimated that the project would cost about $105,000. The lowest bid was received from Joseph P. McCabe of South Boston. It was $78,898. Other bidders and their bids were—Joseph DiCicco, Stoneham, $84,500; John McDonald Co., Newton, $88,076; A. Baruffaldi, Somerville, $84,896; Central Construction Co., Lawrence, $94,900; Frank Westcott, No. Attleboro, $102,000; N. Cibotti, Hyde Park, $103,850; George Byrne, Boston, $104,094; John Williams, Dorchester, $107,800; C. & R. Company, Rosindale, $122,000.

The city will receive from the PWA 45 per cent of the cost of the project. It is probable that the contract will be awarded to McCabe, provided his bid meets with the approval of PWA officials.

Youth Pilgrimage at Andover-Newton

The 6th annual youth pilgrimage to Andover-Newton Theological School was participated in last Sunday by over 1000 young men and women from Congregational churches throughout Massachusetts. Following registration of those participating, a song service was held at 3:45 p. m. in front of the library building, after which Dean Vaughn Dabney delivered a short address. The young people then marched down to the First Baptist Church at Newton Centre where an address was given by Rev. Carl Kopf of Mount Vernon Congregational Church. A communion service was then conducted by Rev. Wood Cole of Leyden Church, Brookline. A candle-light service, presided over by Rev. Arthur Meckel of Faneuil Congregational Church then followed. The participants, each carrying a lighted taper, then marched back to the campus of the theological school, where the pilgrimage ended.

Year In Jail For Former Newton Man

Thomas Murphy of Allston, who received for a short time on Green st., Newton, was sentenced to serve 1 year in Billerica prison by Judge Gray in the Superior Court at Cambridge last Friday. He was found guilty of receiving stolen property. A charge of stealing an automobile and $1300 in personal property it contained, was placed on file. On August 20 an automobile containing articles valued at $1300 was stolen from the driveway at 11 Washington st., Newton. The car and property in it were owned by Richard Nason of that address. He was about to start for his new home in Texas. The car was found abandoned the next day on West st., Nonantum, and Patrolman Albert Smith got a clue which caused Murphy's tenement on Green st., nearby, to be searched. In the house was found most of the articles which had been taken from the car. When the police arrived at the house, Murphy had gone to a hospital to have a back injury treated. He was arrested when he was about to be discharged from the hospital.

WILLIAM E. GINSBURG

William E. Ginsburg is 34 years of age and is a member of the Massachusetts Bar, the District Court of the United States, is an active member of the Law Society of Massachusetts and the Boston Bar Association. He is prominent in labor circles and is personal counsel for the President of the American Federation of Labor, and has represented the cause of labor throughout the courts of the Commonwealth, and has compiled a brilliant record.

Catch Gasoline Thief at Waban

Patrolman Dave Dalton, expert revolver shot of the Newton police department, is also a distance runner of ability. Tuesday morning shortly before 1 o'clock, Dalton made another capture at Waban after a run of about 1 1/4 of a mile. It is the second time in about a year that he has made a capture of a thief in that district after a considerable pursuit. Dalton's captive was Ronald Forward, 20, of 7 Central st., Framingham. About 12:20 p. m. Monday night a resident of Holly rd. phoned police headquarters that he had observed two young men walking along that street with cans. Since May there have been 15 complaints of gasoline having been stolen from automobiles in the Waban district. Patrolmen Dalton and Brosnahan hastened to the scene in a police car and surprised two youths in the garage of Henry Dunning at 181 Beacon st. As the officers approached the pair fled, and the police gave pursuit. Dalton fired two shots into the air, but the fugitive he was pursuing did not stop. By reason of greater endurance, Dalton caught up with the fugitive on Neholm rd. The second youth made his escape. In the Newton court on Tuesday Forward pleaded guilty. The case was continued until October 25.

Tuesday afternoon Forward's companion surrendered to Newton police. He identified himself as Robert Henry, 20, of 62 Elm st., Saxtonville. He was arraigned in the Newton court on Wednesday and his case continued until October 25.

Suspend Sentence For Drunken Driver

In the Newton court on Monday Roger Shine, 43, of Eastern ave., Dedham, was found guilty of drunkenness and driving a car while under the influence of liquor. Patrolman J. P. Murphy testified that on the night of October 9 he and Patrolman Brayton observed a car driven by Shine going the wrong direction on the North roadway of the Worcester turnpike, and causing cars coming in the right direction to stop suddenly. Shine's attorney pleaded with Judge Mayberry not to impose a fine on his client as he is the main support for his invalid father and other relatives. Shine is a welfare investigator for the town of Dedham. Judge Mayberry imposed a jail sentence of 30 days, and then suspended the sentence.

Community Chest Contributions Coming In

Active solicitation by the Women's Division of the Newton Community Chest Campaign for $196,797.15 began yesterday. Employees of the Bond's Convenience Shop at Newton Centre were the first to contribute 100 per cent to the campaign. The Women's Division chairmaned by Mrs. Arnold C. Barker is charged with the duty of canvassing all retail business and professional offices in Newton. The Clubs and Societies Section of the division chairmaned by Mrs. B. D. Miller also began its work this week. The Women's Division expects to report its canvass completed by the opening of the general campaign on November 9. All solicitors this year will wear a bright green feather.

Another campaign division which is rapidly being organized this week is the Business Division. William N. Rich has been appointed chairman of the Business Division and he has chosen the following section chairman. Out-of-Town Firms, Herbert N. McGill; Industrial Mathew Porosky; banks, Warren N. Oliver; Building and Allied Trades, William F. White and Public Utilities, Eugene J. Campbell.

Plans for the cooperation of all religious leaders and organizations in the campaign were made at a meeting called this week by Mayor Edwin O. Childs, chairman of the Church Cooperation Committee. These attending the meeting were Rev. Bernard Winn representing Bishop Francis J. Spellman, Rev. Herbert Hitchen, president of the Newton Clergymen's Association and Rabbi Samuel N. Sherman.

At a luncheon of the Women's Division at the Brae Burn on Wednesday nearly 200 active solicitors were addressed by A. Leslie Harwood, Jr., chairman of the Campaign and L. A. Bruce, Jr., Campaign Director. Mr. Harwood in his address emphasized great need for 100 per cent support of the campaign. "Our goal is larger," he said, "than last year and we must overlook no prospect if we are to attain it. The goal is set after very careful study by the Budget Committee made up of well-known business men. It is the minimum needed to enable the 14 Chest Agencies to carry on their work effectively in 1939."

Vets Want School Named for Reilly

A delegation from Newton Veterans Council visited Mayor Childs at City Hall on Tuesday morning to urge that the new school being erected at Derby and Cherry sts., West Newton, be named the Reilly School in memory of John L. Reilly, a native of West Newton and a former resident of the neighborhood in which the school is located. Reilly was killed in action in France during the World War. The delegation included Commander John Foley of Newton Post, A. L.; Past Commanders Barry and McCarthy of that Post, and Senior Vice Commander Hunt; Wendell Mick, commander of the Sons of Union Veterans, and J. Edward Theriault, Commander of Chaplain Farrell Chapter, Disabled Veterans. The Mayor promised to take the matter under consideration. Recently the School Committee voted to recommend to the Mayor that the school be named the Wheeler School in honor of the late Lysses G. Wheeler, formerly Superintendent of Schools in this city. Mr. Wheeler died about 2 years ago at his home in Paris, Mo. In former years most of the public schools in Newton were named after outstanding citizens of this city, with a few named for nationally famous persons. Recently, however, a new school at Newtonville was named for Frank E. Carr, for many years a teacher in Newton schools.

Fire at Chest. Hill Causes Excitement

A fire in a large house at 37 Old Orchard rd., Chestnut Hill caused damage of about $5000 on Tuesday afternoon and gave a thrill to Peter Martell, an employee of Homer L. Bigelow, owner of the house, who made his escape from the burning building by climbing out of a window onto the roof, and then dropping onto the roof of a sunporch. Martell came from Peterboro, New Hampshire (where Mr. Bigelow now resides) on Wednesday morning, to do some work in the Chestnut Hill house. He was burning rubbish in the heater in the cellar, when sparks started a fire there. In the meantime, Martell had gone to the third floor of the house, and when dense smoke filled the building, Martell thought he could not escape by going down stairs, so he made his exit via the roof. The flames did considerable damage in the cellar and worked up into the front hall of the house.

and sewers, collector's fees, interest on taxes, license board fees and various other departmental income items. Also in this item is repayment by other cities and towns of welfare costs for their dependents who have been aided in Newton. This "settlement" subject would be in itself a long address.

When the taxlevy is published everyone turns first to the last line—Tax-rate. This year it is $30.20—the highest in the history of the city of Newton—but the lowest of all the thirty-nine cities in the Commonwealth. To me that is nothing to be proud of. It was attained by omitting needed appropriations—and the recent necessity of borrowing to enable us to carry on is sufficient proof. For years we have been reminded by Newton's "lowest tax-rate," but seldom, if ever, do the same ones tell that with the single exception of Boston, Newton has the highest per capita debt of all Massachusetts cities. However, that may be justified and I will touch on the point later. It should be obvious how the tax-rate is figured. Simply apportionment of $5,000,000—plus among owners of property assessed at $168,000,000—plus.

Wherein then can the Executive and Legislative departments control the cost? Let us return to the power of the Board—it is virtually only a veto power. The Board can approve or decrease an expenditure recommended by the mayor. It can only reinstate an amount which was in a previous budget—but omitted by the mayor, if in its judgment it appears to be a necessary expenditure. I shall skip the legal and technical phraseology as time-consuming. An instance of this exercise of power was the appropriation voted in 1936 to continue the office of Director of Public Works. That was a sincere conviction on the part of the Board, but became a useless gesture when the director was removed from office by the mayor!

In effect, therefore, the Board has for our purposes of discussion tonight, only approval and veto-power of an elastic degree. No creative powers as regards expenditures. Since every Board has held this restraining power, the aldermen are really the ones who deserve the credit for many of the phases of our good government.

Incidentally the Board has the same powers as regards bonded indebtedness. I would like to take a moment to speak on that phase—one which would require a whole evening to cover fully. Newton has a good record. During the past seventeen years capital bonded expenditures have totalled about $12,300,000 and net debt has increased only $4,500,000. Appropriations from revenue and issuance of bonds maturing serially is 5-10-15 years—issued and retired in whole or in large part in this seventeen-year period—account for this standing. This favorable ratio is not to be taken as a constant, applicable to any group of years. It so happens that this is the span about to be studied intensively by the Finance Committee. By no means is it to be accepted as an adopted pattern. We hope to find the right pattern, but except for the ten-year school building program, there seems to be no city-wide policy. Possibly Kalamazoo, Michigan, has the right idea. Recently they had a "Bond-fire," burning the last outstanding obligation—and thus leaving the city free from debt.

Newton's debt within the debt-limit is	$3,498,000
Outside the debt limit	3,879,000
Total Debt	$7,377,000
Net Debt	7,264,000
Per capita	$110
Net debt, excluding Water	$6,637,000
Per capita excluding Water	$100

These figures are as of October 15th and include some bond issues authorized but not sold.

I would like to say that the Finance Committee to a man is exploring every phase of Newton's problems. We are seeking all possible help. In July we had a most interesting dinner and discussion with Professor Lambie of the Graduate School of Public Administration of Harvard University. This was the beginning of what we hope will be a series of studies. Daniel A. White, Comptroller of the City of Newton, a master mind in every detail of the city's finances—gives most generously of his time outside of office hours, and I wish to give public acknowledgment of his aid.

Arrest Two Nigger Pool Agents

Angelo Placentine, 26, of 7 Durham st., Somerville and Robert Kelly, 23, of Crescent st., Cambridge, were arraigned in the Newton court last Friday. Both were charged with promoting a lottery, and Placentine was also charged with threatening a woman who resides on Dally st., Nonantum. The two were arrested in Cambridge and Somerville by Inspectors Burke, King and Hammell of the Newton police after the woman who claimed she had been threatened, had made a complaint to Chief Hughes. It was stated she had been playing the number lottery, that she owed the agents $200, and that Placentine had threatened her with violence if she did not pay. Chief Hughes advised the woman to swear out complaints against the pair. Judge Mayberry continued the cases to October 26.

Alderman McKay Talks on Newton's Financial State

In last week's GRAPHIC was printed the first part of an address delivered to the West Newton Men's Club by Donald McKay, chairman of the Finance Committee of the Newton Board of Aldermen. The address dealt with the financial problems of the City of Newton, and the methods used in financing the city's activities. The remainder of Alderman McKay's address is printed herewith.

Now let's go back quite a ways to the "City Budget and Additions." On the papers in your hands, you will find a tabulation of department appropriations and expenditures. Those columns headed "Before the Budget," "Budget" and "After the Budget, but Included in Tax Rate" are the ones which total $5,300,000—plus, shown in the assessor's calculation of the tax rate. The column headed "Surplus Appropriations" will be included in next year's taxes. Within sixty days after January first the Mayor must submit a budget to the Board. About March first it is referred to the Finance Committee. During the month this committee meets three to five times a week from five o'clock to midnight, and interviews every department head individually. We have before us in detail every expenditure of the previous year, and many times we study several years back, and we also have full details of anticipated expense for the current year. Needless to say, this is tiring, boring work but it cannot be done hurriedly.

In your hands are copies of the 1938 budget booklet which give in a detailed breakdown the sum total of the second column on your summary sheet. This booklet also gives the 1937 departmental appropriations and expenditures, the requests for 1938 by department heads, the Mayor's recommendations to the Board, and the Finance Committee's recommendations to the Board. After completion of the study the chairman of the Finance Committee reports to the Board item by item. Other committees, Public Works, Public

Peace Advocates To Hear Luce, Eliot

Congressional candidates Robert Luce and Thomas E. Eliot will appear before the Newton Peace Action Committee next Thursday evening, Nov. 3, to give their views and answer specific questions concerning their stand on vital issues of American foreign policy. The questions will be based on a list compiled by World Peaceways, famous for its colorful advertisements, and three other national peace organizations. The committee hopes to obtain yes-or-no answers as to the candidates support of measures such as stronger neutrality legislation, the war referendum, a peace-time arms embargo, naval policy, calling of a world economic conference, tariff policy, industrial mobilization, etc.

The answers of the opposing candidates for purposes of comparison will be printed in the Newton Graphic for the use of voters in this Congressional District. The committee feels that the Congress elected on November 8 may be called on to decide between peace or war for the United States, and it believes that the voters are entitled to the fullest possible information on the peace position of the candidates.

At a meeting last Sunday afternoon sponsored by the Wellesley Peace Action Committee voters packed the Community Theatre to hear Mr. Luce and Mr. Eliot explain their attitudes toward matters of foreign policy. The Newton Committee is holding its meeting at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, at the Misses Allen School for Girls, 35 Webster st., West Newton.

Also before the meeting is the question of a vastly expanded program for the next two years. Plans are under way for the establishment of Peace Action Committees in all the communities in the Newtons, and it is believed that by 1940 there will be peace-action chairmen in every ward and precinct. At an all-Newton Congress to be held after Christmas at which numerous local groups will be represented, the peace-action technique will be studied in detail and preparations made for its application in the Newtons.

Street Dept. Calls Halt on Taking Hurricane Debris

Acting Street Commissioner McCarthy on Monday asked the police to order people to stop placing hurricane debris on streets and sidewalks. For 5 weeks following the hurricane the Street Department with its own and hired trucks removed an enormous quantity of broken trees and limbs, as well as large stumps of trees from sidewalks and streets where they had been placed by private parties. But with the funds appropriated for this purpose gone, and with property owners and private contractors still placing debris on sidewalks and streets, city officials have decided it is time to call a halt.

Dr. Chope At Kansas City

Dr. Harold D. Chope, Health Officer of Newton is attending the annual convention of the American Public Health Association at Kansas City this week. He will receive, in behalf of the city, awards won by Newton for its standing in a contest sponsored by the United States Chamber of Commerce and the American Public Health Association in health control during 1937. Newton won third place for cities between 50,000 and 100,000 in the general contest; and second place in the contest for the control of tuberculosis.

Several False Alarms Sunday

After a considerable period in which Newton has been little affected by the brainless, dangerous and cowardly practice of perverted humorists who pull false alarms of fire in the darkness of nights, three false alarms were sent in within two hours early last Sunday. At 12:29 a. m. Box 921 at Parker st., Newton Centre was pulled; at 12:53 Box 34 at Waltham and Derby sts., West Newton was pulled; at 2:09 a. m. Box 281 at North and Farwell sts., Newtonville was sounded. Another false alarm was pulled from Box 921 at 2 a. m. Monday.

Arrested For Extortion

Angelo Piacentini, 26, of Durham st., Somerville appeared in the Newton court on Wednesday to answer charges of promoting a lottery and making a threat. He was again arrested on another charge of extortion. His case was continued until November 9, as was the case of Robert Kelly of Cambridge, also arrested recently with Piacentini on the lottery charge. The arrests followed a complaint made to the police by a woman residing on Dalby st., Nonantum, who said she had been playing a number pool heavily on credit, had paid $200 of losses, and that Piacentini came to her house, demanded $539 more, and threatened that if she did not pay the money by October 12 she would not see the light of day.

Community Chest Drive Opens With Dinner November 6

"Anchors Aweigh!" will be the theme song of the opening dinner of the Newton Community Chest Campaign on November 9th at the Newton High School Gymnasium when 1600 volunteer solicitors will receive their final inspiration for the appeal for the $196,797.00 necessary to maintain Newton's 14 Health and Social Agencies. The good ship "Campaign" will be launched for a successful voyage planned to reach its "Home port" by November 22.

Planned to follow a close schedule, all addresses will be brief and the meeting will close early with the traditional tableau. Assisting Mr. Brier in making the arrangements are: Mrs. William V. M. Fawcett, Miss Ruth Perkins, Miss Ann Schipper, Fay Roope and Louis Hafermehl.

During the past week the Women's Division under the Chairmanship of Mrs. Arnold C. Barker has been conducting a pre-campaign canvass of all retail stores and professional offices. Mrs. B. D. Miller is in charge of soliciting clubs and societies. The Women's Division expects to complete its work by the opening of the general campaign on November 9th.

Oliver; Building and Allied Trade, William F. White; Public Utilities, Eugene J. Campbell.

Ward School Yard For Smaller Boys

The Playground Department of Newton has issued an order restricting the use of the playground at the Ward School to children under 12 years of age. An employee of the department has been assigned to enforce this rule. The rule resulted from the fact that the small boys attending the school had frequently been forced off the playground by larger boys and school officials had to call police to eject the big boys. Residents of the district near the Ward School petitioned several months ago for a larger playground in that section.

Ed Proctor Wins Verdict For State

Edward O. Proctor of Newton Centre, First Assistant Attorney General, won a signal victory on Wednesday when the full bench of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts found for the State in litigation over the payment of $481,380 for the franchise of the former Boston & Worcester Street Railway between Brookline and Framingham. The full bench overturned the action of Judge Joseph Walsh of the Superior Court, who on June 9, 1937 ruled that the State owed the owners of the Boston & Worcester franchise $363,306 plus interest, amounting to $481,380.

In 1932 Frank Lyman, then Commissioner of Public Works, and Richard Hale, associate commissioner, signed a contract with the Boston & Worcester street railway company to purchase the franchise between Brookline and Framingham so that the Worcester turnpike might be completed between those two towns. The railway franchise between Framingham and Worcester had already been purchased by the State. The franchise had been bought several years before by a group for a small sum. The Boston & Worcester Street Railway had gone into a State receivership, only a few cars had been run on the road, its passenger traffic had become slight, and buses were being operated by the company. The warrant for the payment of the big sum to the B & W Company under the contract signed by Public Works Commissioner Lyman, came before the Governor's Council under "miscellaneous expenses" and was detected by the then Lieut. Governor William Youngman. Under Youngman's lead, the Governor's Council refused to authorize the payment, and Youngman made this matter a campaign issue when he ran later for Governor against Joseph Ely.

The Legislature subsequently voted to give the owners of the franchise the right to bring suit before the State Supreme Court for a damage award on the surrender of the franchise, but the Boston & Worcester owners refused to follow this procedure, entered suit in the Superior Court on the basis of a contract award made by Commissioner Lyman. Judge Walsh, sitting without a jury, rendered the verdict against the State. Mr. Proctor, who handled the case for the State before Judge Walsh, took exceptions to the latter's decision, arguing that the Department of Public Works had no authority for the surrender of the franchise, and that the contract was void. The full bench of the Supreme Court by agreeing with Mr. Proctor's contention saves the State from paying nearly a half million dollars for a franchise allegedly worth comparatively little.

Hopewell Leaves $200,000 to M.I.T.

Charles F. Hopewell of Watertown, and formerly of Newton, who died last week, provided in his will that after the death of his widow, and his sister, the larger part of his estate, amounting to about $200,000, will revert to the Mass. Institute of Technology. One half will be used for technical and scientific education, and the other half will be known as the Hopewell Fund.

Drivers of Car That Hit Babies Found Not Guilty

In the Newton court last Friday Mrs. Katherine Ogilvie of Oakwood rd., Newtonville was found not guilty of driving an automobile so as to endanger the safety of the public. A similar complaint against her daughter, Marjorie Ogilvie, 16, was dismissed. On Saturday, October 1, about 11 a. m., the Ogilvie girl was being taught to drive an automobile by her mother. She drove the car east on Otis st., Newtonville and at Walnut st. made a sharp right turn. Mrs. Rose Murphy, of Whittington rd., Newtonville was pushing a stroller along the street, close to the curb, as the sidewalk was blocked by men working on trees. In the stroller were Mrs. Murphy's two children, one 13 months old, the other 2½ years. The automobile hit the stroller, hurling both tots out, and knocked the mother down. The Ogilvie girl testified that she had driven the car about a half dozen times before the day of the accident, and that the car ran onto the sidewalk after hitting the stroller. Mrs. Ogilvie testified that she seized the steering wheel and pulled the emergency brake in an effort to avoid the accident. Judge J. C. Papas, special justice of the Gloucester court heard the case. He commented, in finding Mrs. Ogilvie not guilty, that it was just an unfortunate accident and the evidence did not warrant a finding of guilty. He remarked that there was a certain amount of negligence which would have a bearing in a civil case.

Hurled Tomatoes At Buses, Case Filed

Herman Hoffman, 19, of 1601 Centre st., Newton Highlands, was arraigned in the Newton court last Monday on a charge of disorderly conduct. Patrolman Green testified that on the afternoon of October 15 as buses containing Brockton High School students passed through Newton Highlands on their way home from the football game with Newton high school's team, Hoffman, who had obtained tomatoes at a nearby store, hurled the vegetables at the buses. Hoffman pleaded "nolo," and Judge Donald Mayberry placed the case on file after admonishing Hoffman with the remark—"Can't you take a beating without getting sore about it?"

School Committee Discusses Newton Brockton Feud

At the meeting of the School Committee on Monday night the matter of rowdiness in connection with football contests between teams of Newton High School and Brockton High School was discussed. Before the recent game on October 13 boys from Brockton came to Newtonville and smeared B. H. letters on walks near the Newton High School buildings, and on a well near the technical school. On October 13, following the game, a window in a bus carrying Brockton students was broken by a stone at Newtonville, and at Newton Highlands other Brockton buses were the targets of tomatoes hurled by a Newton Highlands young man, who later was hailed into the Newton court. School Committee member Harry Bryant called attention to the fact that other outbreaks of rowdiness had occurred between rooters of the two school teams in past years, and he suggested that it might be well to sever athletic relations between the schools. Supt. of Schools Warren stated that officials of the two school departments had conferred and steps had been taken to end undesirable outbreaks of partisanship between pupils and supporters of the two schools, and it is believed that in the future relations will be amicable.

Supt. Warren informed the committee that he had decided not to close the Lincoln School for the remainder of this school year, as had been planned. The savings effected by sending the pupils now attending the school to the Underwood School would amount to about $1000, but as the new school on Pearl st. is expected to be ready by the beginning of the next school year, and objections had been taken to the smaller children being transferred, the Lincoln School will continue for its 85th and final year. The reason for the proposal to abandon it now, was that only 26 pupils are attending it this year.

The School Committee voted to accept the report of the sub-committee which recommended against providing free transportation for pupils from the Woodcliff rd. section to the new Oak Hill school. A sidewalk will be constructed along the new road which leads to the school from Parker st. The resignation of Mrs. Jean Schwartz, teacher of English at the Warren junior high school was accepted. Margaret Sutcliffe of Charlesbank rd., Newton, who has been building assistant at the school, was appointed (Continued on Page 3)

THE NEW DEAL THREATENS

The New Deal threatens the ninth Congressional district of Massachusetts. Months ago it was foretold in Washington that the national administration would center a part of its fight upon Congressman Robert Luce. Mr. Luce is a key man in the Republican minority of Congress and the Republican member with the longest service upon the Committee on Banking and Currency. The retention of Mr. Luce's services in the next congress are not only desirable but of utmost importance. With government running into debt daily and borrowing repeatedly upon the future as well as using Social Security funds for current operating expenses the question of expenditures is one of vital importance.

We are aware of the growing sentiment that Mr. Luce should relinquish the seat he has held in Congress for many years, but on election day there can be only one question which the voters must face. A victory for Mr. Luce's opponent will be capitalized to its fullest possibilities as an endorsement of the New Deal in a district that is traditionally Republican and heretofore (and we hope still) has been regarded as anti-New Deal with the exception of the two-year term when Congressman Russell was in the National House of Representatives.

We are also aware of the fact that a part of the anti-Luce sentiment among certain Republicans is due to his vote against the Wage-Hour Law and, although minimized by the passage of time, over his vote against repeal. This latter question we have previously sustained in that Mr. Luce stated that he would vote for repeal only when guaranteed that the saloon would not be permitted to return—this the Republican party platform did not incorporate. As to the Wage-Hour Law Mr. Luce's attitude is explained when it was reported that on the first day it became effective some 80,000 workers were thrown out of employment and it is probable that this number will be increased to several hundred thousand when the total figures are known. Mr. Luce is not against the principal of the Wage-Hour bill, but believes that a wiser law would have been of more benefit to all labor and industry. Mr. Luce is conversant enough with labor and tariff questions as well as with many other matters of vital importance to the voters of the ninth congressional district that we have no hesitation in giving our unqualified support to him in his contest against Thomas Eliot, who, it may be said without contradiction, is representative of the New Deal.

RETAIN ANNUAL SESSIONS OF THE LEGISLATURE

On the ballot at the State Election a week from next Tuesday the voters will be called upon to express their opinion on several important questions of the day. The first of these questions will decide whether or not the Massachusetts Legislature shall continue to meet every year or whether it shall meet every other year. A "yes" vote will approve biennial sessions and a "no" vote will retain annual meetings.

We have frequently, during the past several years, when the question of placing this matter before the voters was under consideration by the legislature, expressed our opinion at some length in favor of the retention of annual sessions. Now that the final decision is at hand we can only reiterate our belief that the adoption of biennial sessions would be a mistake. Advocates of this form of government claim savings over the cost of annual sessions, fewer changes and additions to state laws, and to the fact that no state has rejected biennial sessions after once adopting them. We firmly believe that there will be little if any economical advantage thru the fact that, as in other states, legislative salaries will be increased (as they have been over the veto of two Republican governors in the past two decades) that annual sessions make for more carefully considered laws, and that under the biennial system that more frequent special sessions will be made necessary. We add to these reasons the certainty that biennial sessions will increase the trend of the delegation of powers to various departments. The adoption of a two-year budget in these trying times, will also provide a situation wherein government will fall to a further low level should, by chance, we do not elect honest, conscientious, and sincere individuals to high office. Vote NO on biennial sessions.

PARIMUTUEL BETTING AND LIQUOR LICENSES

Other questions of referenda are those pertaining to the continuation of the pari-mutuel system of betting on the racing of horses and dogs, and the usual three questions pertaining to the licensing of the sale of liquor. Despite the fact that racing and liquor sales have brought considerable revenue to the coffers of the state through taxation we have not changed our opinion that the effect of these practices is a detriment to the improved moral character of the citizenry of Massachusetts. Vote NO on all questions under these two major headings.

THE RIGHT OF CONTROL

Another state-wide referendum on the election ballot is the question of whether or not taxicab stands shall be open to all such owners and operators. On the surface it is a simple question and many persons, without thinking might well feel that all taxicabs should be granted the same privileges. However, under our present system each city and town has the right to control these privileges and in most cities two types of stands are permitted, a public stand which may be occupied by any properly licensed taxi and a special stand which can only be occupied by cabs of a certain company or individual. There is a definite reason for these special privileges. Public buildings, hospitals, railroad stations, and other transportation terminals must be assured of taxicab facilities and the special stands require that cabs be available at all times. Starters are also maintained by taxicab companies who know the names of all drivers of their company. Furthermore the public is better protected through the fact that when necessary it can be ascertained what cab and to what destination a person is taken. With these stands open to all drivers it would be impossible to obtain this knowledge. For ten years legislation seeking the abolition of special stands has been defeated by the legislature and special committees appointed to consider it have eventually opposed the proposal. If the voters are anxious to retain their present control over the situation there will be an overwhelming NO vote on this question.

LABORERS' VACATIONS AND MARRIED WOMEN EMPLOYEES

The remaining two questions of referenda on the ballot for voters of Newton are those pertaining to the vacations of laborers, mechanics and craftsmen employed in the city of Newton and a question of public policy under which the voters are asked to instruct their Representatives in the General Court to vote for or against legislation seeking to prevent married women from public employment. In the issue of last week we discussed at some length the question of vacations for laborers and we shall only reiterate our belief that these employees should be treated on a par with other city employees and granted this privilege. Vote YES on this question.

The question of married women with public employment is one which is of growing concern. As a legislator we shall be guided by the opinion which the majority of voters of Newton will express on this question. Under existing economic conditions it might well be in order to limit the employment of women, whose husbands are gainfully employed and capable of supporting their wives and families. Yet the determination of the limit of income is a problem which is extremely difficult of solution. On the other hand it is obvious that a restriction of this kind might well be a direct violation of the spirit of the constitution of the United States. Many of our readers doubtless have already formed their opinion upon this question and we shall await their decision with interest.

Politicalight

By THE EDITOR

The state election campaign has swung into its final ten days. At present writing it can be definitely stated that Leverett Saltonstall is out in front in his effort to repulse the attempt of ex-Governor James M. Curley to control Massachusetts destinies. Ahy supported by Horace T. Cahill, candidate for lieutenant governor, and the remainder of the Republican ticket, it is also believed that the G.O.P. has a good chance of recapturing most of the state-wide elective offices. In some doubt, however, are the contests for Attorney General and State Auditor, in which present Attorney General Paul Dever and present Auditor Thomas Buckley are given the edge. It is not yet too late for the Republican party to gain sufficient strength to win in these two instances.

Neither is it too late for Mr. Curley to win. Always known as a strong finisher, Mr. Curley is far from being counted out. Republican success still depends upon numerous unpredictable circumstances. A huge vote, particularly in the many small towns of the Commonwealth, is one of the necessary factors and the Republican state committee is preparing effective plans for getting out practically every possible vote on election day.

It is still uncertain as to the amount of support Mr. Curley will receive from the many thousands of independent voters in this state who may yet be weaned away from Saltonstall by the oratorical powers of his opponent and by the latter's rigorous attacks on Mr. Saltonstall.

Meanwhile it is apparent that Saltonstall will receive more support from Democrats than any other Republican candidate for governor in many years. Every day reports come to Republican headquarters throughout the state that this lifelong Democrat and that former Democratic supporter are not only voting for Saltonstall but the entire Republican ticket as well.

Another factor in the contest still remains. There is a rift in the Democratic party that has not been healed and as the time progresses it is extremely doubtful if it is smoothed out before election day. Governor Hurley's best opportunity to come out in support of the Democratic ticket was at the Democratic dinner the other evening. Observers state that this occasion would have been the least embarrassing for him, yet he remained quiet. At the dinner James Farley warmly lauded ex-Governor Curley and the remainder of the Democratic ticket but Senator Walsh and others confined their remarks to the ticket and in support of a unified party and noticeably refrained from mentioning Mr. Curley's name.

The special session of the legislature this week, called to provide relief funds for emergency work caused by the hurricane and flood, also provides an interesting angle to the campaign. Governor Hurley was well received and his message given prompt and concerted action by a Republican legislature. There was some question as to whether public hearings would be held upon the proposed bond issue and it was also rumored that Mr. Curley would appear at such a hearing. The opportunity to do so was denied when the Ways and Means Committee did all of its work in private sessions in which department heads, the Emergency Commission members were the only persons interviewed. Had Mr. Curley been present at public hearings it is obvious that we would have had an opportunity to make political capital. Had the committee reported measures which he advocated, he would have used it to his advantage, and had they not adopted his suggestions he would have been in a position to severely criticize the Republican committee. Another angle to the session is that had the matter been delayed it would easily have gone over until after election day which would have given the Democratic candidate the opportunity to attempt to convince the electorate that the Republican party was not as sincere in providing relief as it doubtless is.

Sunbeam Chats

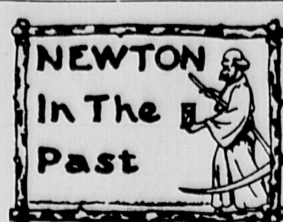

Every day I get gladder I belong to my Mother and Daddy, and not to someone else's. Y'know that Jerry's mother, she yells at him all the time through a meal. B'lieve me, I'd throw up my food, too, if my mother scolded me every minute trying to make me eat. But my Mother's good. She lets me feed myself, and she doesn't stand over me ev'ry second. I 'preciate her after seeing Jerry's mother.

The free evening school in the Lincoln school building opens on Monday evening, November 5.

S. B. Sargent's dancing class for young ladies and gentlemen opens next Friday at Cole's Hall, Newton.

Whitefield, the humorist, entertained a large audience at Eliot Hall Monday evening with his wonderful impersonations.

On and after Thursday next the fare from Newton to Boston will be 13 cents; 10 ride tickets, $1.17; 100 ride $8.75.

Dr. H. G. Davis, who has lately taken up his residence in this city, is a physician of long experience, and is well recommended for the successful treatment of chronic diseases.

General Ben Butler was received at Eliot Hall, Newton, on Thursday night by the largest audience ever gathered there, fully 1500 being present, including a large number of ladies. Through some neglect not enough police were on hand to control the crowd and a number of men rushed into the ladies gallery, almost crushing its unfortunate occupants. General Butler entered the hall at 8 o'clock amid a storm of applause. His speech occupied two hours, holding the undivided attention of the audience, a fourth of whom were Republicans. In opening he said he would not attempt to answer calumnies, a few of which hurt a man, while a great mass of indiscriminate lies did him good. He reviewed his political career, touched upon the failure of the Legislature to carry out any of his recommendations, and closed with the history of the Tewksbury almshouse investigation, styling it the crowning glory of his administration. He showed the famous piece of tanned human skin bearing the picture of the Crucifixion and the name of the Swede who had died at Tewksbury.

Thursday evening of last week the residence of Beriah Billings at Mechanic st., Upper Falls, presented a scene of festivity. Members of the family, relatives and a few invited guests gathered to partake of a clam chowder which Mr. and Mrs. Billings provided, and which was worthy of its name. After supper came beautiful display of fireworks under the supervision of Bernard Billings which was witnessed from surrounding hills by many of the village people, who thought at first it was a political demonstration. Fire balloons sent up, was a leading feature. They drifted north and more would have been sent up had it not been feared that such a light in the clouds might have caused someone to send in a fire alarm from one of the Ward 6 boxes. The entertainment closed at a late hour with a Shaker dance, and the event of the evening, an old-time shake-down by Charles Bancroft.

C. J. Bailey has begun the erection of his new residence on Brighton Hill, Newton, nearly opposite Copple st. The Hunnewell Hill section is having a decided boom in the way of handsome new houses.

There is said to be a general feeling among parents of pupils who attend the Bigelow School in favor of one session. They think the afternoon session on short winter days does not amount to much, while it prevents the children from having any time to be out of doors during the pleasant part of the day. The one session plan has proved a great success at the Prince School in Boston.

Mr. Heman Burr, president of the Common Council, has been mentioned in connection with the nomination for next Mayor of Newton. He would make a popular candidate. He has been 2 years in the council and has made an excellent record. The older men are showing such a disinclination to accept office that it would be an excellent thing this year to make a decided change and put up some young man who is well acquainted with city affairs and against whom no objection can be brought. Mr. Burr is a native of Newton, a graduate of Newton schools and has a large acquaintance among the younger voters.

A genuine surprise was given the residents of this city on Monday when it became known that Edwin O. Childs, Jr. had consented to run as an independent candidate for Mayor, and that the Democratic city committee had endorsed his candidacy. Mr. Childs has always been a Republican, but he has been urged to run by so many friends that he has finally consented to their wishes.

The fumes of gas arising from 150 tons of soft coal which had become heated, were so strong and disagreeable yesterday in the Mason School, Newton Centre, that the school was dismissed for the day. Samuel Paul, principal of the school, detected the odor of gas several days ago, and the smell grew stronger each day. When the pupils assembled yesterday, Mr. Paul found conditions such that he dismissed the school, and a gang of men started at once to shovel the coal out into the yard.

Powers' Paragraphs

Our friend, Joseph Pink, who for the past 10 years conducted an upholstery shop across the street from the GRAPHIC office, passed from this life on October 24. Despite his 76 years, Mr. Pink actively carried on his business until the past couple of weeks although he had been visibly failing in health for several months. "Joe" Pink was a pleasant, little man with a keen sense of kindly humor, and a simple philosophy. He was unusually religious and industrious, and occasionally liked to reminisce on his service as a youth in the cavalry of the old German army. We shall miss the friendly greeting and smile of Mr. Pink.

On the ballot which will be handed to voters in this city at the election on November 8 will be nine questions. One of these referenda will be headed—"Question of Public Policy." It will read as follows—"Shall the Representative from this district be instructed to vote in favor of Legislation barring from employment, in the public service, married women whose husbands are employed?" This is a question which has grown rapidly in importance during the past nine years of depression. It will continue to grow. The writer has not expressed in this column his personal attitude on this question, and will not.

But we shall express our opinion on the action of the Trustees of the Newton Free Library in connection with the coming referendum on the employment of married women in public service. Last Tuesday a Newton resident informed us that on that day she had gone to the public library at Newton to obtain a book, and that as the book was handed to her, the attendant at the library inserted in the book a card shaped like a book-mark. On the card was printed—

"THE NEWTON FREE LIBRARY"

"has always been free from outside interference. The Trustees hope that YOU will assist in keeping it so by VOTING on November 8 to help retain the excellent services of the MARRIED WOMEN of the Library Staff."

The person who gave us the card expressed resentment at this political activity on the part of the Library Trustees and employees, and we readily agreed.

Wednesday morning we met one of the Library trustees, told of receiving the piece of political propaganda, and stated that we thought the library trustees are not only wrong from an ethical viewpoint in sponsoring the printing and distribution of the cards in question, but probably have no legal right to do so. We gave the following reasons. The Newton Free Library is a public institution supported almost entirely by the City of Newton. It was incorporated in 1871 by a group of Newton citizens, and in 1876 was given to the city on condition that it be maintained forever as a free library. The trustees are appointed by the Mayor to serve for a specified term of years without pay. The Newton Free Library is public property, both the building and the books it contains and distributes. Its employees are paid from public funds.

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

Who's Got the Buttons?

Although I am not like those who would have political campaigns often and longer for the sake of wearing buttons with a candidate's name thereon, I have an idea that walking about with a display of one's sentiments is not a bad idea. The wearer proves his individualism is still intact, which these days means a good deal with so much soft-shoe diplomacy and back-sliding among prime ministers.

I believe, however, a voter should not be persuaded, cajoled or bullied into putting on a button. If won over by argument that is tip-top, for such a man is certain to be enthusiastic. I object forcefully to having a button pinned on without my knowledge if it happens to be a candidate for whom I would not vote under any circumstances. Yet I was the victim of such a hoax. One of my friends managed, by the familiar gesture of placing his arm around my shoulders, to fix securely on the back of my coat collar the button of a man whose name is enough to start many people spouting fire. I wore it for nearly an hour in blissful ignorance and have no idea how many friends I lost.

Now such a jest is no more than part of every campaign, I'll admit, and may be the source of that old saying, "bright as a button." But I'm not recommending it.

Kept His Word, But—

No doubt you've found it's difficult to get away from politics these days and so another reference to the campaign will be pardoned. I trust a strong partisan in our midst and the only one holding certain political beliefs in the office where he is employed was being razed by his colleagues. Finally he accepted a dare to place on his automobile a sticker of their party, providing they'd lay off. A bit incredulous the others drifted around to the parking lot next day to see if he had kept his word. He had but by pasting the sticker on the exhaust pipe, which, if you don't happen to know the anatomy of a car is underneath and out of sight.

Hallowe'en Mystery

There is a friend of mine who has declared war on any and all Hallowe'en pranksters who may visit his premises next Monday night. In the funds. We told the trustee, that in our opinion, these employees should not, while on duty in the library, hand to patrons or place in library books, cards designed to influence citizens on a referendum which will be voted on at a State (or city) election, and that the trustees had no right to order or approve this political activity on the part of the library employees. We stated that if the School Committee imitated the action of the Library trustees, they would have similar political propaganda printed, and given to school teachers, so that the teachers might distribute the propaganda to their pupils to take to the latter's homes and parents. Or the Board of Health might use the nurses employed by the Health Department to distribute literature asking people to vote against the referendum on married women. We mentioned the fact that the city laborers and mechanics of Newton are responsible for a referendum that will be voted on in Newton on November 8 asking that they be given a two weeks' vacation, and we asked whether or not it would be proper for the city employees to place large placards on city owned trucks advocating "Yes" votes on this referendum?

We commented that in recent years it has been increasingly feared that with the rapidly growing armies of Federal, State and municipal employees in this country, the day is not far distant when they will have sufficient numerical strength to control both elections and legislation, and that the action of the Library trustees would provide an argument for persons who are apprehensive of such control. At almost every election citizens have to decide on referenda placed on ballots. If the precedent started by the Library trustees should be followed in future years by members of the Board of Aldermen, School Committee, or members of appointive boards of this or other cities, where would this new political practice end?

We spoke with the City Solicitor regarding the legal phase of the library trustees action, and while that competent official knew of no statute prohibiting the activity of the trustees, and he was informed by a library official that the money for the printing of the cards urging the rejection of the referendum came from a private fund, he corroborated with Mayor Childs on the matter. We later agreed with us that in his opinion the trustees had made a mistake, regarding the printing and distributing of the cards. He said he would advise the trustees to abandon this activity.

We also spoke with Librarian Julius Lucht, and expressed to him the views we have mentioned here. Mr. Lucht thought that the printing and distribution of the cards with the approval of the Library trustees is proper. He stated that heretofore the library has inserted bookmarks in books, said bookmarks requesting persons receiving the books not to damage them, and that these bookmarks were paid for by various business firms because of their advertising value to the firm paying for them. We past he has borne his troubles with patience and in silence. That spirit is no longer within him. "One hurricane this year was enough," he declared. "On previous Hallowe'ens they've carried off my piazza chairs, smashed the fence, damaged the lawn and done other things that may have been fun for them, but certainly not for me. This year things are going to be different. I shall not ask help from the police and don't expect it. What I'm going to do would surprise you."

"And what is that?" I asked expectantly.

"Shan't tell, not you or anybody because it may not work out. If it is successful you shall have my formula for 1939."

That was every bit I could get out of him. He has aroused my interest and I wish I knew what he is up to. If I wasn't afraid of getting mixed up in it I think I would hang around his place Hallowe'en just to satisfy my inquisitiveness.

Puzzled Bystander

Exhortation surrounds us. We are becoming enguaged by advice. We turn on the radio and there is a voice that counsels about something in our daily lives—diet, dentistry or whatnot. The mail brings us circulars brimming over with suggestions. In the daily press columnists sagely interpret passing events for our guidance. On the street, at our homes and in places of business we are urged by word and deed to go hear soandso, who will expound the truth about this, that or the other. Everybody, or nearly everybody has a message. Is it our good fortune and I, as one of those who fails to appreciate that fact, must be so dense? What of the old fashioned theory of a leader for every flock whose wisdom was imparted to us once we were? Why should so many tongues be wagging and so many pens scribbling? Frankly, I am bewildered.

Pays $50 Fine For Bad Driving

Gregory Russo of 13 Cook st., Nonantum, pleaded guilty in the Superior Court at Cambridge last Friday on a charge of driving to endanger, and paid a $50 fine. On August 20 a car driven by Russo hit a 4 year old boy on West st., Nonantum. Russo was fined $50 in the Newton court by Judge Weston and appealed.

In the Newton court last Friday 6 women motorists and one man were each fined $3 for not having obtained stickers in the recent drive to show that their cars were properly equipped. The complainant was Motorcycle Officer O'Donnell. Those fined included Katherine Taylor, Colbert rd., West Newton; Marion Houlihan, 37 Commonwealth ave., Chestnut Hill; Anna Dalton, Royal ave., Cambridge; Pauline Gerard, Pigeon Hill rd., Auburndale; Cornelia Lombard, Needham; Ruth Turk, Roxbury; William Bromfield, 166 Sumner st., Newton Centre. Ronald Ross of 76 Bennington st., Newton, was fined $5 for driving after his license had expired. John Rourke of Cornell st., Lower Falls was fined $5 for disregarding a traffic signal. William Cusumano of Weston was fined $5 for speeding.

Suspicious Fire At West Newton

A fire and explosion in a new house at 27 Fernwood rd., West Newton, last Friday night caused Chief Randlett of the Newton fire department to notify the State Fire Marshal's office. When the firemen arrived in response to an alarm at 8:56 they found that the flames had spread rapidly, that an explosion had occurred which bulged the walls of the house, and they also found rolls of cellophane and candles in rooms. Mario Pelargonio of 209 Arlington st., Watertown, was in the house when the explosion occurred and the fire started. He was burned on his left foot, and escaped from the house by jumping from a second-story window. Pelargonio told Serg. Sullivan of the Newton police that he was cleaning the floors and woodwork of the house with gasoline and turpentine, and ignited a match to light a cigarette when the explosion occurred. The house is owned by Emanuel Capobianco of Arlington st., Watertown. The damage was estimated at $3500. Inspector O'Neil of the State Fire Marshal's office was assigned to the case and a hearing was held on Wednesday.

Newton Dancing Pupil Gets Movie Contract

Hollywood's newest discovery—a six year old girl whose combination of long curls, sunny smile, and dancing feet captured movie scouts, and resulted in a six-picture movie contract is a Newton girl.

Little Alicia Adams—for that is her new movie name—was for the past two years a dancing pupil of Hazel Sands-Welch, whose School of Dancing and Dramatics in Newtonville sq. has just opened its fall season.

 Whose Dancing Protegee, the Little Alicia Adams, made good in Hollywood.

Those who have attended recent Sands-Welch School recitals will remember the little star as Alike Laganas—the tiny and lovely solo dancer who captured the hearts of Newton audiences.

Hazel Sands-Welch, who, as well as her protegee, has spent the entire summer in Hollywood, studying dancing and conditioning under movie star teachers, brings to her Newton school the latest dance steps and routines—fresh material that already is finding classroom favor.

Included on the Sands-Welch

School staff are Mr. Donald Berry—a pupil of Arthur Murray, Miss Harriet Dane who studied with Ned Wayburn and with the famous Chalf School in New York; and Mrs. William Brackett whose work in the Lealand Powers School of the Theater is well known.

Fined $50 For Not Stopping

Harry Barnes, 28, of 56 Gardner st., Newton was fined $50 by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Wednesday. Patrolman Jenkins testified he signalled Barnes to stop at the intersection of Washington and Adams st., and when the defendant failed to do so, Jenkins notified police headquarters. Patrolman Whelan, who brought Barnes to police headquarters to see Jenkins, testified that the defendant was very drunk. Upon hearing this testimony, Sergeant King who was prosecuting the case, asked Judge Mayberry to issue a complaint against Barnes for driving while under the influence of liquor. The judge declined to do so, stating that the police should have asked for this complaint before the defendant came to trial. He then imposed the $50 fine on Barnes and remarked — "He can thank his lucky stars that he was not charged with driving while under the influence of liquor."

In court the same day Robert Allen of 37 Playstead rd., Newton was fined $3 for parking a car without proper lights; Vernald Fox of Attleboro was fined $3 for entering a through way without stopping; John Glynkraft of Lynn was fined $5 for speeding.

W. C. T. U.

The West Newton W. C. T. U. held a fellowship supper in the parlors of the Auburndale Congregational Church on last Tuesday evening. The delicious home-cooked supper was in charge of Miss Susie Johnson, Miss Florence Hart and Miss Ella Hall. Following the supper there was community singing and Mrs. Reba Hoath sang "Be the Best You Can" and "My Task." Miss Mildred Yates gave a very impressive talk on "Our Task." Dr. N. Louise Rand gave a talk on "Membership" and made a plea for more members.

We Invite You to "PONDBROOK"

A TWO-ACRE ESTATE

WHITE OAK ROAD at CLIFF ROAD

Cliff Estates, Wellesley Hills

A "bit of old England" high in the Wellesley Hills, best describes "Pondbrook," a truly fine home, dignified and spacious without being pretentious, and with the air of a medieval manor surrounded by ancestral acres.

Living in such a home would be a source of unending joy, whether the simple life of a country squire or entertaining extensively is the aim of its ultimate owner.

A replica of a baronial castle in Surrey, England, the house of mellow brick with heavy timbering and weathered shutters has its beauty mirrored in the pond below the terrace. A pause on the bridge which spans the brook reveals a waterfall spilling over a dam into the pond below. Skirting the pond and climbing the slopes, a pathway has been smoothed to make a ramble over the estate a pleasure, and to blaze a trail to the barbecue "snack-shack" for a weenie roast, or charcoal-broiled steaks, when the crowd drops in on the cook's day out.

In fact, there are infinite opportunities here for dispensing gracious hospitality . . . tea on the terrace; a cozy tete-a-tete with a friend or with books in the secluded library while the ladies enjoy the delightful formality of the Tudor drawing room with the glow from the firelight picking out the highlights and caressing the fine patina of the hand-carved oak which panels the living room to the ceiling.

The morning room would tempt the breakfast-in-bed person to make an early morning appearance; while dining "en famille" or with guests would be a pleasure in the spacious dining room.

The kitchen? A woman's Paradise . . . whether mistress or maid . . . for besides cupboards galore for utilities, there are numerous glass-enclosed cabinets for fine Wedgwood and Spode and crystal. Upstairs there is a master suite, with dressing room and private bath and four other family bedrooms (every one of twin bed size) and with adjoining or connecting glass-tiled baths, besides the maid's suite with bath.

"The Wheat Sheaf Inn" with thatched roof makes a novel recreation room in the basement. This entire home shows more eloquently than words can describe, the careful, thoughtful planning of a woman with original ideas and good taste . . . one who knows the needs of the efficient, modern homemaker.

Monel metal in the kitchen; a General Electric Oil Furnace with an estimated heating cost of $253 a year (which includes domestic hot water); rock wool insulation, a garage for 3 cars, electric fixtures by Chase Brass and Lightolier and an incinerator, add the ultimate touch to this fine home.

May we welcome you to "Pondbrook" . . . TODAY?

to succeed Mrs. Schwartz. Miss Sutcliffe is a graduate of the Newton schools and Radcliffe. Dorothea Duane, a teacher at the Burr School, was given a leave of absence from November 1 to January 1. She is to be married. Helen Finnerty of Braemore rd., Newton was appointed a clerk in the guidance office at Newton High School to succeed Daisy Pili-man, who has resigned. She is also a Radcliffe graduate.

Supt. Warren informed the committee that the average weekly attendance at the lectures of the parent education course has been 650.

The committee accepted the report of a sub-committee appointed to decide on the use of halls in school buildings for political purposes. The report is as follows:—

1. The application should be by a responsible individual who is a citizen of Newton or by a responsible organization, such as a City or Ward Committee, Good Government Club, Village Improvement Society, Women's Club or Men's Club, or similar organizations of recognized standing. The use of buildings should only be granted if it is deemed "in the interest of the community."

2. Such meetings must be open to the public, without admission charge, no contributions or solicitations of funds to be made, and nothing to be sold on the premises.

3. The meetings may be either open or closed—that is, the applicants shall have the right, if they so desire, to select the speakers, or they may throw the meeting open to any and all candidates.

4. Wages for janitors, police, fireman and other necessary protection must be paid in advance to the persons employed.

5. Application should first be submitted to the Superintendent's Office for certification that such use will not interfere with the proper function of the schools and then submitted to the local member of the School Committee for necessary approval.

Needham Youths Hurt in Car Crash

A car driven by Leonard Murphy, 17, of Kingsbury st., Needham, collided at 10:20 Saturday night at Centre st., near Locksley rd., Newton Centre with a car driven by Arthur Brown of 1456 Centre st. Murphy received slight injuries. Patricia Marston of 1335 Highland ave., Needham, who was riding with Murphy, and Russell Gately of Manning st., Needham, also a passenger in the car, received cuts and bruises and were taken to the Newton Hospital. According to the police, the car driven by young Murphy skidded for about 120 feet before hitting Brown's car, then continued on for about 50 feet, and hit two trees, knocking one down. The police asked for a complaint against Murphy.

Motorist Fined $70, Appeals

In the Newton court on Monday Judge Mayberry fined Frank V. Best, 23, of New York City, a total of $70; $35 for driving while under the influence of liquor, $25 for not stopping when signalled to do so by a policeman, $5 for drunkenness, and $5 for speeding. Patrolman Smith testified that on Sunday night he observed Best speeding along Washington st., near Adams st., and blew his whistle. When Best failed to stop, he was pursued by Motorcycle Officer McGrath. The drunkenness and speeding charges were placed on file, until Best's attorney appeared the other charges. Then, Best was fined on all four charges.

Auto Victim Still Fighting For Life

Edward Chalmers, 15, of Jamaica rd., Brookline, who was hit by an automobile on the Worcester turnpike on the night of October 14 while riding his bicycle, is still hovering between life and death at the Newton Hospital. The boy's skull was so severely fractured that he has been unconscious most of the time since the accident, and he is paralyzed.

Sea Scouts

Parents' Night will be observed by Ship 13, Wednesday evening, November 2, at the ship on Watertown st., West Newton. There will be appropriate exercises and demonstrations by the crew. The guest speaker will be Lieut. T. F. Halloran, United States Navy, now stationed at Charlestown Navy Yard.

The building now occupied by Ship 13 was vacated by Newton Water Department about 1891 when a new supply building was constructed at the corner of Edinboro and Watertown sts. The Veteran Firemen's Association then arranged through Mayor Cobb to buy the old building, and it was removed from Austin st., Newtonville to its present site. Soon after the close of the World War the Association sold it to a group of public spirited citizens organized as Boys Welfare League, Inc. That corporation still has title, and Ship 13 is favored with the use of the entire building as a meeting place.

Auto Smashes Pole On Commth. Ave.

A car driven by Paul Mancovitz of 16 Ramson rd., Brighton, hit an electric light pole opposite 842 Commonwealth ave., Newton Centre, on Wednesday night, knocking down the pole. The car was considerably damaged. Mancovitz told the police that he lost control of the car when cigarette ashes blew into his eye.

WHEN you've got something mighty good and know it, it's not easy to pass it up even for something better!

There's a whale of a temptation to play it safe, to coast along a while, when you're riding such a vote of confidence as we've had this year.

We had ample evidence from the start that our past season's good Buick was the life of the 1938 party.

Right through the darkest months it paced the industry in sales, setting a bright example that shone like a sudden sun smiling through the rain.

But itching in our heads and on our drawing boards were ideas.

McKay Talks on Newton's Finances

The Buildings and Education also interview department heads and make recommendations. All conflicts are ironed out before the final report to the full Board. You may be wondering how the city operates during these early months of the year before the budget is adopted. The law provides that until the budget is adopted, a department may expend each month not exceeding one twelfth of the previous year's total of similar nature. Expenditures of a different nature have to be recommended by the Mayor and approved by the Board, and such items constitute the first column on the sheets headed "Before the Budget."

This year we sliced over $80,000 from the Mayor's recommendations—$70,000 from general operating departments and $10,000 from the water department, and so far with the exception of about $1,000, these departments have been able to function successfully—and, of course, more economically. It may seem contradictory to speak of reducing the department appropriations in some instances, and criticizing insufficient appropriations in others, but since funds cannot be arbitrarily shifted from department to department, I believe your careful thought will make it clear. The Board either accepts the committee's report, or debated it and increases or decreases our figures. This year it was accepted in whole. As previously stated, the Mayor's recommendations cannot be increased. The Board must act within sixty days of receipt of the budget from the Mayor. If it should not act the Mayor's budget automatically becomes effective. Our differences of opinion with the Mayor this year were that insufficient amounts were included for welfare, soldiers' relief, claims, snow removal and WPA material. We did not favor a "Tax Title Loan" for the purpose of reducing the tax rate and this was voted down. The Finance Committee adopted a custom three years ago of submitting its observations and suggestions in the form of a report which has no legal standing but serves to acquaint the Mayor and the public with its views.

A subject I will touch on briefly is that of a surplus account. At the moment we have less than $75,000 from which to appropriate during the rest of the year. This is exclusive of the Welfare Loan. The Water Department surplus of $228,000 was used in balancing our accounts early in April. In former years a very comfortable surplus was maintained. During the depression 1930-1932 this was properly used to cushion the tax rates. It can, of course, be argued that not all should have been so used. But that is water under the bridge. Since January 1, 1936 the fact should have been recognized and a contingency item put in the tax-leaves, in addition to balancing the budgets, which would now save us the embarrassment of borrowing for welfare and an emergency.

If you now have a general idea of the income and outgo of the city, not too much confused with detailed figures and the complexities which so often distort the focus what are the problems to be solved?

(1) Welfare costs: That item alone accounts for several dollars in the tax rate. The man in the street has been using the round figure of $600,000 as Newton's outlay in this department last year. A breakdown reveals the cost as follows:

Welfare	Expend 1937
Department	$604,050.50
Soldiers' Relief	73,744.30
	$677,794.80
Less U. S. Grants and State Grants
Old age assistance and dependent children	$77,435.68
From other Cities and Towns	127,392.78
Net to Newton taxpayers	$472,966.34

A special committee of the Board has been studying this department for several months. I must not trespass on its ground other than to say that this department must not be confused with the work and needs of the fourteen private agencies of the Community Chest whose campaign for funds will soon occur. Heavy though the burden is on the city the Community Chest is performing a needed and indispensable service.

Associated in our minds with the welfare problem are the WPA and PWA. Previous alphabetical designations were ERA and CWA. So far in 1938 the city has appropriated for WPA materials, trucking, administration expense, etc., a total of about $125,000. The Federal Government has paid and will pay an approximate total of about $550,000 in wages. This latter sum does not appear on the Newton tax bill, but do not overlook that we, the people, and our descendants will have to pay it.

(2) The largest departmental appropriation is for schools—about $1,500,000. Actually the aldermen have no great control over this appropriation. More as a formality we approve the budget of the school committee except in some minor incidents. At the public hearings this subject held the spotlight.

Paraphrasing I might say that the public is accustomed to and demands service. Few constructive suggestions for curtailing general departmental expenses were made at the hearings.

(3) Under a third heading for study of economies and good management I would group several topics, possibly more forcefully worded as questions—Is Newton's assessment valuation on a fair basis? Let every one immediately cry "No!" In his own particular case let me say that it should be looked upon as a whole and not always as a question of one piece of property. There are exceptions, of course, and you must not take this literally. I am referring more particularly to the rise and fall in all real estate values. If all assessments were reduced 10 per cent or 25 per cent or 50 per cent in a declining real estate market the tax rate automatically and mathematically would go up 10 per cent or 25 per cent or 50 per cent. The same number of dollars would have to be raised to pay our bills. Having great confidence in the board of assessors and respect for their fairness and sympathy for their troubles, I beg of you to look at it in a comparative way and ask yourselves if what you receive from the city of Newton in schools, streets, parks, playgrounds, fire and police protection, zoning, health and sanitation, library facilities, and all the other services are worth the amount of your tax bill and where can you get the same things from other government under honest administration at less cost?

Another sub-heading in this group three is the question—Should the city have a larger bonded debt, thus distributing capital expenditures over more years—and letting future taxpayers share in the cost? Personally I feel our present policy is right but it is a subject as mentioned earlier we are about to study intensively.

Another question: Our investment in and maintenance of playgrounds excessive? And a corollary which should be closely tied in—What is the lessened juvenile delinquency because of our extensive supervised playgrounds? I think the Playground Commission should have access to all juvenile court records and thereby establish the truth or falsity of the contention that within a certain radius of playgrounds youthful offenses are lower than where such facilities are lacking.

Another question: Is an efficient coordinated policy in effect which carefully plans replacement of our heavy machinery which more or less quickly becomes obsolete or depreciated, such as fire apparatus and all automotive equipment? Our investment question and our whole financial structure are such concomitant phases as rate of population increase, rate of assessed valuation increase, study of undeveloped areas, and parking problems.

The Planning Board no doubt is giving much thought to all these. But there is not to my knowledge any coordination of all these phases which helps us to answer many of the budget and WPA and bond-issue problems which they bob up—usually at 7:15 and are expected to be acted upon shortly after eight o'clock. We shall be glad to meet on prior evenings if the subject matter is made available.

Newton enjoys the best credit rating of any city in Massachusetts and few in the United States surpass it. It will hold that position only so long as intelligent effort is constantly applied. Many cities have slipped badly in the past few years. Your interest is assurance you will not let Newton slip.

I have tried to touch the high spots and to give you a picture of how the finances of the city are managed and mismanaged. I purposely have not made a forecast of the 1939 tax rate. The committee would appreciate not being pressed on that point. In about a month one of the committee will speak at the Newton Tax Payers Association meeting and I am sure as good citizens you already are enrolled as members.

The Assembly program for October 21st was planned under the direction of Mr. Ring for the observance of Fire Prevention Week. The chairman Robert Furman, introduced Richard Kaye, who made some experiments illustrating fire hazards. Walter Howe, who demonstrated making of fire with flint or steel; Walter Nickel, who told the history of the making of matches; Ray Eustice, who demonstrated the cost of destruction due to fire in the last twenty years; Robert Gower, who demonstrated how to ring in a fire alarm; and Robert O'Toole, who explained the principle of a fire extinguisher. A skit entitled "The Fire Next Door," was presented by Leslie Flinn, Karolina Rubin, Lorene Pyatt, Claire Reed, Marjorie Lilligard, Robert O'Toole, Richard Kaye, Robert Sander, and Melvin Hershon. This skit explained what are some of the fire hazards in a home.

Warren Jr. High

Many new officers of the Warren School Community were installed at the impressive inauguration exercises which were held on Friday morning, October 14, during the regular assembly period. Mr. Paul E. Ellicker, principal of the Newton High School, gave a talk to members of the Junior II and III classes at Warren. Mr. Ellicker compared the laurel leaf awarded in olden times to our badges of service which the various patrols, monitors, cafeteria squad, and officers of Warren wear. Mr. Ellicker was presented with the Warren Honor pin, the highest award for service and achievement which the Warren Junior High School can confer.

On Monday evening, October 17, a Junior "Open Night" was held at Warren. The building was thronged with parents who came to meet the teachers of their children.

The Warren Junior High School publication, The Transmitter, was awarded a First Class Honor Rating by the National Scholastic Press Association. Warren was among the eight schools which submitted newspapers for consideration. Miss Dorothy L. Rice is the faculty supervisor of "The Transmitter."

Origin of Word Plagiarism
The Latin word plagiarium meant a kidnaper, a stealer or abductor of a slave or child. It was first used in the modern sense of appropriation or copying by Martial.

Safety Education
In Newton Schools

In the GRAPHIC on September 30 was printed an article relative to the Safety Education Program which has been devised for Newton public schools. It was stated that an extensive report had been submitted by the committee, of which Raymond A. Green is chairman, and this report, entitled—"A Guide for Safety Education in the Newton Schools" met with the approval of Supt. of Schools Warren, and copies of it were multiplied for distribution to teachers. The program for kindergarten, First and Second Grades follows:

Specific Objectives
1. To develop habits of attentive carefulness and alert obedience to traffic rules when traveling on or across the street; 2. To encourage children to play on public playgrounds or in their yards; 3. To direct children to protected places for coasting, skating and swimming; 4. To aid in the formation of habits of carefulness and orderliness at home and at school; 5. To show that little children should keep away from all types of fire and not play with any fire-producing devices.

Procedures
It was noted in the introductory paragraph that the place of safety teaching falls most naturally into certain areas of the curriculum. For younger children these subjects are: social studies, language, reading, art and physical education.

In these earlier years it will also be found necessary to give a large amount of direct teaching, e.g., going to the crossroads or intersection and providing special training in fire drill procedures.

There are two types of excursions which can be used to advantage in the primary grades. A social studies unit of activity, included in this guide book illustrates how safety lessons may be taught or habituated through an excursion for another purpose. In addition to this, the primary teachers will find it necessary to take trips or excursions specifically to give instruction and provide opportunity for practice in safe procedures.

There is perhaps no more valuable use of incidental teaching than in safety education and the alert teacher will recognize chance references, events or pictures to add to the general fund of safety knowledge gradually being acquired.

All methods should be judiciously utilized to improve the safety quotients of individual pupils.

Subject Matter

I. Street and highway safety—

Stop, look left and then right and walk across; 2. know meaning of traffic signals; 3. Use the crosswalk; c. Consider the policeman as a friend; d. sit quietly in automobile, street car, train and bus; e. use scooters, tricycles and roller skates on playground and in yards; f. go directly to and from school by the safest route; g. refuse to ride with strangers; h. hold umbrellas high.

a. If you find a match, take it to mother or teacher; b. keep paint and oily cloths in metal container; c. keep away from gas, electricity, and fire; d. know what to do in a fire drill; e. if you discover a fire, tell an adult.

III. Playtime safety—

Sample Unit I—Excursion to the Library: The first grade children were going to visit the West Newton Library. We had to cross busy Washington st.

In discussing this we talked of many things. To help us remember the "Things to Do," a list was made on the blackboard: 1. keep together; 2. let people pass by; 3. keep on the right side; 4. look at traffic signal; 5. wait for red and yellow light; 6. walk across between lines; 7. look where you are going; 8. walk on sidewalk.

We had to wait at Traffic signal. A child pressed the button for the red and yellow light. We talked about the colors, what they meant, etc. Some children remembered the poem we had heard a few times:

TRAFFIC

"Up at the corner I look for the light
If it is red I know I am right,
To stand quite still till the yellow shines, too
Then cross the street is what I'll do."

From "The Town Clock" by Mary Frances Lyons.

At the library a child found the book, "Mary and the Policeman" by Read. She remembered we had a copy at school. Another found "Stop Look and Listen" by Hader, among the many interesting books.

When we returned to Washington st. a policeman (whom many of the children know by name) was there to help us cross safely.

HOW TO RAISE A "SELF-MADE MAN" without a Log Cabin!

Savings Banks teach lessons that lead to Success

NOT all successful men were born in Lincoln-like poverty. Most of them were reared in average homes. But they do have one character-trait in common. As young men they learned to be self-reliant.

How can your child be taught self-reliance? One good way is to open a savings bank account in his own name. Once he starts saving, he'll be quick to think up new ways to help earn money. He'll realize that every chore means another dime or quarter toward a new football or a pair of skis.

In this way he'll be training himself in initiative and responsibility. Start now to encourage your son to save for the things he wants, just as you do—in a Mutual Savings Bank.

Powers' Paragraphs

cannot see an analogy between the bookmakers referred to, and the propaganda relative to the referendum. If the Library trustees or employees, as individuals, desire to influence their friends and acquaintances to vote against any referendum, it is their right to do so. But we believe that the method which we criticize is quite wrong, and if condoned would establish a dangerous precedent.

As for the statement made on the card sponsored by the Library trustees—"THE NEWTON FREE LIBRARY has always been free from outside interference. The Trustees hope that you will keep it so—"the trustees ought to realize that the Library is a public institution, owned and financed by the citizens of Newton, and that if these citizens—in the exercise of their political rights, vote on a matter of policy affecting public institutions, there is no reason why the library department should be made an exception, any more than the schools or any other department. The Library trustees ought to know that the citizens are not "outsiders" insofar as our public library is concerned.

SARAH HULL CHAPTER, D. R.
The first meeting of the winter of Sarah Hull Chapter, Daughters of the Revolution, was held on Wednesday, October 26th, 1938, at the home of Mrs. William E. Bacon, 52 Hyde ave., Newton, at 2:30 p. m. Owing to the unavoidable absence of the Regent, Mrs. Albert B. Hinkle, Jr., the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Walter C. Whitney, Vice Regent. After the salute to the flag, a business meeting was held, various reports being given, and two recommendations from the Executive Board were acted upon, namely that a contribution be made to the Newton Community Chest and to the American Red Cross. Then Mr. Theriault of the Newton Veterans' Council gave a talk asking for the co-operation of the Chapter in decorating the graves of the Revolutionary soldiers and sailors in the cemetery on Centre and Cotton sts.

Mrs. Franklin E. Smith then introduced the speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Enid Louise Fairbairn who spoke very entertainingly on the subject "From Dawn to Dark with My Great-Grandmother." Mrs. Fairbairn showed many articles, which her grandmother had used, and many things which she had made during her life. Tea with older and doughnuts was served with Mrs. Willard L. Sampson and Mrs. Francis Murdoch at the tea table. The hostesses of the meeting were Mrs. Spencer W. Sheppardson, Mrs. Charles W. Wright, Mrs. J. Henry Bacon and Mrs. William F. Bacon.

Newton Police At Evening School

James Forbes, principal of the Trade School, and Mr. Fitzsimmons gave details of the program which will include 10 lectures, at which a speaker each week will talk on some subject dealing with the law as it affects police duties. The speaker last Monday night was James P. Gallagher, clerk of the Newton district court, who gave information regarding the proper presentation of evidence by policemen.

Gasoline Thieves Get Leniency

Ronald Forward, 20, of 7 Central st., Framingham, and Robert Henry, 20, of 62 Elm st., Saxonville, were arraigned in the Newton court on Tuesday on charges of the larceny of gasoline. Shortly after midnight on the morning of Oct. 17 a resident of Holly rd., Waban, observed two youths near the street, carrying cans. As there had been many thefts of gasoline from automobiles in that section the past few months, a message was at once telephoned to police headquarters. A cruising car with Patrolmen Dalton and Brosnahan rushed to the scene and surprised the pair at the garage of Henry Dunning, 1881 Beacon st. After a chase in which Dalton fired two shots in the air, he captured Forward on Neholm rd. Henry escaped but later surrendered. Both pleaded guilty. Judge Mayberry sentenced each to a 30 days' prison sentence, and then suspended the sentences.

THE WEEK IN NEWTON SPORTS

QUINCY OVERCOMES NEWTON LEAD TO WIN

For the fifth straight week the Newton high eleven went down to defeat last Saturday when Quincy High triumphed over the orange and black in a 19 to 12 contest which had the spectators in fitters. Showing a well-drilled aggression and an undaunted spirit the visiting forces not only triumphed but overcame a twelve point lead in the second half of the game.

Newton tallied the first score, and also its first touchdown of the season, and added a second tally in the second quarter. This margin was cut in two when Salvucci of Quincy returned the Newton second-touchdown kickoff, 88 yards for the Granite City team's first score. In the second half Quincy swept to two more touchdowns to pull out the victory.

Quincy kicked off to open the game with Heath returning the ball 20 yards on the runback. The old "sleeper" play gained 10 yards and after an exchange of punts Newton recovered a Quincy fumble on the visitor's 35 yard stripe. A pass from Hughes to MacNeill, both of whom played the entire game, clicked for 24 yards and another pass Hughes to Paglia tallied. The try for goal was blocked. Quincy, after the kickoff, rolled up three first downs to the Newton 27 where MacNeill smeared Coml for a 12-yard loss as the period ended.

In the second quarter Newton got going again and drove half the length of the field for its second touchdown with Hughes and Heath carrying much of the time. Boyer had blocked a Quincy kick near midfield to give Newton possession of the oval. On the ensuing kickoff Salvucci carried up the middle of the field to his 40-yard line, then veered to the sideline, and aided by excellent blocking raced down the field to score.

Early in the third period Quincy reached the Newton 12-yard line. A pass was intercepted by Heath to avert the threat. On the play Capt. Bob Liming of Newton was injured and it was subsequently found that he had severely strained a neck muscle. Newton punted and Coml of Quincy returned it to the Newton 40. A pass netted 18 yards and then Coml swept around end for the tying score. The point after by rushing put Quincy one point up. The quarter ended as Quincy recovered a Newton fumble.

An exchange of punts gave Quincy the ball again on the Newton 46 and Coml got going again. An end run for 20 yards, a pass for 6, and a buck for 11 put Quincy on the Newton 9 before they stopped. Taking the ball on downs Newton punted out of danger to midfield but from there Quincy would not be stopped. Coml broke away for 15 yards and on a series of rushes pounded his way to a first down three inches from the Newton goal. On this last play he just failed to make the touch-down and barely managed to make it first down. With four chances ahead Quincy plugged hard and on second

THE NEWTON ARCHERS

The Newton Archers gathered for still another handicap tournament on Saturday, Oct. 22nd. Twenty-five archers, including the juniors, lined up under the direction of Herbert Wilson of the Waltham Archers as field captain. Those who held the first two places in the American Round were given certificates and the opportunity to select their prizes from many arranged on the tables. They were: men—Walter Kimber 81—495, George Skinner 87—483; women—Hazel Wilson 82—444, Anita Howarth 73—325; boys—Joseph Kimber 84—514, Scott Doten 71—387; girls—Patricia Skinner 70—331, Marjorie Kimber 63—242.

The prizes were donated by each shooter and varied from points of aim, bow strings, birch bark hats to China pigs. Should weather conditions permit there will be another shoot October 29.

Not Guilty of Reckless Driving

William Ginsberg of 458 Lowell ave., Newtonville, was found not guilty of driving so as to endanger the safety of the public by Judge Mayberry in the Newton court on Thursday. On October 14 Ginsberg's car collided at Lowell ave. and Elm with a car driven by Mabel Chandler of 235 Webster st., Auburndale. Serg. King told the judge that since the complaint was obtained against Ginsberg, the police had found an eyewitness to the accident whose testimony exculpated Ginsberg.

FALL AND WINTER OCEAN CRUISES

Never before have so many alluring ocean cruises been arranged as will be available the coming months. They range from short cruises of 4 days' duration to "Round the World" cruises that will take five months, and the rates charged for these cruises are as little as $52.50 for a 4 days' cruise to Bermuda, up to a deluxe cruise around the world costing over $2000. Details regarding these cruises may be obtained from the Newton Steamship Agency, 11 Centre ave., Newton, telephone Newton North 4501.

The Grace Line palatial ships leave New York on November 4, November 18, and every two weeks on 16 days' cruises to South America, and visits to the Canal Zone and Jamaica. All outside rooms, with bath, and service that brings enthusiastic praise from those who take these cruises. The rate is $285.

The GRIPSHOLM of the Swedish American Line leaves New York on November 18 for an eleven days' cruise to Haiti, Jamaica and Havana and the cost is as low as $110. On December 20 the KUNGSHOLM of the same line leaves on a 15 days' cruise to the Virgin Islands, St. Pierre, Grenada, Willemstad, Curacao, Canal Zone and Havana; the rate $182.50 and up. On January 6 the KUNGSHOLM leaves on an 18 days' tour to the West Indies, Port of Spain, Venezuela, Curacao, Canal Zone, Kingston and Havana, and the cost is as low as $215. A similar cruise starts on January 27. On February 16 the KUNGSHOLM leaves New York on a 32 days' cruise to Para, Rio de Janeiro and Bahia, Brazil, up the Amazon River and stops at Martinique on the return voyage, and the cost is as little as $340, extremely low for such an itinerary. On January 31 the GRIPSHOLM starts from New York on a 56 days' cruise around South America, 15,000 miles, including stops at Nassau, Havana, Canal Zone, Callao in Peru, Valparaiso and other ports in Chile, through the Straits of Magellan, Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Rio de Janeiro, the Amazon and Trinidad. NEW LASALLE FEATURES

An extraordinary new ride that combines automotive safety and comfort in a manner never before achieved will be one of the main features of the 1939 LaSalle, General Sales Manager D. E. Ahrens disclosed this week from Detroit, Michigan.

"Until our most recent development," he continued, "chassis engineers felt a compromise necessary between soft springing and roadability. Where easy spring action existed, roadability suffered. Likewise, stiff springs meant good roadability, but a handicap to riding qualities."

"Our engineers have, in effect, placed ailerons on the automobile. Ailerons, as those familiar with aviation know, are the movable fins on the trailing edges of aircraft wings, designed for stability in flight. They prevent 'skidding' or 'mushing' on turns."

"The LaSalle spring suspension which we introduced exclusively in 1939 accomplishes somewhat similar stabilizing benefits. It provides a boulevard ride at all times, yet checks forces over rough roads and in rounding corners that have previously been a hazard to safe driving."

"The 'Controlled Action' Ride is one of many advances on the 1939 Cadillac and LaSalle, details of which will not be revealed until the models shortly go on display at dealer showrooms."

"Increase safety, appearance and comfort, in the order named, appear to headline the improvements for 1939," Mr. Ahrens declared, "and I believe we have registered definite progress along all three fronts."

So far we have shown the models only privately, but the spontaneous enthusiasm of these selected groups has strengthened our confidence in 1939."

NEWTON FARM 105 YEARS OLD

The Esty Farm, located on Dedham st. on the south side of Newton, has been growing vegetables and retailing them to the local consumer for 105 years.

The demand for fresh farm products has increased so rapidly in the last 10 years that 50 per cent of land is now used for growing vegetables and fruit for retail buyers.

Many new vegetables and fruit feature this new trend in buying. Starting with early spring until late fall there is always a feature product in great demand.

First is asparagus followed by the new Dorset strawberry and a beautiful dark red berry of excellent quality. Then come the peas. About the 10th of July the big red Latham raspberries are ready.

The biggest feature product and the largest crop is the golden corn. About 20 acres are devoted to growing this crop so that it may be picked fresh every day. During the corn season comes the everbearing strawberry. This new type strawberry has a delicious flavor and coming out of season it is a real treat for the retail buyers.

Fall brings the tasty pascal celery and fresh apple cider along with the fall dug Green Mountain potatoes.

A Lecture on Christian Science, Entitled Christian Science: The Science of Christ

By Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, C. S. B., of New York City, Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

On Thursday evening a lecture on Christian Science was given in the Church Edifice of First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton.

Mr. Raymond Wilson, First Reader, who introduced the lecturer to an audience that filled the church auditorium and Sunday School rooms, spoke as follows:

Friends: First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton extends to you a cordial welcome.

The subject of the lecture this evening is Christian Science, The Science of Christ.

This lecture will show us how to gain that Mind which was also in Christ Jesus and to apply this Christ Truth to our own particular problems.

Our lecturer is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. It is my happy privilege to introduce to you Dr. Hendrik J. de Lange, C. S. B., of New York City.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

Paul's reference to "the mystery of godliness" and "the mystery of Christ" has caused many to suppose that the knowledge of God must be hidden, or, at least, of a phenomenal nature. However, we need not doubt that for God, divine intelligence itself, there cannot be any mystery about supreme Being. Intelligence, to be worthy of the name, must be directly, continuously, and intelligently conscious of itself, and thereby self-explanatory. Then, Christ and godliness can only be a mystery to something wholly foreign to God's own nature. Godliness and Christ must be a mystery to the material sense testimony, "the carnal mind" to which the Mars Hill orator refers as "enmity against God."

Consequently, that which is opposing the divine nature is not in a position to explain the divine nature! When it attempts to do it, the results must necessarily be both confused and confusing.

This accounts for much of the misapprehension with which the concept of Christ in the Christian religion has been surrounded. It has led to scholastic theology with its widespread opinion that Christ is a synonym for the personal Jesus. Supposing Jesus to be Christ and Christ to be God, has made many cling to the belief that Jesus is God. Finally, the opinion seems prevalent that the Master's works were miracles—phenomenal exhibitions of extraordinary power.

Interpretation must be given the utmost care. This is evident for the common things of daily life. Looking at objects through a fog may make them appear hazy and out of proportion, perhaps unsightly. However, looking through the windows of the modern impression that one can touch the object exhibited, so little visual obstruction is offered by the glass in fulfilling its purpose of letting the light shine through.

When it comes to interpreting "the things of God," the closest consideration should be given. Attempting to understand "the things of God" through a medium entirely foreign to God's nature, in case, the material sense testimony, is like looking at objects through a fog. The results are equally unsatisfactory. Investigating "the things of God" by means of Christian Science is comparable to the light shining through the modern show window.

Christian Science may be defined as the Science, or knowledge, of Christ, Truth. It is not based upon any material sense testimony, but upon the fact that divine intelligence must be inevitably self-explanatory, and that this knowledge must be inevitably available as divine manifestation. Herefrom the deduction may be made that the more correctly one lives Christian Science, the better one becomes conscious of existence as it divinely is; and conversely, the less one is subject to the distorting medium of the material sense testimony, through which so many have vainly attempted to find the explanation of existence. In fact, one of the synonymous terms used for Christian Science by its Discoverer and Founder, Mary Baker Eddy, is Divine Science, or knowledge of Divinity, God. The knowledge of God, ideally, is God's knowledge. This ideal is attained in Christian Science in the measure one permits a human, personal, mediatory sense of trying to know the Divine to be exchanged for divine intelligence expressing itself and identifying itself as its own expression.

For this reason, Christian Science is a correct knowledge and analysis of Christ—the cornerstone of Christianity. The Science of Christ shows forth Christ's different aspects or offices which, nevertheless, constitute one harmonious whole, being indivisibly one through multifarious in function.

In reading the four Gospels, it is noteworthy that Jesus of Nazareth spoke very rarely about himself as the Christ, although he unhesitatingly and emphatically acknowledged this fact on special occasions, for instance, to Peter, the woman of Samaria, and the high priest. Characteristic of his wisdom, Jesus charged his disciples "to tell no man that thing." He saw that the unlighted thought could not differentiate between his human appearance and the divine idea, or Christ. Accordingly, Jesus referred to himself by preference as the Son—either the Son of man or the Son of God, in agreement with his custom to speak of God as his Father. How strongly he wished to ascribe all relationship and authority to God is shown in Matthew 23, verses 9 and 10: "And call no man your father upon earth: for one is your Father, which is in heaven. Neither be ye called masters: for one is your Master, even Christ."

It is Paul who, in his epistles, frequently uses the word Christ; and so does Peter. It is used in the way of a synonym of Jesus, and also in the sense so well rendered by the expression "the Spirit of Christ," that is to say, Christ as the divine nature or quality, rather than a human personality. The customary view of considering the word Christ as another name for Jesus has spread since the days of the New Testament. This may be seen in the headings which have been placed in the Bibles we use above the Gospel chapters in order to summarize their contents.

Mary Baker Eddy distinguishes between Christ and Jesus, thereby preventing the confusion of mixing the human with the divine. It is done by the way of definition in "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," pages 583 and 589: "CHRIST. The divine manifestation of God, which comes to the flesh to destroy incarnate error." "Jesus. The highest human corporeal concept of the divine idea, rebuking and destroying error and bringing to light man's immortality."

In other words, Jesus showed forth, in a hitherto unprecedented way, the spiritual understanding or divine idea which constitutes the Christ. In describing Jesus as "the highest human corporeal concept of the divine idea," Mrs. Eddy discerned that his biography, as portrayed in the four Gospels, was the impression that the Christ, or the divine manifestation which identified Jesus, made upon contemporary human thought. In her book "No Name" (p. 36) she states: "Mankind's concept of Jesus was a babe born in a manger, even while the divine and ideal Christ was the Son of God, spiritual and eternal. In human conception God's offspring had to grow, develop; but in Science his divine nature and manhood were forever complete, and dwelt forever in the Father."

As we become well aware of this, the Gospels show forth additional light, and become of greater practical import. Seeing that Christ is Christ, or divine manifestation, of God, one receives a more enduring, better, or available, and logical concept of Christ than identifying Christ exclusively with the personal Jesus. One is also impressed by the fact of how clearly Christ Jesus discerned this; and how great was the endeavor to demonstrate it in behalf of his followers. His instructions to this end were along two definite lines. In the first place, he showed to the receptive thought the truth or Christ, concerning himself. In the second place, he emphasized the fact that the works which he did could be done also by others; all having equal possibilities for performing the works of the eternal Christ.

In the first instance, Jesus succeeded during his unique career. The impression made upon those around him, as evidenced in the Gospel biographies, was so far removed from human personality that hardly a single detail regarding his outward appearance is to be found in the Bible. It would be well for the modern faithful follower of the Way-shower to make the same impersonal impression upon his environment!

One can easily comprehend Christ Jesus' joy when Peter gave unmistakable proof of understanding his Teacher's real nature by declaring: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." Here was an assurance that Jesus' mission had not been in vain. At least those closest to him had understood him to this extent. Warmly the reply came: "Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona; for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven."

Greater was the difficulty encountered by Christ Jesus, however, in explaining to his followers that his works were not exceptional, in the sense that he alone could perform them, and no one else. Although he had declared, "He that believeth on me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father," it was not until his going to his Father, that is, until his higher demonstration of Godlike-ness, termed the ascension, that they could better understand him. Then they were able to perceive a fuller meaning of his life and message, as well as their own capabilities to do the works he had done. Until then they had been hampered by their belief that the Christ could be limited to an earthly personality.

When Christ Jesus had proved to their satisfaction the truth of his teachings in rising above a personal sense concerning himself, the full-orbed glory of his life began to dawn upon the consciousness of the disciples. The author of Science and Health states it pointedly in these words (p. 34): "His resurrection was also their resurrection. It helped them to raise themselves and others from spiritual dullness and blind belief in God into the perception of infinite possibilities." Now they became conscious of the Christ-message! Mark relates it, "Go ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. . . . And these signs shall follow them that believe: In my name shall they cast out devils; they shall speak with new tongues; they shall of Mind" (Ibid., p. 591). Then it is seen better than before that obedience to the First Commandment of Christianity is not only to recognize that there is one God, or divine Mind, but also that man has not a personal mind of his own, since he is the idea of God—the manifestation of divine Mind.

Let it be stated here most emphatically that "idea" is not a human person, nor a human mind understanding something about God. This would imply two minds, the Mind which is God, and a suppositional mind of a person. Accepting such a suggestion would virtually be deviating from monotheism, the basis and cornerstone of Christianity. The point made here may perhaps seem slight at first; but it grows in practical value when progressing in the knowledge of Christian Science. Conor growth in spiritual-mindedness is our newness of being. It means the disappearance of the unreal because of the progressive appearance of the real—the Christ idea, the indestructible male and female idea, man, now and forever here.

The method utilized to this end is called prayer or treatment in Christian Science. In a state of mentality that personalizes God and man, prayer is merely a form of petition. When man is considered to be too sinful to approach God directly, a mediator must be procured, and the petition addressed to his mediator. Hence the conviction of many that it is necessary to believe in Jesus as a personal mediator in order to be saved. In this line of belief, prayer is supposed to be a means to move God to do something or not to do something which otherwise take up serpents; and if they drink any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them; they shall lay hands on the sick, and they shall recover." The message struck home; it is also corded by Mark that "they went forth, and preached everywhere, where the Lord working with them, and confirming the word with signs following." "The Lord" in this connection means the spiritual understanding of God, which understanding is the ever-present Christ.

Jesus' life showed forth the operation of divine Principle, as far as human mentality in those days could receive it. "The more vivid and distinct the operation of Principle, the more enlightened human mentality appears to be. This enlightenment completed may be called salvation, in the sense it is taken in Christian Science (Science and Health, p. 593): "SALVATION. Life, Truth, and Love understood and demonstrated as supreme over all; sin, sickness, and death destroyed." As each one is distinct from all others, the way Jesus attained his salvation was definitely his own; but as our Way-shower, his example is of universal significance. The increased spiritual understanding culminating in his salvation showed forth two phases: his resurrection and ascension. Resurrection and ascension, in one form or another, must be the experience of everyone who has begun to see something of the divine reality. Indeed, resurrection and ascension are the gradual and final falling away of material limitations, of a personal sense of existence, of every belief attempting to place itself between Principle and its immediate expression. Resurrection and ascension are a normal and necessary development, beginning to take place from the moment one becomes aware that there is something divine about himself.

Christian Science considers this mental resurrection neither mysterious nor eccentric; on the contrary, resurrection is the "spiritualization of thought; a new and higher idea of immortality, or spiritual existence; material belief yielding to spiritual understanding" (Ibid., p. 593). There is nothing weird or exceptional about this! It is an educational unfolding which Christian Science is extending to all.

Human education, as everything human, is extremely personal. It takes the human personality as its self-evident basis, and it believes that all attainment is a personal attainment. As a result of this, the average newcomer in Christian Science undertakes its study from that personal angle. His motive for study is for personal improvement, either in health or in harmony. For the beginner, this is perfectly legitimate; one can hardly expect otherwise. Studying and advancing farther in Science, one learns the true nature of one's self, his Christ-selfhood. One begins to grasp what man divinely is: "the compound idea of infinite Spirit; the spiritual image and likeness of God; the full representation of himself as a human person endeavoring to grasp or to realize divine ideas, leaves one in an unsatisfactory state of thought. One remains in that mental realm where good and evil clash, and where almost every attainment involves a laborious struggle with much uncertainty about final success.

As in the case of Jesus, resurrection is necessarily to be followed by ascension. While in the mental state of resurrection, the Nazarene, sustaining an aloofness from material sense when it seemed to approach, said: "Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father." However, Jesus made a concession to the doubting Thomas by allowing him to touch that which appeared to Thomas as Jesus' side. At this stage of spiritual development, personal sense had been silenced, in that Christ Jesus had become immune to the thrusts of mortal suggestions!

Here Jesus has given a priceless example, worth while to be pondered and followed. The resurrection, or "spiritualization of thought," makes one aware of the Christ, or truth concerning existence. However, it does not entirely change one's mental attitude about oneself as a human person. This takes place when one is entering upon his ascension; when it becomes clear that one must not consider oneself any more a human person trying to attain ideas, but that one is, in his real being, the divine idea itself. From this moment a remarkable release from personal limitations occurs. Less struggle, greater dominion, enlarged freedom, increased harmony, more genuine happiness are experienced, until finally divine Being is subjectively reflected as one's glorious selfhood in the naturalness of boundless spiritual bliss.

In her book "Miscellaneous Writings" (pp. 124, 125), Mrs. Eddy speaks of man's spiritual progress, and how because of it, he can rise into the knowledge of the unreality of sin and suffering, and the reality of that which is right. She continues to relate how by this knowledge the world, the flesh, and all evil are being overcome; and that dominion over a sinful sense of self is attained. Therefore of man, redeemed, radiant, and renewed in knowledge, Mrs. Eddy tells us that he shall "drink anew Christ's cup, in the kingdom of God—the reign of righteousness—within him." Thus, that from a human point of view would seem to be the Master's cup is discerned anew in Christian Science from the impersonal point of view as Christ's cup. This spiritual cup could not be accomplished. These beliefs are plainly predicated upon looking at existence through the material sense testimony, whereby the infinity of divine Mind is misinterpreted into a multitude of personal, finite so-called minds.

In Christian Science, treatment is not petition. Fundamentally, and ultimately it may be described as the affirmation of the truth concerning God, who is manifested as man or divine idea. When necessary, this has to be followed up by the denial of every assertion claiming to be not in accordance with the perfection, completeness, harmony which characterizes Deity. The affirmation of the truth, although appearing to be the declaration or thought of a human person, is really Truth expressing itself. Conversely, it is not Truth denying erroneous beliefs or conditions, since in the all-inclusive infinity of Truth there is no error. Then all error, when denied, is self-denied, and it is doing this when it becomes informed about its own mythical nature and unreality. God is all the scientific and effectual mandate of Truth to error, regardless of its supposititious phases and forms.

"If mortal mind knew how to be better, it would be better" (Science and Health, p. 186). One of the functions of Christian Science treatment is to inform mortal mind—or a false mental concept believing in sensation in matter and appearing in the guise of a person—how to be better. The way to do it is to, first, realize the omnipotence, omniscience, and omniscience of perfection. And from this allness of perfection let the affirmation of that which claims to be a person with a belief of illness or inharmonious, to a belief without any identity. This is followed up by informing the belief that it is only a finite, imperfect concept about that which exists in uninterrupted harmony and divine perfection. Therefore, there need be no fear on the part of the belief to give itself up—a fear which often retards the healing. A more vivid and direct apprehension of that which is divinely going on appears in human experience as the healing of the belief—that is, its self-annihilation.

Now that which is divinely going on is the very presence of God, good, Life, Truth, divine infinite Love meeting the human need by remaining divine and infinite, to the utter dispelling of error. Thus we see that the healing is accomplished because of God, infinite, all-encompassing Love, and its divine manifestation, the Christ, precluding error from having any suggested reality or identity.

Spirit and matter, good and evil, Life and death, Love and hatred, have nothing in common. There is no agreement nor meeting place in that real state of consciousness, called man. This man means that which everyone here in this audience actually is in the light of Christian Science. Christian Science treatment is operative for just this purpose, to confirm and affirm your divine status, and to deny and wipe out the misstatements about man which may have obscured your health and happiness.

What a manifest comfort, then, for one to know that the Christ-method of treatment—constituting the all-embracing activity of infinite Love, God, Life, Truth—means that there is nothing but Love in operation to heal humanity's discord! What a quickening sense of satisfaction to become aware of the forever fact that there is, in reality, not even a supposition of error to infringe upon God's ever-presence and allness!

In corroboration of this fact, I shall read a few lines from the Christian Science textbook (p. 503): "In the universe of Truth, matter is unknown. No supposition of error enters there. Divine Science, the Word of God, saith to the darkness upon the face of error, 'God is All-in-all,' and the light of ever-present Love illumines the universe."

Here I reiterate that the allness of God, ever-present Love, is the basis of all treatment, whether it be a treatment for one who asks help in what might be termed a personal need, or whether it be a treatment for the world in general. The practical fact is that the light of ever-present Love illumines the universe by our being that light as a vivid manifestation of divine Love, the very presence of Love to every situation, to every seeming sickness, sorrow, discord, and untoward circumstance.

Since Christian Science teaches us that the human or mortal mind, and its objectivation of thought, called matter, is excluded both as a preventive and healing factor, we can prevent and heal humanity's troubles only by actually manifesting God, Life, Truth, Love itself. Manifesting God is not an arduous task; it is not a human thought process. It is simply itself, because it is the natural expression of Truth. It is wholly a divine activity.

That which constitutes the divine does not need to change its nature and become human, in order to accomplish the Christ-healing, and silence the human discordant suggestions claiming identification as man. Truth cannot change into error or stoop to error's material evidence, because Truth must remain Truth, with its all-embracing Christ-power; hereby is extinguished every belief in matter, sin, disease, and death—everything which is unlike Truth.

Human illustrations are inadequate for the clarification of spiritual facts. However, let us take one which may be useful for this instance—that of showing how essential it is to understand that the divine remains divine in order that the human may be helped out of its troublesome and mistaken sense of being.

According to physical observation, we see that a lighthouse must continually remain full of light in order to serve its purpose. Unaware of darkness and dashing waves, the light never changes or alters from remaining a light for the mariners. It must do so because it has no mission other than to be a light, clearly and uninterruptedly. Many a seafarer's troubles have been lessened simply by the lighthouse unfailingly answering its purpose.

Such an illustration points to the steadfastness of consciousness, unswervingly manifesting good. The fabulous waves of error cannot change, disturb, or bedim the light of that consciousness which is fundamental—a power so unalterable, so divine, that nothing but the divine is really going on when a Christian Science treatment is fulfilling its activity. In this activity, more of the divine is appearing, and thereby error is disappearing, regardless of its formidable pretensions. The function of the treatment is to exclude every suggestion which might try to interfere with the constant, conscious expression of God as idea, or man. In this way, the treatment atones.

Atonement has been a thorny subject for scholastic theology. In Christian Science, it becomes beautifully simple. It means at-one-ment, or identification with that which is divine. According to scholastic theology, one has to give up all of Christ in the sense that one is depriving oneself of something worth while. In Christian Science, one gives up all for Christ in the sense that one is being liberated from everything which does not belong to man's Godlike nature. And thus one gains all through Christ, or Truth, which shows that man is the manifestation of divinity. To atone for sin is to give up the human. Broadly speaking, sinning is to identify oneself—induced by pleasure or hate—with a material state of thinking. Thus, the Christ-consciousness is the propitiation of every sin, because Christ, Truth, demonstrates our divine nature and the inanity of indulging in that which is not real and true, and therefore, not truly compelling, pleasurable, or profitable.

Following the Way-shower's precepts, we take part in the Eucharist. When Jesus said, "Take, eat; this is my body," and handed a morsel of bread to his disciples, he was symbolically addressing himself to the receptive thought of his day and of all time to come, inviting it to partake of his nature, which constituted his true body, or divine identity. When we here tonight are willing to drop a personal, human, mortal sense about ourselves, when we are prepared to consider our understanding of God as our very selfhood or identity, we also are taking part in the Eucharist. Thus we are commemorating Christ Jesus in the only true and worthy manner. Thus we become increasingly Christlike in thought and deed. Thus our conscious realization of divine good constitutes the healing Christ to every form of error. Thus the bread "which cometh down from heaven" becomes individually exemplified.

In this way of true scientific realization, one ever more clearly discerns that Jesus' works were not miracles. They were consistently exemplifying the liberation which is brought about when naturally expressing the Christ, or Truth. Liberation from what? From the material, personal, human sense of existence. All true existence being divine, the troubles of the world are in a wrong sense of existence. The way humanity as a whole is cognizing existence is faulty. The belief that one has a personal, restricted mind with which to apprehend all that is, constitutes the main difficulty. The only way to be conscious of the perfect, harmonious, satisfying, and happy divine reality is from the standpoint of divine reality, or divine Mind, and through divine Mind. The need, then, is not in upholding a personal mind by trying to improve it, but by gradually and more and more understandingly refusing to identify oneself with a personal sense of mind.

This change of concept, which Christian Science explains and brings about, means liberation from all sorts of restrictions and imperfections. In the works of the Nazarene, one may detect its modus operandi. One finds that he consistently dissociated man—as manifestation of Mind—from a "devil" or "unclean spirit," that is, from the human concept of a man, with its accompanying evils and infirmities. Thus he made the human mind relinquish itself by charging the "devil" or "unclean spirit" to depart. This was accomplished by divine authority and law—the power of his understanding, through his unswerving identification with the Divine. Healing the sick, raising the dead, reforming the sinner, feeding the multitudes, are all results of the same Christ-method.

Jesus' disciples and followers practiced this method with obvious success. It was natural to them, because they were sufficiently spiritually-minded to understand it. Later on, however, medieval theology plunged Christianity back into the personal sense of God and man which pervades most of the Old Testament. And so, Christian healing began to decrease and finally stopped altogether. By way of excuse a doctrine was formulated. Doctrines always impress the nonthinking! This doctrine declared that God in His inscrutable wisdom had extended the healing power to the Nazarene and his immediate followers as a special dispensation, but that for some reason or other this dispensation had been subsequently ended. Nobody could or can tell the reason why, because there is no reason for it! "The Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning," cannot do otherwise than express His own glorious, all-inclusive, infinite omnipotent Self. Every state of thought which becomes aware of this Christ-fact receives its healing blessing. It is never divine Principle which has to change; it is always the density of personal, material sense which has to disappear.

In the course of later centuries, the density of thought lessened. As a result of this, Protestantism was born in Western Europe, whereby the mediation of a human priest was exchanged for the belief in Jesus as a personal Saviour—a step forward, no doubt. The final development came not in Europe, but in the land of "unlimited possibilities," the United States of America. Here, a state of thought of an exceptional nature was prevalent. Courageous, independent, liberty-loving people from several parts of Europe had settled on the eastern coast of the American continent. They had done this in order to start a freer life, religiously and politically. In the early days of the American Commonwealth, the political ideals of the people had crystallized themselves in the Constitution in 1787—a remarkable and divinely inspired document, professing the right to liberty, equality, and happiness for all men. The Constitution will maintain itself upon its own merits.

When the United States had grown into fuller ripeness, it became the cradle for a higher, more impersonal concept of Christianity. Characteristically for the land where the woman-thought is more revered and better developed than elsewhere, a noble, spiritually-minded woman appeared to humanity as the one ushering in this progressive understanding. Mrs. Eddy discovered Christian Science, and hereby took up and advanced the work which the Nazarene had started. While humanity saw in him a personal Saviour, notwithstanding all his statements to the contrary, Mrs. Eddy's spiritual genius successfully prevented a repetition of this mistake. She revealed the Science of Christianity and unflinchingly rejected every suggestion that she was exercising human personal power. Science is the most impersonal form and impartation of knowledge, being available for everyone willing to study and practice it. Discerning the teachings of Jesus as Science was the highest proof of Mrs. Eddy's unselfish character. There is a tendency in human nature to personalize and monopolize one's own achievements. Not so with the Leader of the Christian Science movement.

American Home And Youth Conference

Taking for its slogan "Tomorrow's Leaders from Today's Homes" the State Federation division of American Home announces speakers for the Conference to be held on Wednesday, November 9, at the Hotel Bradford, Boston, in the Ballroom. Dr. Margaret Matheson Poole will speak of "Factors in Personality." Miss Grace B. Gerard, specialist in money management at Massachusetts State College, will discuss money matters. Martha Lee, household editor of the Boston American, will give suggestions for entertaining. On the afternoon program, Carl L. Schrader, director of physical education at Ithaca College, will talk on "Safety Devices in Guiding Our Youth."

Mrs. Arthur G. Fletcher, State chairman of American Home, states that "the program also has been planned from suggestions sent in by the younger women of the Federation and will present new ideas on foods, clothing, personality, and an inspirational talk for youth today."

Luncheon reservations should be made with Miss S. Gertrude Mayo, 144 Broad St., Lynn, on or before November 7.

Mr. Ernest Hermann, head of the Newton Playground Department, explained the great need of playgrounds in cities to help develop boys and girls. Mr. Hermann deplored the modern physical illiteracy or lack of knowledge of doing things with the hands. Formerly boys saw their fathers using saws and hammers, and became so interested and attracted by the work that they would do the same thing. Mr. Hermann explained further that personality develops by co-operative activity. This co-operative activity is a great need of boys and girls, said Mr. Hermann, to fill in the increased leisure of modern children. Six thousand hours of leisure per child a year must be filled. A playground must be accessible to the people; must be properly supervised, and properly maintained, he declared. When this is done a playground then becomes a great real estate asset to the city. In closing, Mr. Hermann said that the next need of a city was a community building, to take the place of the rich man's club house, for many cannot afford to join a club. This community building would keep men from gathering on the corner. It should have a workshop where the men could use a saw and hammer. Creative activity, Mr. Hermann summed up, must be brought back.

Speakers on Legislation Interest Audience

Round-Table Conferences at the Fall Meeting of the Newton Federation Monday morning, the 24th, at the Newton Centre Woman's Club House were well attended. Great interest was manifested in the International Relations committee speaker, Mrs. Robert C. Dexter, recently returned from Czechoslovakia. Mrs. Dexter explained that the feeling of depression is overwhelming now in that country, and asked that when an appeal be made through the Red Cross to aid the Czechoslovakians, to do so, as the refugees in Prague were in great need of food and clothing. Mrs. Robert S. Bowen, chairman of the Christmas Seal committee, told of the ways in which the Christmas Seal money was used, and announced that the Seals would be in the mail over Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Elmer I. MacPhie, chairman of the committee on Physically Handicapped, told of the work done in entertaining the blind of Newton. Mrs. J. A. Potter, chairman of Physically Handicapped in the Massachusetts Federation, spoke briefly of the splendid work done by Mrs. MacPhie. Mrs. A. E. Hunt, in telling of the advantages in taking lip-reading, stated that two hundred children in Newton were discovered last year to have defective hearing. Greater efficiency resulted from attendance at Lip-reading classes and therefore greater happiness. Classes for adults in Newton were attended by forty-seven on Monday and Thursday evenings from 7-9 o'clock. In response to a demand for an afternoon class in Lip-reading this year a class is held at 2:45 p. m. on Wednesday.

Seated at the speakers' table with Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation, were Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock, and Mrs. W. F. Leach, Twelfth District director. Mr. Hermann, and the officers of the Federation. White and gold chrysanthemums formed the table decorations.

Mrs. Arthur B. Hitchcock, as president of the Hostess Club, the Newton Centre Woman's Club, opened the afternoon session with greetings of welcome to the Federation. Mrs. Hay responded with expressions of appreciation of the hospitality of the Club.

The afternoon session was devoted to a Legislative program arranged by the Civic and Legislative committees of both the Newton Federation and the Newton Centre Woman's Club. Mrs. Walter Heath, Federation Legislative chairman, introduced Senator Arthur W. Hollis, who acted as Honorary chairman for the afternoon, following his own talk on the work of the Legislature. Senator Hollis said he would like to have every Senator and Representative take a pledge not to try to fix a traffic violation.

Representative Christian A. Herter, in talking on "Do We Have Social Security?" explained what laws had been enacted, but that "it was fundamental that we create new wealth. Wealth out of land, air, or water. We must produce more." Concluding, Mr. Herter said, "we must produce more wealth. It is futile to pass social security acts without the wealth to meet the costs."

"Are Your State Dollars Wisely Spent?" was the subject of the talk by Representative William B. Baker. Senator Hollis, in introducing Representative Baker, said no one in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts knew more about the finances of the Commonwealth than Mr. Baker, who for ten years had been a member of the Ways and Means committee of the House. Mr. Baker explained how the budget is drawn up from estimates made by the heads of the twenty odd departments of the Commonwealth. After conferring with the Governor, the Ways and Means committee draft the appropriation bill, which is again scrutinized carefully by the Governor before being presented to the Senate and the House where it is read three times before put to a vote. "We must," said Mr. Baker in closing, "maintain a sense of humor and fight on for good government."

Representative Douglas B. Francis explained the City Manager Plan and how successful it has been in Cincinnati, where in thirteen years, $13,000,000.00 worth of debts have been paid; the tax rate is one of the lowest in the United States; the cost of road building has been reduced 40 to 50 cents a square yard; and the roads are better. "In some municipalities the government is bankrupted by the officials people have elected to office," said Mr. Francis, "in which case a city manager is an unfortunate necessity."

Senator Hollis thanked the Federation for the interest shown in the affairs of the Commonwealth, and said such interest will bring better government, and expressed a wish that the same interest be manifested in other communities.

A play will be read under the direction of Miss Marion Whitcomb on November 4, at 2 p. m. in the Workshop. Tea will be served. Club members are urged to attend and to bring their friends.

The first of a series of Informal Teas will be held in the Workshop on the 11th of November. This being Armistice Day, Mrs. Carl Kolb and her International Relations committee will serve as hostesses.

Mrs. Kenneth J. Waite, chairman of the Music committee, announced that Mrs. Thomas D. Ginn would be director of the Club Chorus and Mrs. Maurice A. Reidy, accompanist, for another year. Four entertaining selections were given by the Club Chorus.

Mrs. Thomas Rudkin in an effort to make the club members more book conscious vivaciously stressed the importance of "decency" in reading material "to guard our adolescents," and said that she felt that the women's clubs might have the same influence in doing this as in improving the tone of the motion pictures.

Following the meeting refreshments were served, two former presidents, Mrs. W. Tudbury and Mrs. H. Herbert Hale presiding at the tea table.

Visit "Pondbrook," An Ideal Home

Attracts Attention

Each day, like pilgrims to Mecca, an endless chain of home-seekers visit "Pondbrook," the newest woman-planned, Brodick-built home which sets far back among the trees on two finely landscaped acres at the junction of Cliff and White Oak rds. in the fashionable Cliff Estates, Wellesley Hills. Open to the public for the first time less than two weeks ago, numerous visitors have been clocked crossing the bridge which marks the approach to this home, a replica of a baronial estate sketched by its designer, Maud H. Brodick, on a trip through Surrey, England.

Nature certainly was lavish with her gifts to this beautiful sylvan spot and gave it her protection during the hurricane, preserving the fine old oaks, elms, hickory, maples and pines which were to play such an important role in the finished landscaping. In the entire Cliff Estates, an area totaling over 300 acres, no other home tract is so endowed. Here, too, is a natural brook running between grassy banks, babbling over a rocky bed to the waterfall and spilling into the pond, a shimmering pool of silver, reflecting the beauty of the house and grounds.

"Pondbrook" is the 14th home completed by Brodick Bros. in their own special section of the Cliff Estates, a community of distinctive homes of fixed character, assured future value and controlled growth.

The architectural theme of "Pondbrook" is Tudor, not only its exterior lines but the fine hand-carved oak panelling which gives a baronial splendor to the Tudor drawing room, its rippling linen-fold carving, Tudor "roses" and the mantel which frames the fireplace have a patina which appears to be centuries old.

This marriage of an ancient art with modern features of American home design has been consummated with superb skill by Maud H. Brodick and the corps of experts who year after year work under her direction.

From Cubs To Scouts

The first entire Cub Den to be inducted into Scouting as a unit was the feature of the October meeting of Pack 4 of Newton Highlands. While many Cubs annually reach the age of twelve and join the Scout Troop of their choice, it is a most unusual occurrence when an entire Den steps from the ranks of Cubbing, discards the blue and gold uniform and adopts the khaki of the Boy Scouts. Pack 4 of Newton Highlands is one of the outstanding Cub Packs of Norumbega Council having averaged on the muster roll during the past several years about sixty odd boys at all times. The Pack is energetically led by Cubmaster Nathaniel M. Doten and a Pack Committee.

At the ceremony on last Friday evening, the Pack was formed into Dens at 7:00 p. m. and was addressed briefly by Scout Executive, Leigh M. Noyes, Assistant Scout Executive, Wayne B. Dow and the Pack Committee Chairman, Cady K. Peck. Scout Troop 4B, under the leadership of Richard Schroeder, was present and lined up on one side of the room. On the other side stood the boys of Cub Pack 4. Cubmaster Doten called for Den 3 composed of Ross Humphrey, Charles O'Dell, Roger Peck, Robert Pollock and Philip Vaughn who stood before him to receive his parting admonition and his congratulations upon the service the boys had rendered to Cubbing. The Cub Den of the Den were then welcomed into Scout Troop 4B by Scoutmaster Schroeder and were assigned to Patrols. The Troop Committee Chairman, Ernest Fisher, was absent due to illness and in his place a warm welcome was given the incoming Scouts by District Commissioner, C. Howard Wilkins of Quinobeguin District.

Council Scout Commissioner, William V. M. Fawcett, spoke to Cubs and to Scouts on the responsibilities that both organizations had in the conclusion of his address. Carrol Hoffman, Cubbing Commissioner, spoke to the assembled group on the importance of parents cooperating with the boys in the Cubbing activities and followed his talk with a game in which he directed the entire group. Cubmaster N. M. Doten then took over the Pack for Den reorganization and for discussion of the activities for fall and winter. The meeting was adjourned shortly after 8:15 p. m. Approximately 200 persons were present for the Pack Meeting and induction ceremony including Assistant Scout Executive Paul Reynolds and several Cub leaders from the Sachem Council.

Bazaar For Swedish Home At West Newton

Swedish and Swedish-American Clubs and Societies throughout Greater Boston will combine forces to assure the success of their Grand Swedish Bazaar opening on Thursday, November 3rd and continuing through Friday and Saturday. The Bazaar is held biennially in the interests of the Swedish Charitable Society's Home for the Aged in West Newton. This year's event is of unusual interest because of the attempt which is contributing organizations are making to have it representative of Swedish life and customs. Prizes will be awarded to the booths judged "most Swedish" in the opinion of a jury headed by Mr. Harold Lindergren of the Vesper George School of Art.

Folk dancing and choral singing by costumed groups will be features of an attractive program planned for each evening. A Swedish Coffee Shop will serve refreshments in the Swedish manner. Colorfully costumed girls will sell home-made cakes and fascinating Swedish specialties made from old family recipes. Dolls donated by famous movie stars including Bette Davis, Margaret Lindsay and Shirley Temple will be a feature of the Aquilo Club's table devoted to dolls of every description. Hundreds of exquisitely hand-made articles, many imported from Sweden will be offered for sale to the Christmas-minded.

Meeting of Oak Hill Improv. Asso.

About seventy-five attended the Semi-Annual Meeting of the Oak Hill District Improvement Association on Tuesday evening, October 25th, at the Oak Hill School. Among those present were Aldermen John F. Temperley and Clifford Walker from Ward Five as well as several other Aldermen. Mrs. Lawrence Early read the Secretary's Report covering the Meeting held last April. This was followed by a summary of Committee Reports by the President Charles R. Davis.

The Association expects to take a more active part during the coming year in helping to eliminate the Mosquito nuisance and the Committee has been enlarged so that it now is composed of the following members: Mr. Norman A. Hall, chairman, Dr. H. Bristol Nelson, William W. Colton, Mrs. George L. Engle, Mrs. Leon I. Snow, Mrs. Everett C. Winslow and Benjamin T. Fawcett. The feeling has been that the nuisance has been becoming progressively worse during the last several years and by making a more careful study of the problem some good results may be hoped for which the City may be able to undertake.

It was voted that the Association should encourage the city to complete the road leading from the School across Parker st. to Dedham st. in order to make the school more accessible to the Walnut st. section of the District. It was pointed out that although such a road would cost the city some money that more than $50,000 in building projects had resulted each year because of the School Sewer and Roads constructed two years ago. This increase in tax revenue would justify a sinking fund for financing such a capital outlay. It was argued that a road was badly needed; that most of the land over which a road might be built the owners would give to the City; and that it would open up certain back land at present inaccessible. The Committee appointed to push this project include: Orlyn O. McLeish, George O. Lawrence, Walter T. Piotti, William G. Mollenberg, John H. Benson and Alphonse J. Eppetel.

The Association formally voted to sponsor Pack 27, the eleventh Pack organization to become a part of Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts. It is intended that this new Pack will meet at the Oak Hill School on the Second Friday of each month. Henry S. C. Cummings is chairman of the Pack Comm., which also includes Fred VonSchantz, Ralph B. Jones, Orbin C. Condon, Ernest Schorer with Homer T. Brown as Cub Master.

Guest speakers of the evening were Chief Hughes of the Police Dept. and Chief Randlett of the Newton Fire Department. Chief Hughes told of the size, growth and age of the Department starting back in 1873 when horse patrols were considered more efficient than covering the City by "walking patrolmen." Today there are ten cruising cars.

Oak Hill was pleased to hear that there was no area in their District which the Fire Department considered in anyway a fire hazard or a danger zone. Some of the most important causes of fire are the use of gasoline for cleaning purposes, home-heating, accumulation of oily rags and rubbish, careless smoking, electric pads and electric irons. The Chief cautioned that all outdoor fires on private property require a permit except for certain types of approved incinerators and that violations might lead to owners being fined $20 for not securing a permit.

Mr. Charles B. Dasey of Newton Highlands spoke briefly of the worthwhile work of the Community Chest and touched particularly on the businesslike way devoted and thoughtful citizens aided the various Agencies in Newton in making every dollar count most in the efficient maintenance of these important institutions. He referred to the one thousand individuals who had received 12,000 days of free care and expressed the hope that relief should best be given through private charity than through Federal and State agencies and said that the Community Chest Drive starting on November 9th would be manned by two thousand volunteers which was a grand proof of the worthwhileness of the efforts being made by the Chest and for which reason deserved the wholehearted support of every citizen.

A social period followed the meeting and the members had the opportunity to get better acquainted with each other and to discuss further problems affecting the development of the District.

WOMEN'S CLUBS

Newtonville Woman's Club

"Adventures of the Modern Mind" by Margaret Slattery promises to be a timely and interesting address at the first fall meeting of the Newtonville Woman's Club, Tuesday, November 1. Miss Slattery is well-known throughout the country for her splendid work with young people and also for her keen interest in the absorbing problems of the day. Before the meeting there will be a dessert-coffee from 1:30 to 2:15 p. m. at which Club members will have an opportunity to greet their special guest, Mrs. Edgar P. Hay, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs. The Education committee, under the direction of Mrs. Edward C. Fales, chairman, is organizing its many plans for the year. Of special interest to music lovers is the course of three lectures on "Appreciation of the Opera" which will be given at the Club House for Club members and their friends on the following dates: March 3, 10, and 17, by Mrs. Lucy Simonds. The dates are most appropriately set for March, the month when grand opera annually comes to Boston, and the course has been given successfully in the women's clubs of Newton Centre and Needham. Tickets for the course will be $1.00 and may be obtained from Mrs. Allison L. Newton, Telephone, Newton North 2803. Early registrations are necessary as the lecturer's schedule is so full that classes must be made up by the last of November.

Another attraction offered by the Education committee will be several field trips to points of historical interest in and around Boston. For further information, Club members should call Mrs. Frank Aurelio, West Newton 2601, or Mrs. Roger Wheeler, West Newton, 0140-W.

Book lovers who want to increase their libraries and also have the privilege of reading the new books just off the press, may do so by joining the Book Club. Two weeks is the generous time allowed each member for reading each of the fourteen books that rotate, and each member also selects the book she purchases for herself at a 25 per cent discount. Club members may join the Book Club by applying to Mrs. J. Ernest Gibson, Telephone, Newton North 2277-J, or to Mrs. Charles H. Morgenthau, Newton North 6799.

The first of the Delightful and Informal Literature Afternoons that have become an annual feature will be held at the home of Mrs. Wallace C. Boyden, 64 Oakwood rd., Monday, October 31 at 2:30 p. m. As at the first meeting last year, books read during the summer will be reviewed and Club members are cordially invited to share in the discussion. Tea will be served. The assisting hostess is Mrs. William R. Mattson.

Balmy weather, colorful autumn foliage for decorations, and gay music furnished by the Kenway Trio, all furnished an attractive atmosphere for the Reception of the Newtonville Woman's Club on Tuesday, October 18, from 3 to 5 p. m. As guests entered the Reception Room, they were greeted by the hostess, chairman, Mrs. Clarence A. Wentworth, and then presented by Mrs. L. Ivan Pettys with small white cards on which to write their names, new members having a small yellow ribbon attached for their identification. A line of ushers stayed conveniently near the entrance to escort each guest to the receiving line to meet the Club officers.

Tea was served by the Hospitality committee. Old members and new found this Reception particularly successful in making them better acquainted before starting on the year's activities.

West Newton Women's Educational Club

The hostess for the next meeting of the Hobby Class of the West Newton Women's Educational Club will be Mrs. A. William Woglom, who will entertain at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Norman P. Dana, 72 Devonshire rd., Waban, on Tuesday, November 1, at 2 o'clock.

The Scholarship committee is looking forward for well-filled tables at the Annual Philanthropic Dessert-Bridge party which will be held on November 4 at 1:30 p. m. at the Neighborhood Club, West Newton. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Carl N. Thomas, chairman, West Newton 3441.

Community Service Club of West Newton

The new Club Year of the Community Service Club of West Newton opened on Wednesday afternoon, October 19, with an unusually large attendance of members and guests filling all available space at the Neighborhood Club on Berkeley st. Special guests were members of the West Newton Women's Educational Club, and the Women's Advisory Committee, officers and members of the staff of the Newton Trust Company. Mrs. Leslie P. Phinney, newly-elected president of the Club, presided and extended a gracious welcome to the capacity audience. An interesting report of the Annual Meeting of the State Federation held at Swampscott last May was presented by Mrs. Austin Decatur, who touched upon the highlights of the various sessions and described effectively the ceremony attendant upon reception of new members, among whom the Community Service Club was one at this meeting.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Hortense Creede Rallsback and proved to be one of most informative character. Miss Mary Murtagh, concert pianist, charmed the audience by her artistic and brilliant rendering of selections from the masters. The speaker of the afternoon, Professor Anton De Haas, of the Economic Department, Harvard University, gave a graphic and thought-provoking outline of international relationships, reviewing facts of the period since 1919, and pointing ahead to possible conditions in days to come, which inevitably have their bearing on the ups and downs of economic situations here at home. Professor De Haas made very clear the fact that "though we might like to live our own lives alone, we cannot do it."

A social hour, with tea served by Mrs. Gordon R. Fulton and her committee, brought a memorable meeting to a close.

The Annual Benefit Bridge of the Community Service Club will be held in the Neighborhood Club, Berkeley st., on Wednesday afternoon, November 2, at 1:30 o'clock. The committee, with Mrs. George S. Fuller as chairman, will have many unusual features for this party which will ensure its being an outstanding success of the Club's fall season. Special attention is called to the fact that the event is to be a "Dessert-Bridge", dessert and coffee to be served at 1:30, followed by cards. For those wishing to progress, groups may be formed to include any so interested, but there will be plenty of individual tables available for all to play what they choose as they choose. The party is being planned to give members and their guests a most pleasurable afternoon, and by so doing add substantially to the Philanthropic funds of the Service Club. Every phase of social and community life will benefit from this intensive effort to raise funds for the many calls for help which will come in during the year.

There will be an individual prize for each table. Tickets will be only 50 cents, covering all features. They are in charge of Mrs. William P. Helms, Telephone, West Newton 3399. Reservations should be made early. Community Service Sewing Day will be held at the Newton Hospital on Thursday morning, November 3, at 10 o'clock. This volunteer work is greatly needed and appreciated by the hospital.

Coffee and dessert will be provided by the hospital to supplement a box luncheon brought by members. Those who can furnish or those who wish transportation to and from the hospital should call Mrs. Edward S. Abbott, Telephone, West Newton 2867-R. It is hoped that every member of the Club will make a special effort to give some part, if not all, of November 3rd, to this very worthy project. Those contributing time and service will have no small part in strengthening the work and influence of a fine institution that has in its keeping the care of the sick and suffering among neighbors and friends in Newton.

Newton Hospital Aid Association

The Benefit Shop Committee of the Hospital Aid Association, held its fall meeting on Tuesday afternoon, October 18, at the Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

A luncheon served at the Tea Room connected with the Home preceded the business meeting. Mrs. D. Brewer Eddy, who with Mrs. Ralph Conant, are co-chairmen of the group, presided.

Plans for the usual Treasure Sale were discussed, and all of the local chairmen were urged to have their workers gathering suitable gifts for this occasion. A Bundle Day at the home of Mrs. F. A. Day, Jr., was also planned for the month of January.

Mrs. Francis Williams, business manager for the Shop, in her report spoke highly of the assistance and courtesy which the city has extended. Wood with which to keep the Shop warm during the winter months is already in, and they also have furnished the Shop with the services of a man to do the heavy lifting.

Visitors are always welcome at the Shop, which is located at 895 Washington st., Newtonville, on the three days when it is open, Monday afternoon from 2 to 4:30 p. m., and Wednesday and Friday mornings from 10 to 12 o'clock.

Besides those mentioned previously, there were also chairmen from the village groups, including Mrs. Charles Bartlett from Newton Centre, who also is the secretary, and Mrs. C. Peter Clark; from West Newton, Miss Ethel Woodberry and Mrs. Frank Hardy, the latter also chairman of the Advisory committee.

Others present were Mrs. Ernest F. Drew, head of the Auburndale group as well as Press chairman; Mrs. Robert Whitehill, Miss Louise Sherman, Mrs. Pitt Drew, and Mrs. J. Russell Clark from Newtonville; Mrs. Dana Dutch from Waban, Mrs. H. Lewis from Newton Highlands; Mrs. Frank A. Day, Jr., from Chestnut Hill, and Mrs. Lewis Gardner from Wellesley. The committee regretted that Miss Rose Loring had been obliged to give up her work with the Newton group, but the two new chairmen, Mrs. Sterling Loveland and Mrs. C. K. Reiman were welcomed in her place.

Mrs. Charles Talbot, a former president of the Hospital Aid Association, and Mrs. Maynard Hutchinson, the president now in office, also were guests.

Newton W. C. T. U.

The meeting of the Newton W. C. T. U. will be held at 2:30 p. m. in the Parish House of the First Baptist Church, Newton Centre, on Thursday, November 3. "The November 8th Election" will be the subject and the speakers of the afternoon will explain the questions to be voted upon at that time.

Tea will be served, with Mrs. Blanche G. Norris as hostess.

To Speak On Hollywood Stars

"Hollywood Personalities and the Making of Pictures" will be entertainingly discussed by the Club president, Alice Dixon Bond, at an Open Meeting of the Professional Women's Club on October 30. During the past summer Mrs. Bond's trip to the coast has provided her with much material, both through her many visits to the studios where feature pictures were in the making, and through her numerous personal contacts with stars and producers. The public which knows Mrs. Bond as a book reviewer will be interested in her interpretation of another subject of equally general appeal.

The meeting, at 4 p. m., October 30, in the Club Rooms of the Hotel Statler, will be open to the public, and tickets may be obtained either at the door or through Harriet I. Putnam, Telephone, Stadium 6087. Miss Estelle G. Marsh, chairman of Club Room's Activities, announces that the proceeds of the ticket sale will be devoted entirely to the maintenance of further Sunday programs throughout the coming year; and to maintaining that quality of entertainment which made the Sunday programs of last season an outstanding success with both the Club members and the general public.

Newton clubwomen will be especially interested in this announcement of an Open Meeting, at which they may hear Mrs. Bond.

Y. M. C. A.

Members of the Newton Y. M. C. A. and affiliated organizations will be active during the coming week. Mr. Howard M. LeSourd, Dean of the Graduate School of Boston University, will address the members and friends of the Woman's Auxiliary on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30, taking for his subject "Character Education in the Home." The members of the Board of Directors are meeting on Tuesday evening at 7:45. Many young men are interested in the Fall Candle Pin Bowling Tournament which is scheduled for Monday and Tuesday evenings. In addition to the regular scheduled classes for men and boys, there is a women's class under the direction of Mrs. Robert Sallinger which meets at 10 o'clock on Tuesday and Friday mornings. On Thursday, November 3rd, the Employed Officers' Conference of the Y. M. C. A.'s of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will meet at the Newton "Y."

Mrs. Eddy has reconciled reason with religion; she has shown the impersonal, ever-available, and unrestricted nature of the Comforter with scientific exactness and pure inspiration. Jesus was truly the Way-shower by exemplifying the Christ in redeeming human mentality. Mary Baker Eddy complemented his life-work by conveying the Science of Christ. She divested the Christ-idea from the limitations, mists, and vagaries of personal, material sense. Christ was presented from the standpoint of divine reality. Thus Christian Science reveals the indivisible, immutable Christ, independent of time, place, and person. This Christ is fulfilling its office all the while, and is available for everyone without any exception. Its three main aspects may be described: firstly, Christ, in the sense of the truth about everything—and we have seen that only Truth is revealing this truth about everything. Secondly, Christ, in the sense of Truth identifying Jesus of Nazareth; and we have seen that this is also true about everyone else. In the third place, Christ, in the sense of the healing operation of Truth in the destruction of incarnate error; and we have seen that this could not only happen in the earthly days of Jesus, but that it can always happen, and especially at the present day—the day of Christian Science.

That which from the human, personal point of view seemed to be the cross of Jesus is discerned in Christian Science, from the divine, impersonal point of view, as the crown of Christ. Following the Way-shower and living the Science of Christ becomes increasingly joyous and spontaneous in the measure one understands Christ aright.

In Science and Health a statement occurs (p. 565) which admirably summarizes what this lecture has endeavored to give. May its vitalizing truth inspire us evermore: "The impersonation of the spiritual idea had a brief history in the earthly life of our Master; but 'of his kingdom there shall be no end,' for Christ, God's idea, will eventually rule all nations and peoples—imperatively, absolutely, finally—with divine Science."

ZONTA CLUB

The regular meeting of the Zonta Club was held on Wednesday, October 19th at the home of Miss Caroline Freeman, 258 Mt. Vernon St., West Newton.

President, Doris Lovell officiated, conducting an informal discussion concerning the activities planned for the ensuing season in accordance with the aims and ideals of the club.

Miss Helen Potter was elected the delegate to attend the conference of "Region A" at Northampton, Massachusetts, Friday and Saturday, October 21st and 22nd. Miss Marion Fuller, corresponding secretary, accompanied her.

NEWTON ROTARY'S FIFTEENTH BIRTHDAY

Gala night for the Newton Rotary Club on Monday the 24th was in honor of the club's fifteenth birthday and according to custom was the annual "Ladies' Night" with Rotary Annas as special guests. The Braeburn Country Club wore a festive air in marked contrast with the stormy weather outside. Some 94 Rotarians, wives, and guests made up the party.

The atmosphere of southern hospitality was set by a darky cabin flanked by a miniature but realistic field of cotton and moss draped trees. The grey southern moss in the blue twilight was most effective and an added touch was given by the colored pair on the stoop. This was the background for the familiar strains from the cabin played by the orchestra engaged for the evening. Plantation songs and the old-time favorites accompanied a delicious dinner, served on gay red and white checked tables lighted by red and green candles. Bouquets of roses for the ladies assured Rotary Annas a warm welcome, even before they were romantically addressed in song.

President Paul Elicker introduced a number of guests who came especially for the fifteenth anniversary. Newton's "charter night," including the Governor of Rotary District 197, Rev. Fenwick L. Leavitt of Worcester, Mrs. Leavitt, Francis J. Flagg, President of Boston Rotary; the Newton Club's parent, Mrs. Flagg, and several of the club's past presidents with their wives. Three couples from Brookline heralded the formation of a Rotary Club there, sponsored by Newton and given special help by Past President Cecil Clark, M.D.

From the dinner tables the party adjourned to the parlors while the dining room was made ready for a very special entertainment prepared by E. Prentiss Jones and his committee, Rotarians Spaulding, Ruane, Capron, and Hiller. "A bit of nonsense" seems to be relished not only "by the best of men" but by the best of women, for at least one Rotarian's handkerchief was called into play to care for his lady's tears of amusement as the clever entertainer cracked his jokes. Sleight-of-hand tricks and several novel, colorful "paintings in cloth" delightfully varied the program. The entertainer proved to be an excellent reader of the popular poems which he illustrated by his "paintings" and his impersonation of an old tobacco-chewing duck hunter was exceptionally well done. The tap dancing by a colored partner of Bill Robinson also won loud applause.
